SPRINGFIELD MOB BURNS TWO MORE RESIDENCES

Troops Are Slowly Gaining Control of the Situation—Machine Guns Obtained.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 1.—After a day of quiet from the mob which has held sway for two nights this evening was ushered in with indications that more depredations against the colored population of the city had been planned for tonight. Anticipating that the attack if made would be in the vicinity of Section street, Col. Ammel sent a squad of soldiers to that locality at 7:30 o'clock.

Just before their arrival a crowd of rioters sprang from the house of Pearl Howard, against which threats had been made. The house had been set fire to, but the troops sent in an alarm and the structure was only slightly damaged. The rioters escaped.

As a precautionary measure Col. Ammel has posted two machine guns and a company of troops at the court house and jail and the entire square is cut off. An effort was made tonight to secure automobiles to carry troops from one section of the city to another when needed, but not enough could be had and wagons have been provided for that purpose.

Troops Quell Flames.

The distribution of the guns and troops over the city has had a depressing effect on the rioters, and with the exception of little affrays which did not amount to much but little out of the ordinary had happened up to 11 o'clock. A house at High and Race streets recently occupied by negroes was fired by rioters, but the flames were quelled before they had made great headway.

Arthur Ancill, a member of the Xenia military company, was hit in the head with a brick said to have been thrown by a rioter and seriously hurt tonight. His assailant made an improvised sling shot of a piece of brick wrapped in a handkerchief.

Two more companies of state troops from Piqua are held in readiness for service here, but the present outlook does not indicate that more will be needed as the backbone of the riot seems to have been broken effectually.

Guarded by the companies of the Third regiment the prisoners, Edward Dean and Preston Ladd, were brought here from Dayton at 12:50 p. m. today and taken to the city hospital to be identified by Martin Davis, the wounded brakeman. The prisoners were in charge of Sheriff Almoney and Deputy Lawrence of this city and Sheriff Wright of Dayton.

The journey was made in a special car over the Dayton, Springfield and Urbana traction line. The prisoners were taken from the car at North and Plum streets and marched to the hospital ten blocks away. There was no disturbance on the way to the hospital, as their coming was not generally known.

Identifies Assailant.

Davis, the wounded brakeman, identified Edward Dean, but failed to identify Ladd.

When the identification of Dean as the assailant of Brakeman Davis became known, murmuring was renewed. The police here learned of threats made against one or two factories employing colored labor, and a number of appeals have been made from various sections for protection tonight. Threats also have been made against Police Judge Miller's residence, and he has refused to accept protection.

Twenty-five rioters were arraigned in police court this morning. Sixteen were charged with rioting, four of them had the additional charge of carrying concealed weapons. These four were each fined $200 and costs and sent to the Xenia workhouse until the fine and costs are paid. Those charged with disorderly conduct were fined $50 and costs.

THIEVES RUIN PICTURES AND ROB SANKEY'S HOME

NEW YORK, March 1.—One of the mementoes of Ira D. Sankey's evangelical work, a picture entitled the "Garden of the Gods," presented to him by friends in San Francisco, after he and Mr. Moody had held a revival in that city, was cut from the frame by burglars in Mr. Sankey's home in Brooklyn. Two other oil paintings were destroyed and some silverware and bric-a-brac stolen.

Express Is Lost in Snow Storm.

CHEYENNE, WYO., March 1.—(Special.)—A passenger train on the Cheyenne Northern is lost somewhere between Cheyenne and Bordeaux. The wires are down and all efforts to learn the fate of the train and its hundreds of passengers have failed. The worst blizzard of the winter is raging and of forty-eight wires entering Cheyenne only one is working.

STANDARD OIL KING SLIPS THROUGH PITTSBURGH

John D. Rockefeller Comes from Indian Territory in Private Car Declared Empty.

Confirmation of The Gazette's exclusive story that the mid-continent oil interests of T. N. Barnsdall had been taken over by Standard Oil was given last night in rather a startling manner when it was practically proved that John D. Rockefeller, the man sought by process servers all over the United States, passed through Pittsburgh on the private car "Plymouth Rock."

The car, veiled in the strictest secrecy, and guarded by extraordinary precautions, arrived in Union station last night over the Pennsylvania lines from Fort Wayne. At that point it had been switched on. It had come from Indian territory, the center of the Barnsdall oil interests, and at that point it had been shifted on to a regular schedule. No extra precautions were taken in the schedule lest they should arouse suspicion among the trainmen of the most-sought-for as well as the richest man in the world, but within the car things were entirely different.

Officially a Deadhead.

No train official was permitted to approach it or to gain the most casual view of its contents. Officially it was known as a "deadhead," or empty car, but it can be positively stated that it contained five persons, one of whom was the Standard Oil magnate.

Under ordinary conditions the car was to have left attached to an 11 o'clock train. Without explanation the railroad men were told to attach it to a New York train.

The mysterious car left Union station at 8:40 p. m. for Jersey City, where John D. Rockefeller will probably have to run the gauntlet of over a hundred process servers and the sharpest eyes in New York in order to gain the privacy of 26 Broadway, the Standard Oil building.

The first hint of Rockefeller's presence in Union station originated with a Pennsylvania official. Later from other sources, the statement was gratuitously vouchsafed that the car was a "deadhead."

A Gazette reporter at 8 o'clock last night made his way to where the "Ply-

ASSURE GOOD TIME TO COMMITTEE COMING HERE

Banquet, Train Ride to Mills, Automobile Trip and Brief Speeches Provided.

Worthy entertainment has been provided for the congressional committee on buildings which will visit Pittsburgh tomorrow to inquire into the necessity for a new postoffice. The committee will be banqueted tomorrow night and during the day and on Sunday it will visit points of interest about the city.

The arrangements were made yesterday by the special committee of Pittsburgh councils, which met in the morning and afternoon, the banquet sub-committee completing its share of the program last evening. The meetings were held in the city clerk's office. In conjunction with Congressmen James F. Burke, who introduced the bill for the erection of the new postoffice in the house of representatives; George H. Anderson of the chamber of commerce, James W. Wardrop of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, Chauncey Lobingier of the Pittsburgh board of trade and Charles H. Chance of the Oakland board of trade.

The congressional committee will arrive tomorrow morning and immediately on coming into the Union station will be transferred to a special train of four cars and taken over the Pennsylvania railroad to visit the mills and workshops in and about the city. The congressmen, with the local committee and some invited guests will take luncheon on the train and return to the city about 2:30 p. m. Then the postoffice will be visited and a view of the two cities enjoyed from the tops of the Frick and Farmers bank buildings.

Arrangements for Banquet.

The banquet will be held at the Hotel Anner, covers being laid for 350 persons. Mayor Hays is expected to be the chairman at the banquet and Congressman Burke will act as toastmaster. Congressman John Dalzell will make the speech of the evening on "Our Greater City." John Eaton will talk on "Our Postal Needs," and the following will make short talks, no longer than five minutes: Congressman A. J. Barchfeld, E. J. Lloyd, Col. A. J. Logan, T. D. Harmon, the last three representing the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, the Oakland board of trade and the Pittsburgh board of BRIDGE PIERS GUARDED BY ARMED MEN.

GIVE TO GUARDS LOADED GUNS TO PROTECT A BRIDGE

Armed Men Prepare to Repulse Attack of Strikers.

WORK STARTS TODAY

Erection of Structure Over Buttermilk Hollow May Be Signal for Hostilities.

WAR ON AMERICAN BRIDGE CO

The American Bridge Company will commence the work of erecting the big bridge over Buttermilk Hollow this morning under guard of a score of heavily armed men. Orders governing the conduct of these men are very specific, and the interference of strikers will probably result in bloodshed. The guns are the short, deadly Colt's automatic of the most recent pattern, and are as ugly to look upon as a rattle snake. Each gun holds eight bullets and each bullet is encircled by a steel band near the middle. The effect of a collision with one of them is said to be paralyzing.

Buttermilk Hollow is four miles back of the Monongahela river and about midway between Calhoun park and Dravosburg. Through it the Carnegie Steel Company is running its new Monongahela Southern railroad, that is to connect the Duquesne furnaces with the Wabash railroad at Bridgeville. A gigantic fill is being made through Buttermilk Hollow, and part of this work is the erection of a 60-foot steel span over the Second Avenue Traction Company's right of way. This is the only part of the contract in the hands of the American Bridge Company, and hence is the only place where trouble threatens.

Fighting the Bridge Company.

Structural steel men belonging to unions fell out with the bridge company last August when a contract was sub-let to the Boston Bridge Company, a non-union concern. Out of the dispute over this came a general strike of union structural steel men.

The preliminary work on the Buttermilk Hollow bridge has been going on for about a month. During that time twelve armed guards have been stationed there day and night to watch the material and tools. In the past few days the erecting apparatus has been raised, and yesterday afternoon the swinging boom was made ready for work this morning.

"These weeks have been marred by almost hourly visits of walking delegates. The workmen are not permitted to talk to them. According to the men working at the bridge numerous threats have been made against them.

Union Men Are Barred.

An order was given last night that hereafter no union man shall be allowed on top of the fill, which means no walking delegates can get within speaking distance of the working gang. Any who may persist are to be forcibly evicted from the ground, and it is because of this that trouble is looked for. The American Bridge Company is employing no union men, and the men at the bridge apparently have very little sympathy for those who seem disposed to interfere with them.

The force of armed guards is to be increased this morning. All last night five men stood near the bridge watching the ground ends of the long guy lines holding the big erecting mast in place. It is said the strikers have threatened to pour powerful acids on the wire strands. This would cause them to snap within a few hours after the trick was done.

The construction work is in charge of Engineer W. C. Parsons and Foreman Frank Hanna. The latter was chosen for his experience in troublous situations.

DEATH FOLLOWS HIS WISH.

Aged Man Who Tires of Life Steps in Front of Train and Is Killed.

WASHINGTON, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—"I would be much better off dead," remarked Cornelius Wingett, aged 70, to a friend in West Washington this evening. His friend left him and Wingett stepped in front of a fast Baltimore & Ohio train and was killed.

He was a native of Greene county, but an inmate of the Washington county home for several years. He left this institution this morning with the announced intention of committing suicide.

ASKS "BULL" ANDREWS TO DEFEAT ANTI-GAMBLING

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The territorial board of education of New Mexico and the Santa Fe board of education have petitioned Delegate Andrews to do all in his power to defeat the Littlefield bill preventing gambling in the territories. The schools in the territory are largely supported with fees from gambling licenses. These fees for 1906 have been paid in advance.

Longworths Homeward Bound.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—(Special.)—Representative Nicholas Longworth and his bride, formerly Miss Alice Roosevelt, will return to Washington after their triumphal tour of Cuba at the end of this week, according to admissions made to their relatives. Their program after this date is not exactly known, but it was said prior to the wedding that the couple would make a tour of Europe.

BOAT FURNISHED FOR THE ESCAPE OF MISSIONARIES

Governor Protects Threatened Foreigners After Chinese Resentment Is Aroused.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SHANGHAI, March 1.—The following account of the attack on foreign missionaries at Nanchang has been received:

Fifteen Methodist, 12 English Protestants and 14 French Catholic missionaries were in the city Tuesday night, when the French Catholics had a quarrel with an official over a suit for the possession of property. Great excitement prevailed Friday. A mass meeting was held Saturday and was followed on Sunday by a riot during which the property of the Catholics was burned.

The Protestants took refuge in the adjoining house of Mr. Kingman. The house was burned and six priests and two members of the Kingman family were killed. The Chinese governor attempted to check the riot. The men of the Methodist mission, aided by Chinese soldiers, took their school girls to Chinese homes and brought Miss Hoyt and Miss Kahn from a hospital. All took refuge in midriver in a launch furnished by Chinese officers. The launched waited until Chinese soldiers brought the remaining missionaries at daylight. The launch reached Kiukiang on Tuesday.

The wounded Kingman girl died on the way. A. P. Quirmbach, a Methodist, remained at Nanchang to care for property, under the protection of the governor.

Capt. Fletcher, commanding the American ships, had the location of every American missionary in the Yangtse valley. Monday Capt. Fletcher ordered the gunboat El Cano from Nanchang to meet the fugitives at Kiukiang.

The cause of the riot was local. Serious blame attaches to the French Catholics. Chinese object to priests exercising civil functions.

The Nanchang magistrate who was wounded during a dispute with the Catholic missionaries is dead.

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE SECURES CANAL ENGINEER

John F. Wallace to Superintend Electrical Railway Construction at Salary of $50,000 Per Annum.

John F. Wallace, former chief engineer of the Panama canal commission, entered the employ of George Westinghouse interests yesterday at an annual salary of $50,000 and has established his headquarters in New York city.

Mr. Wallace will superintend the building of a large number of electric railway systems which are contemplated to parallel steam railroad lines in many parts of the country. The arrangement entered into between Mr. Westinghouse and Mr. Wallace was made several months ago and became effective on March 1.

When Mr. Wallace withdrew from the Panama canal work, to the infinite displeasure of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft, he told Mr. Taft he had been made an offer with a salary of $50,000 and a personal interest in the contemplated work which promised $15,000 additional.

DOG FLEAS, OIL AND FIRE.

Strange Series of Mishaps Follow Boy's Solicitious Care of His Pet.

HARRISBURG, PA., March 1.—Someone told Albert Rapp, 14 years old, that if he put coal oil on his woolly dog it would rid the animal of fleas that were disturbing the animal's peace of mind. Albert soaked the curly body until the oil trickled upon the floor. When freed from his master's grasp, the dog dodged under the kitchen stove.

In an instant his hide was ablaze, and barking and yelping, he stared on a wild chase through the house, setting fire to sundry inflammable articles in his flight.

Albert chased the blazing dog into the street and a policemen happened along in time to put the suffering animal out of his misery. Meanwhile Albert's parents, by hard work, succeeded in keeping the house from burning down.

MRS. MIZNER IN CHICAGO.

It Is Reported Her First Step Will Be to Settle With Her Young Husband, Wilson Mizner.

CHICAGO, March 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Wilson Mizner arrived in Chicago today. She was met at the station by two women in a closed carriage, and was driven to the Yerkes home in Michigan avenue. Stories that Mrs. Mizner has taken a stand in open hostility to the co-executors of the will of her former husabnd, Charles T. Yerkes, were not denied in Chicago today.

One of the first things to be done here, it is expected, will be to reach an understanding between Mr. Mizner and Mr. Owsley on the future status of Wilson Mizner.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL SUICIDES.

Jilted at the Altar She Drinks Carbolic Acid and Ends All.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—(Special.)—Amelia Brenner, a beautiful 19-year-old girl, jilted almost at the altar by the man she was to have married tomorrow, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid at her boarding house, 2389 East Letterly street, last night.

Two farewell letters laid bare the girl's misery. One, written to her sweetheart, breathed passion in every line. In the other, written to her sister, the heart-broken girl calmly advanced an argument on life and death.

Miss Brenner's home is in New York. At a ball last November she met Gottlieb H. Schnitzler, 29 years old. A rapid wooing ended in an engagement.

Long Must Long for Brighter Days.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 1.—(Special.)—Richard Long while attending the funeral of a friend at West Liberty was called home by news that his daughter had been fatally kicked by a horse. A son was recently kicked to death, another was drowned and his wife died but a few weeks ago.

DRUGS AND ROBS WOMAN THEN LEAVES HER TO DIE

Martha Negley Is the Victim of the Mysterious Man in Black.

GETS RICH PLUNDER

Administers Knockout Drops and Steals Money and Jewels Valued at Nearly $3,000.

LIFE IS SAVED BY MAID

The police are looking for "The Man in Black." He is a burglar, the boldness, cleverness and success of whose operations promise to tax the ingenuity of the city's front office force. Early yesterday morning he gained access to the apartments of Martha Negley, proprietress of a house in Colwell street, drugged the woman's wine and, as she lay unconscious, stole from her money and jewels the total valuation of which will run close to $3,000. Before leaving the room he turned out the gas, then deliberately turned it on again, leaving the woman to die by asphyxiation. She was found almost lifeless a half-hour later, and it required the efforts of two physicians to restore her to consciousness. In the meantime the thief had made good his escape.

The Negley woman's house was closed recently by the aldermann of the ward. While at home near midnight Wednesday night she was summoned to the telephone, and a man, who said he was talking from the Hotel Schenley, said he had an important message for her. He suggested she come to the hotel. Miss Negley explained that her house had been closed and that she did not care to leave under the circumstances. She suggested, however, that the stranger come to the house and give her the message. To this he consented.

Drugged the Woman's Wine.

Half hour later the tinkling of the bell apprised the woman that her strange caller had arrived. When he entered his striking appearance at once attracted the attention of the other women. He was dressed in black from head to foot. A big diamond flashed from the center of his black Ascot, and his hair, the other women said, "was like the raven's wing." His voice was low and soft when he said:

"The information I have to impart is of so delicate a nature that I prefer speaking of it only in your own apartments."

To this suggestion Miss Negley acquiesced. Arrived there the stranger suggested a bottle of wine and a servant quickly brought it. The stranger filled the glass of his woman companion. When her eyes were for a moment turned from him he surreptitiously slipped a drop of a drug into the glass. She tasted it and at once detected something peculiar in the flavor. She remarked on this strangeness and he, with calmness said:

"Yes, the wine is flat; have the servant bring another bottle."

The second bottle was brought. Again he filled her glass, then his own. This time she drank it, along with the insidious drug which he had again managed to slip into the glass. In a moment the woman lost consciousness.

Secured Treasure in Jewels.

On the woman's finger was a big solitaire. He tried to tear it off, but failing, pried the stone from the setting. The ring was valued at $450. Two bracelets, one valued at $300 and the other at $200, were torn from her wrists, and then the burglar turned his attention to the dresser. A diamond crescent brooch, valued at $750, a pearl ring worth $150, a princess ring valued at $250 and a purse in which was $85 were among the treasures he unearthed in his search for plunder.

The cold-blooded deliberateness of the man was revealed when he had concluded his preparations for departure. The gas had been burning low. This he turned out completely. Then he opened the jets and left his victim to die. Softly opening the door he made his way to the street without being seen by any of the inmates.

A little less than a half-hour later the Negley woman's maid went to her mistress' room and found it filled with gas. Martha Negley was unconscious on the floor, life almost extinct. The maid thought she had attempted suicide. She threw open the windows and summoned a physician. When the latter arrived he realized the seriousness of the woman's condition and sent for help. She was restored to consciousness only after oxygen had been administered, and then her mind was so badly confused that she could not give an accurate description of the thief.

Later she described him as being about six feet tall, weighing about 190 pounds, with dark hair and brown eyes, of rugged build, but with skin extremely white.

The police suspect the man came here from some other city for the express purpose of robbing the woman, and that he had a confederate. At the Schenley it was said no person answering the description had stopped there recently.

ROBBINS AND MITCHELL NOT INVITED TO CONFAB

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It was stated at the White House today that the president has not extended an invitation to John Mitchell and Francis L. Robbins to come to Washington to confer with him regarding the coal situation.

King and Emperor to Meet.

LONDON, March 1.—Reuter's Telegraph Company is informed that King Edward will shortly meet Emperor William at sea or at some port. The announcement, however, is unofficial.

ENEMIES OF RATE BILL CONCEDE DEFEAT IN SENATE

KNOX REMAINS TO GAIN POINT

Refuses to Leave Washington Under Present Conditions.

PRESIDENT'S STAND

DOLLIVER ADVOCATES ACTION

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It developed today that the opponents of the President's ideas on the railroad rate bill have practically admitted their defeat and that unless some radical change occurs that the Hepburn bill will pass the senate in a condition very little changed from the form in which it passed the house.

This state of affairs has brought the rate question very close to Senator Knox and he has decided, on account of its status to forego his trip to Pittsburgh with the postoffice investigators and remain here in an endeavor to cause a slight change of sentiment.

A number of conferences will be held within the next few days. It is known that while the President will not object to several amendments that there is no hope of securing any assistance from him to have the provision for a judical review clause inserted in the rate bill.

This the President made clear to several senators who sounded him on the question today. Senators Crane and Spooner called at the White House, but when they left they felt convinced that there was no possibility of securing a compromise from that source.

Some effort is being made to disrupt the ranks of the Democratic senators to have a provision inserted to enable railroads to appeal to the courts from the rulings of the proposed commission upon the fixing of rates. The Democrats have not determined their position, but it is understood that a majority favor the bill as it stands.

Efforts are being made every day to line up senators both for and against the bill. In determining upon the course to be pursued the advice of Senator Knox is being much sought and the junior Pennsylvania senator does not feel that he can make the trip to Pittsburgh at this time as much as he desires to do so.

President Roosevelt favors three amendments. He favors an amendment framed by Senator Spooner providing that if a rate fixed by the interstate commerce commission is set aside by injunction the railroads shall pay into the court all excess over the rate fixed by the commission during the pendency of such litigation. If the railroads are victorious the money shall be paid to them. If their case is not sustained the money shall be divided among the shippers.

How to Reach Courts.

Another amendment favored authorizes the institution of suits in court in all cases where it is charged that the interstate commerce commission has exceeded its authority or jurisdiction and where it is charged that the constitutional rights of persons or corporations have been invaded. These two propositions form the court review feature that the President would like to see incorporated. With the assistance of Attorney General Moody and Interstate Commerce Commissioners Prouty and Knapp, the President has drafted the outline of these provisions, and they will be offered in the senate.

The third amendment removes the arbitrary limit of 30 days within which a rate fixed by the commission shall go into effect. He believes it would be better to leave the commission to prescribe a reasonable time after which the rate shall be effective. The President is in favor of leaving this question to the judgment of the commission.

The amendment drafted by Senator Spooner and approved by the President differs from the one framed by Senator Knox in one respect, in that it requires that the excess shall be paid into the court in cash, where the rate is enjoined by the court.

Differs With Knox.

Mr. Knox in his amendment specified that in such cases the road should give bond. President Roosevelt disapproved of Senator Knox's provision because he thought it would lead to a great deal of litigation by shippers being obliged to sue to collect on these bonds. He argues that if the excess is paid in cash it can be distributed without any complications.

President Roosevelt is aware of the pitfalls that beset this legislation and the danger of running counter to the legislation. He is particularly anxious that congress does nothing to limit the powers of the courts and thus make a blunder that will render the whole act unconstitutional. He realizes that a few words may destroy the bill and therefore he is hoping that the senate will fix up these weak spots and exercise care lest it create new ones.

The President has been advised in every conceivable direction. Secretary of State Root is opposed to all rate-making by the government. His views are similar to those voiced by Senator Foraker yesterday.

Secretary of War Taft and Senator Knox both believe that the constitutionality of the bill can only be assured by the insertion of a provision for a court review. Attorney General Moody's views are not definitely known. It was thought by many that he, too, favored a court review.

Dolliver Supports Bill.

The discussion of the railroad rate question in the senate was continued today by Mr. Dolliver who spoke in support of the Dolliver-Hepburn bill. He said that the bill was intended merely to supplement the existing interstate commerce law and contended for its validity from a constitutional point of view, predicting that government ownership of the railroads would be forced upon the country if congress did not meet the present demand. Mr. Dolliver was not questioned.

He recognized the fact that the question of appeal to the courts from the orders of the commission was the battleground and declared that as the bill stands it leaves the door to the courts open for the protection of all constitutional rights.

He did not agree with Mr. Foraker or Mr. Bacon that the secret practices have been abandoned. He did not believe the Elkins bill adequate for protection against these practices. "The difficulty about rebates is not in punishing violations," he said, "but in discovering them, and we have undertaken to amend the law so as to cover that defect."

There was a perceptible stir in the senate when Mr. Dolliver referred to one investigator "who had to unload his railroad securities to give him the spiritual preparation for the work."

La Follette Raises Point.

He spoke in deprecation of his own powers and in praise of the president. Of the latter he said that "it is the most superb moral leadership of the generation."

Mr. Dolliver referred to the fact that he had been charged with a tendency toward socialism. He asserted that "there is a storm brewing and the time is approaching when the citizens of the United States are going to make an inquiry into the right by which some men in a few years make hundreds of millions of dollars, rendering them capable of overshadowing the national government," and he predicted that if congress did not agree on a bill for the regulation of the railroads the country would be called upon to face the problem of government ownership.

Consideration of the Indian settlement bill was resumed.

Mr. La Follette offered his amendment prohibiting railroad companies from acquiring any of the territorial coal lands. He said that these lands were worth $1,5,000,000. He said that of the 113 leases now in existence covering 104,000 acres, the railroad companies control 52 covering 49,000 acres, and that he had been informed that these combinations would have the effect of keeping out private operators because of the difficulty in securing transportation when they come into competition with railroad owners.

He had a letter read from W. D. Johnson of Ardmore, I. T., declaring that the railroads now have a practical monopoly of the coal business in that territory.

OIL KING IN PITTSBURGH

mouth Rock" had been shunted out of sight into the railroad yards. As the forward platform of the car was passed, the dark figure of a man with the unmistakable square shoulders of the private bodyguard lurched into view and the sentinel watched the intruder carefully. Then as the reporter gained the lower platform of the car and swung aboard the man dashed after him.

The reporter knocked for admittance and an inside door cautiously opened and a negro looked through the heavy glass door. This man was "Sam," other name unknown, who is known in New York as a Cleveland negro whom Rockefeller befriended, who often acts as caddie for him in golfing expeditions, and is one of the few men that the "oil king" really trusts. Then two tall burly men, not railroad employes, who were watching on the other side of the car, swung into view, gesticulating excitedly and on the run. Whereupon "Sam," Rockefeller's bodyguard, slammed the inside door. These strangers hestedly stated that the car was empty, a statement disproved by the trainmen themselves.

At 8:46 p. m. the mysterious car pulled out for Jersey City, although it was supposed not to leave until after 11 o'clock. Evidently Rockefeller attempted to slip into New York in the early morning hours, after the disappointed subpoena servers had relaxed their vigilance. The suspicion aroused here last night and the rumors that began to fly thick and fast in the Union station evidently indicated the need of sudden haste.

SUE M'CURDY AND OTHERS.

Mutual Life Insurance Company Takes Step to Recover Money Paid Them.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Suits have been instituted by the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company against Former President Richard A. McCurdy, Former General Manager Robert H. McCurdy and the firm of Charles H. Raymond & Co., formerly general agents for the Mutual, according to announcement made by the board of trustees today.

The suits were begun some time ago upon the advice of Joseph H. Choate. T. A. Thebaud, son-in-law of former President McCurdy, is a member of the firm of Charles H. Raymond & Co. Robert H. McCurdy is former President McCurdy's son.

The trustees at their meeting today accepted the resignations from the board of Effingham B. Morris of Philadelphia, and Stuyvesant Fish.

Richard A. McCurdy and his family and L. A. Thebaud and his family sailed for Europe today on the steamer Amerika.

COME TOGETHER HEADON.

Freight and Passenger Trains Collide Near Bellevernon and Three Men Are Injured.

A collision near Bellevernon on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad yesterday morning, resulted in the injury of three men, while two engines were damaged. The injured are Welser Means, aged 22, of McKeesport, and express messenger, who has a fractured skull, lacerated scalp and contusions of the body; S. P. Warrenford, of Pittsburgh, baggagemaster, whose injuries are not serious, and Engineer Morgan of this city, who was bruised and cut.

The collision is said to have been caused by a misunderstanding of orders. A passenger train which left McKeesport at 5 o'clock ran into a freight headon, two miles south of Bellevernon. Means was taken to the McKeesport hospital, Warrenford and Morgan were brought to their homes in this city. The entire freight crew was discharged from service.

Changes in La Belle Works.

NEW YORK, March 1.—(Special.)—M. C. Steese today becomes blast furnace superintendent of the La Belle Iron works of Steubenville, O. He succeeds E. C. Crowther. Steese's successor at the Brier Hill Iron and Coal Company of Youngstown, O., is Peter Brannen.

J. F. Fairlamb Succeeds Daniels.

NEW YORK, March 1.—J. F. Fairlamb was appointed today general passenger agent of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad. He will have his office in the Grand Central station, succeeding George F. Daniels. The announcement was made by C. F. Daly, passenger traffic manager.

GOVERNOR IGNORES TOPIC OF HIS TOAST

Touches But Briefly on "Greater Pittsburgh" in His Talk Before Lafayette Alumni.

That Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker will come to this city on March 30 as the guest of the Pittsburgh board of trade and will at that time speak on "Greater Pittsburgh," is the belief of those who heard him last night at the banquet of the Lafayette College Alumni association of Western Pennsylvania at the Duquesne club, where the same topic was assigned to him. In his address last night he touched but briefly on the subject, thus silently confirming the rumor that the board of trade would endeavor to have him reserve it until his later appearance.

Secretary Chauncey Lobingier of the board of trade stated last night before the banquet that the governor had accepted the invitation to come as that organization's guest on March 30, providing it conflicts with none of his other engagements. Mr. Lobingier declined to say what the governor's topic would be on that occasion, but wanted it understood that there has been no friction between the board and the alumni association regarding the topic for last night's affair.

The banquet was held in the main dining room at the Duquesne club and the guests numbered about 125. S. C. Long, '77, president of the association, introduced the Hon. Cyrus E. Woods, '58, of Greensburg, who acted as toastmaster. The toasts were as follows: President E. D. Warfield, D. D., LL. D., of Lafayette, "Alma Mater," the Hon. John E. Fox, '85, who was chairman of the legislative insurance investigating committee, "Lafayette in Politics;" Thomas Patterson, Esq., "Law;" Gov. Pennypacker on "Greater Pittsburgh," and J. Fred Weaver, Jr., '94, on "Patriotic Lafayette." Governor Pennypacker said in part:

I have come here from Harrisburg hurriedly and not to make a speech. Rather I come to show as chief executive of the state my interest in this institution. It is the prerogative of a speaker to talk on anything but the subject assigned to him. So I will tell a story. Shortly after the late rebellion, I walked through the valley of the Shenandoah. One of the men I met there told me this story of the laying waste of the region. Sherman had given orders to burn barns and destroy everything possible. A party of Confederates who followed the victorious army claimed that even some of the enemy had been burned. They fell in with a little Pennsylvania Dutchman, who asked what they were going to do with him. They said:

"Hang you."

"O, yes," replied the other, "whatever is de rule."

They laughed and let him go. I see the story has the same effect on you, so you'll let me off.

When I recall that the success of the recent extra session of the state legislature was due to the members and that one-tenth of that body are Lafayette graduates, I must pay tribute to the institution. Perhaps in closing I had better say a word or two in response to the toast. I don't know of any valid reason why I should be called upon to say anything on that topic. You who reside in this great city are in a position to know the conditions. I recently read in one of your newspapers a poem which expresses well the situation.

Here he read the verses on the "Giant-town," written by Arthur G. Burgoyne and sat down, while guests gave three cheers for the greater city.

FLING AT SOUTHERNERS.

Punxsutawney Congressman Proposes Sarcastic Resolution for Repeal of the Fourteenth Amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—(Special.)—Representative William P. Smith of Punxsutawney, Pa., handed a "hot one" to the southern Democrats who represent districts where the fourteenth amendment "availeth not" and where the negro freeman is urgently advised to go fishing on election days. In a resolution he presented he suggests that the fourteenth amendment be repealed in the spirit of "justice and good fellowship" that will not allow the constitution "to stand between friends."

He sarcastically refers to the "stubborn fanatics" like Charles Sumner, Benjamin Wade and Thaddeus Stevens, whose principles are now "practically obsolete," and suggested that when Jefferson said "all men" he meant "all white men."

NAME MORE INSTRUCTORS.

Miss Harriet L. Merriam and Prof. Keller Are Chosen for Margaret Morrison Carnegie School for Women.

The appointment of two more instructors for the Margaret Morrison Carnegie School for Women was announced yesterday by the Carnegie Technical Schools. They are Miss Harriet Lamont Merriam, as instructor in drawing and design, and Prof. Samuel S. Keller, as instructor in mathematics in the preparatory course to be offered this year. Miss Merriam is a native of Boston, and for the last two years she has taught theoretical and applied design at the Pennsylvania College for Women.

Prof. Keller is a native of Springfield, O., and is now assistant professor of mathematics in the School of Applied Science, Carnegie Technical schools.

WILL MODIFY THE MILEAGE BOOKS

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Modification in the conditions under which an excess of $10 is charged to every purchaser of a $20 interchangeable mileage book are to be made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Promises to this effect were made today by officials of the railroad at a conference held with representatives of the Merchants and Travelers and the Travelers' Protective associations. The nature of the promises were not made public.

Landis is Renominated.

TIPTON, IND., March 1.—Representative Charles B. Landis was renominated for the sixth time by the Republicans of the Ninth congressional district today. The nomination was by acclamation.

BANDIT KILLS FOUR AND WOUNDS OTHERS

Desperate Finnish Socialist Exacts Heavy Toll for His Arrest for Robbery.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HELSINGFORS, FINLAND, March 1.—The pursuit of the bandits who entered the Russian State bank, killed the guardian and secured $37,500 today cost four more lives at Tammersfors, where two of the fugitives were cornered. One of the bandits got possession of the town hall and held it for hours, but finally was subdued by a stream of water.

While Commissary of Police Balushin was examining the two captives one of them grabbed a revolver from the belt of the chief and killed Balushin. The bandit then vanished upstairs, where he barricaded himself.

He defied the police for three hours, meanwhile harranguing from the window a crowd of thousands, many of whom were in sympathy with him in socialistic speeches. Two policemen who tried to pick off the desperado from a house opposite were killed by the bandit.

After all other resources had been exhausted the firemen were called out and poured a flood of water into the window. Simultaneously police and firemen stormed the stairs. One of the assailing party was killed and nine were wounded before the bandit, who fought desperately with a big knife, could be overpowered.

The robber, a Dorpat blacksmith, boasted of membership in the Baltic revolutionary committee and said the robbery was committed to swell the revolutionary war fund. Six thousand dollars of the booty was recaptured.

The population of Helsingfors is greatly excited in view of the possibility of further crimes and everybody is purchasing revolvers.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR LANGLEY FUNERAL

Body Arrives in Washington and Prominent Men of Nation Will Honor Dead Scientist.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Funeral services over the body of Prof. S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, which arrived from Aiken, S. C., today, will be held at All Souls' church tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale and Rev. N. G. D. Pierce officiating.

The honorary pallbearers will be Chief Justice Fuller of the supreme court, chancellor of the Smithsonian; Vice President Fairbanks and the following regents: Senators Lodge and Bacon, Representatives Adams of Pennsylvania and Howard and Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, Speaker Cannon, Henry Adams, Arnold Hogue and Charles D. Walcott. The active pallbearers will be Dr. Richard Rathbun, Dr. Cyrus Adler, Dr. Frank Baker, Prof. W. H. Holmes, S. C. G. Abbott, W. L. Adams, James G. Traylor and H. W. Dorsey.

The body will be taken to Boston on the Federal express, leaving late tomorrow afternoon. Former Secretary of State Richard Olney of Boston, a regent of the institution, will, with Dr. Bell and Dr. Rathbun, represent the institution at Boston. Representatives of Harvard university and of the Massachusetts institute of technology have been invited to act as honorary pallbearers there.

On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock services will be held in the chapel of Forest Hills cemetery at Boston, where the interment is to take place.

FRANCE MAY BE FORCED TO SUMMON CONFERENCE

It Is Reported Germany Will Not Reply to Note—British Warships Gathering.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALGECIRAS, March 1.—All sorts of strange rumors ran through the corridors of the Reina Christina hotel today. One was that Germany would give no reply to the last French note, and that thus the conference would conclude under such circumstances that France would probably summon a conference to decide, in view of the extremely serious condition of the Moroccan question, upon giving a mandate to some power or powers to restore order. France and Spain being the only countries, on account of their geographical positions, liable to be chosen.

A division of British cruisers is due at Gibraltar today and two divisions of battleships will arrive there tomorrow. This formidable assemblage embraces 30 warships and 25,000 men.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—War and rumors of war is all that the state department can see in the international conference at Algeciras. The officials in their comments upon the situation are decidedly pessimistic and the statement was made today: "If no agreement is reached at Algeciras it will be because Germany desires war. France has made several concessions and the situation is not as if they were up against a stone wall and could not side-step."

Turns Down W. R. Hearst.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 1.—Attorney General Mayer today announced that he had denied the application of William R. Hearst demanding that the attorney general begin proceedings to annul the charter of the Interborough-Metropolitan Holding Company, under which the merger of the New York Traction companies is intended to be effectuated. The attorney general holds the proposed merger is permissible under the laws of the state.

Experts Report on Filtration.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Mayor Weaver sent to city councils today the report of Major Caesius E. Gillette and John D. Maclennan, expert engineers, on the present condition of the filtration system of Philadelphia, with recommendations as to the steps advisable for the prompt completion of the system. The report deals largely with the pumping of water after it has been filtered.

CONGRESSMEN ARE MUCH INTERESTED

Nine Members of Committee Coming to View Pittsburgh. Knox Detained.

SENATOR SCOTT IS OPPONENT

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—In order that more members of the house committee on public buildings and grounds may go to Pittsburgh tomorrow to investigate the needs as to a new postoffice building, the trip of a part of the committee to Boston has been abandoned.

Chairman Bartholdt announced today that in addition to those who yesterday stated they would go to Pittsburgh, Representatives Martin of South Dakota and Thomas of North Carolina will accompany the party. It is possible that one or two more members will go along. Mr. Bartholdt will talk with them in the morning.

It was rather disappointing to learn today that Senator Knox would not be able to accompany the party to Pittsburgh. The senator is deeply interested in the postoffice project and yesterday decided definitely that he would go with the house committee. He found later that the demands upon him were such that he would be obliged to forego the trip.

Senator Scott of West Virginia, chairman of the senate committee on public buildings and grounds, will not be able to go because of an engagement for Friday evening. Senator Scott is not in favor of giving Pittsburgh the appropriation at this time. He confesses that he has not carefully studied the situation, but he believes Pittsburgh can better do without a new building than can a great many smaller cities and towns, some having no public buildings at all.

"Pittsburgh is very dear to me," said Senator Scott, "and I would like to do anything in my power to advance its interests. But at present it seems to me that it would be unfair to give Pittsburgh the large appropriation she is asking when there are so many other places that need attention. You must remember that the present postoffice building has not been completed but a few years and that the site and building cost the government nearly $2,000,000."

It is believed that the Pennsylvania senators and members of the committee can change Senator Scott's views when they place before him the arguments and facts showing the actual conditions in Pittsburgh. Senator Penrose will do all in his power to help Pittsburgh. He is chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads and in that capacity will have a large influence.

"Yes, indeed," he said today, "I will do anything I can to help get a new postoffice for Pittsburgh. The city is in need of one and its need should be recognized by congress. For any help I can lend in that direction you can count on me."

The members of the house from Western Pennsylvania outside of Pittsburgh are favorable to Mr. Burke's bill providing it does not interfere with the appropriations they are seeking. They do not think Pittsburgh and other large cities should be included in the apportionment of appropriations to the various states.

GOOD TIME FOR COMMITTEE

trade, and Postmaster George L. Holliday and Postmaster John Francies of Allegheny. Senator Knox was expected to be present, but he wired last night that he could not come, and Congressman W. H. Graham is too sick in Washington to attend.

Arrangements will be made to take out on Sunday in automobiles those members of the congressional committee who wish to see the parks and residential districts. Councilmen S. G. Lennix and J. J. Matthews went to Washington last night to as an escort committee, to accompany the congressional committee to Pittsburgh. The party will be brought here in a special car.

At the meeting yesterday Chairman John J. McKelvey of the councilmanic committee appointed a banquet committee, consisting of William Brand, P. E. Kearns and Robert Porter; a committee on itinerary, composed of Congressman Burke and Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., Postmaster Holliday and George A. Anderson, who will be busy today arranging for the railroad trip through the industrial plants. Chairman McKelvey, Charles H. Chance and Chauncey Lobingier will look after the Sunday automobile trip.

The sub-committee on banquet met last night, in conjunction with Mr. Chance, Mr. Wardrop and Logan McKee of the chamber of commerce. Of the 350 seats at the banquet 125 will go to councilmen and city officials; 50 to the chamber of commerce, 30 to the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, 30 to the Pittsburgh board of trade, 15 to the Oakland board of trade, and 20 will be needed for the party from Washington; the 80 remaining seats have been distributed by the banquet committee to representative citizens.

The councilmanic committee will meet at 2 p. m. today to complete the arrangements for the instruction and entertainment of the congressmen.

A committee was appointed yesterday from the Civic club of Allegheny county to secure an interview with the congressmen. The committee is composed of William H. Stevenson, chairman; Charles B. Price and J. Boyd Duff.

The Civic club has been urging the grouping of public buildings about the court house, including the soldiers monument, the proposed new postoffice with the Frick building and the buildings which are expected to occupy the site of the old St. Paul's cathedral, and a possible new municipal building. The club made an appropriation for the preparation of drawings for such a grouping of great buildings.

The Civic club will also in conjunction with the Pittsburgh chapter of the Architectural League of America and the local Architectural club arrange for a public lecture in the interest of the movement to secure this effective grouping of Pittsburgh public bhuldings.

STEEL RECORDS ARE ALL BROKEN

It Is Estimated the Corporations Have Cleared Nearly Thirty-Three Million Dollars.

SHIPMENTS ARE STILL LARGE

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Deliveries of finished steel for the first two months of the current year have broken all high records, and earnings show a corresponding increase. In January and February the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation ran between $22,500,000 and $23,500,000. February earnings aggregated more than $11,000,000. It is anticipated that the earnings in March will bring the total for the first quarter of the current year up to $36,000,000.

The exceptionally large increase in earnings in the current quarter, as compared with corresponding quarters of preceding years, is due largely to the change in bookkeeping methods of the Steel corporation. The profits on ore which, up to last year, made the earnings in the summer months larger than in the winter months, are not now accounted for until the ore has taken the shape of finished steel and delivered to the consumer.

In the current quarter the United States Steel Corporation will also produce more steel than in any corresponding period in its history, but judging from the increase in steel consumption this record will not be maintained for any great length of time.

As it is, the United States Steel Corporation is able to turn out more than 10,000,000 of finished and semi-finished steel a year. Its proposed Indiana plant will give it an additional capacity of 1,750,000 tons, to say nothing of the future increase in the output of the Homestead and other subsidiary plants.

DOCTORS HAVE BANQUET.

Former Residents and Staff of St. John's General Hospital Hold Jolly Annual Gathering.

Former resident physicians of St. John's General hospital and the members of the hospital staff held their annual banquet in the hospital, McClure avenue, Allegheny, yesterday evening, and celebrated in jovial manner the reunion of old friends. The sisters in charge of the institution furnished an elegant repast for the doctors, to whose appetites the odors of hospital life merely added additional zest.

Many prominent practitioners of the city who in their younger days were connected with the hospital were present to the number of about 40, while several of the distinguished medical men were privileged guests. Officers of the ex-residents' association were chosen for the year as follows: President, Dr. G. C. McMaster; vice president, Dr. C. C. Stanton, and secretary and treasurer, Dr. M. E. Stover.

BOY IN DRESSES CROSSES THE CONTINENT ALONE

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—After traveling more than 3,000 miles across the continent little four-year-old William Lennox arrived today from Quaker City, Ore. Both his parents are dead, and Frank Lennox of this city is his nearest relative. The child was supplied with a ticket and a card was tied to his dress giving his destination.

HAMILTON'S

Annual Inventory Sale of PIANOS

Organs, Player Pianos, Piano Players and Musical Instruments of Every Description

This is our month for "house cleaning." In accordance with our policy we reduce our stocks to the lowest point just before closing our books for the business year. Cash is easier to count than merchandise. And there is an added advantage in starting our new year with the freshest, most up-to-date goods. We have two other good reasons for the specially low prices this year. We expect shortly to add two large and very popular lines of pianos to our present representation and the first shipments mean finding room for about fifty Grands and Uprights more than we regularly show in new goods. That means that some stock now carried will have to be crowded out. And we're going to do the most pushing right in our exchange rooms. The exchange department has grown enormously in the past six or eight months, due to the advent of the famous

ANGELUS PIANOS

You'll be amazed to see the fine Upright and Grand pianos of standard makes—some of them almost new—which we have received recently as part payment for Angelus pianos. The owner of a good piano, which he could not play, can now trade it in to us—at some sacrifice, to be sure—as part payment for a beautiful Angelus piano, which anyone can play.

The Angelus piano has not only revolutionized the music of the home, raising it to new standards, making every member of a family a musician—but it has brought into the exchange market many beautiful standard pianos at prices less than first cost, although they are actually as good as new. This is without question the most important showing of good pianos at low prices which we have ever made, and we urge upon your serious consideration the remarkable opportunity you now have to purchase a really good piano at a price far below its actual value. We do not expect to make a dollar's profit on the greater portion of the stock of used pianos offered. Our business is the selling of new pianos of high grade. The second-hand trade can only be incidental and therefore we make every inducement to secure the quickest possible action in removing this large lot of pianos which overflow our exchange rooms and crowd upon the space devoted to new goods.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Nearly anything we sell may be paid for in small amounts monthly if desired. Details of our terms will be gladly given to you when you call, or mailed to you if you write.

If you cannot come to the store by all means send for the complete printed list, which gives descriptions, prices, terms, etc., of every instrument offered in this sale.

Sale Begins Saturday, March 3, at 8 A. M.

And As a Special Opening Event We Have Selected

22 Used Upright Pianos

of such makes as Smith & Barnes, Hardman, New York Co., Opera, Tiffany, Byrne, Beckwith, Chickering, Emerson and others, all in good condition, in rosewood, mahogany or ebony cases, furnishing a stool free, and offer at the sensational price of $100.00 Each

Think of it, a selection of 22 good used pianos; and, remember, that we never advertise what we haven't got.

You'll find these pianos here on Saturday morning. How many of them will be here by Saturday evening at 10 o'clock we cannot tell. Therefore we urge your early attendance or mail inquiry. While there are no two second-hand pianos exactly alike, there are a number of pianos of the same make in this sale. For instance, there are two Hardmans, three Operas, two Decker Bros., two Knabes, two Tiffanys, three Fischers and others. There's a splendid selection, anyhow, and we hope you'll get in for the best of it.

20 USED UPRIGHTS

There are over 70 other used, shopworn, discontinued styles and second-hand uprights by such makers as A. B. Chase, Fischer, Mason & Hamlin, Knabe, Kranich & Bach, Steinway, Decker Bros., Sterling, Stuyvesant, Chickering, Schumann, Smith & Barnes, Vose, Hamil-Tone, McPhail, Hardman, Krutzmann and others, all in fine condition, offered at prices beginning as low as

$145.00

Monthly payments if you wish. Send for complete printed list.

12 USED GRAND PIANOS

A number of small grand pianos in various woods, and sizes, some of them used less than two years. All in best possible condition and worthy of the consideration of the best musicians. Some specially suited for small apartments.

The makes represented include Fischer, Vose, Chickering, A. B. Chase, Decker Bros., Knabe and Mason & Hamlin. The prices begin as low as

$290.00

Monthly payments if you wish. Send for complete printed list.

20 USED PIANO PLAYERS

There are some excellent bargains here in piano players of various makes, including Harmonists, Paragons, Pianolas, Metrostyle Pianolas, Maestro, Amphion, Playanolas and Simplex. Any of the above will be sold at prices not exceeding $100 each. A few at prices as low as $50. Music and bench included.

In addition we have three Angelus (1905 models) which we offer at $125.00 cash, or on payments at slight advance. Also four later style Angelus, used from 8 to 12 months, at $175.00 and $200.00. These last an exceptional offering. They require no repairs or overhauling of any kind, because Angelus piano players rarely need that sort of attention.

35 USED ORGANS

When by any chance we get hold of an organ that is worn out we don't attempt to fix it. Simply break it up and charge the value off to profit and loss account. Any organ we advertise is in good condition. Of course the higher priced organs are the best in style, size, volume, number of stops and general condition, but they are all playable and undoubtedly worth more than we ask for them.

We offer this time organs made by Estey, Clough & Warren, Mason & Hamlin, Packard, United States Co., Miller, Beatty, Chicago Cottage, Wilcox & White, Cornish, Sterling, Apollo, Meelham, Bridgeport, Aeolian and others at prices as low as

$15.00

Any of them on easy payments. Send for complete list.

Tremendous Cuts IN Music Boxes

During this sale we offer any music box in the house at a discount of 33⅓%. But, as a starter, we're willing to sell on Saturday, March 3d, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 10 P. M., any $80.00, $95.00 or $100.00 Music Box for and your choice is not restricted to any particular make. We offer in this sale, Mira, Stella, Regina, Symphonion, Criterion and other standard music boxes.

If you want to send your order by mail, send us your check for $51.00 (to include packing) and 60c each for as many tune sheets as you want to buy and we'll send you the best new $100.00 box in the house. Order must be mailed to reach us not later than Monday morning.

Men's Frock Coats and Waist Coats

The man who is a devotee of style must number among his belongings a frock coat and waist coat. When Spring begins to knock at our door, that is the time when the well-dressed man most appreciates the frock coat. Let's give it its common name, the Prince Albert.

Time was when men thought it was absolutely necessary to have the Prince Albert made to measure. The scientific cutting of men's clothes, the equally scientific tailoring of men's clothes, to be seen in this store, has disabused the idea that the frock coat, to be correct, should only come from the custom tailor.

Horne's Clothing Section is famous for the style and beautiful finish of its ready-to-wear Frock Coats. They are practically tailor made. Each coat is given individual attention, and is made in the same manner as though it were being made to order, except that it is made over a model pattern, and these patterns are in such a variety of proportions as to exactly meet the requirements of men of almost any normal figure.

None but best materials are used in our frock coats, such as fine thibet and unfinished worsteds.

Frock Coats and Waist Coats are $32.00 and $38.00 silk lined; at $25.00 we have them lined with serge.

Worsted Trousers, in new patterns, from $5.00 to $12.00.

Evening Dress Suits of worsteds and imported fabrics, $38.00 to $50.00.

Tuxedo Coats at $22.00 and $25.00.

Full Dress Waist Coats, single and double-breasted, of white linen and pique, at $3.50 to $5.00.

New Table Damasks.

We have a great pride in our Department of Linens. We are equally proud of its large patronage, its increasing patronage. The large trade of this department is growing so much larger that, whereas we sent our linen man to Europe once a year, now he goes twice a year. He is over there at present.

The fact that we are the heaviest importers of linens between Philadelphia and Chicago has a great deal to do with our always selling best household linens for less prices. Following is an idea of our less prices—

62 and 64-inch Bleached Table Damask—60c and 65c goods—our less price 50c a yard.
66-inch Bleached Table Damask—75c goods—our less price 65c a yard.
68-inch Bleached Table Damask—90c goods—our less price 75c a yard.
72 and 81-inch Bleached Table Damask—$1.25 and $1.35 goods—our less price $1.00 a yard.
72-inch extra heavy Bleached Table Damask—$1.50 goods—our less price $1.25 a yard.
72-inch extra heavy Table Damask—$1.75 and $1.85 goods—our less price $1.50 a yard.
2x2-yard Tablecloths, $2.50 goods, our less price $1.85.
2x2½-yard Tablecloths, $3.25 goods, our less price $2.25.
2x3-yard Tablecloths, $4.25 goods, our less price $3.00.
2½x2½-yard Tablecloths, $4.50 goods, our less price $3.50.
2½x3-yard Tablecloths, $5.25 goods, our less price $4.00.
18x18-inch Napkins, $1.25 goods, our less price $1.00 a dozen.
22x22-inch Bleached Napkins, $2.75 goods, our less price $2.00 a dozen.
22x22-inch Bleached Napkins, $3.75 goods, our less price $2.75 a dozen.
26x26-inch Bleached Napkins, $6.00 goods, our less price $4.50 a dozen.
27x27-inch Bleached Napkins, $6.50 goods, our less price $5.00 a dozen.

New Method of Fitting Eye Glasses.

Obsolete is the word for the old ways of adjusting eye glasses, and only opticians who have not studied modern ideas stick to the unsatisfactory old-time plan of fitting.

Every year brings improvements in testing, fitting and making glasses.

Our optician has been wonderfully successful in picking out the right glasses for eyes submitted to him, and it is not a matter of luck, but a matter of the delicate instruments used in testing the sight.

We make no charge for examination of eyes.

And our prices are less than common for filling oculists' prescriptions.

Gold-Filled Glasses, $1.50 up.
Aluminum Glasses, $1.00 up.
Solid Glasses, $4.50 up.

Extra! Extra! Extra!

$10.00 for Women's Coats.

Reduced from $20.00, $25.00 and up to $50.00.

$10.00 for a $50.00 coat! In the slang of the day that's "going some."

You're just as likely as not to pick up a $50.00 garment, but we want it understood that all the garments are not of the $50.00 class. As a matter of fact the $50.00 coats are in the minority.

But even if you don't get a $50.00 coat, there are the $20.00 coats and the $25.00 coats and the other coats that take you along up to $50.00. The materials are velvet, broadcloth, coverts, and some are made of novelty mixtures.

We're not going into any lengthy description of these coats. Life's too short to talk much about $20.00 to $50.00 garments for $10.

All we have to say, in conclusion, is that styles are good, that the colors are black, tan and mixtures, and there are even a few white coats for evening wear.

New Things in Fancy Work.

Always lots of new ideas to introduce women to in the Art Needlework Department, third floor, West. Women who are on the lookout for something to help them pass their time won't have to look around very long when in this department. It's full of pastime propositions. News of finished pieces as well as unfinished.

New washable Cushions and Table Covers, white grounds with large, bold artistic designs in colors pressed into the goods. The covers are 36 inches square. 85c each. No work required.

New Spring line of Dresser Scarfs, in white, striped and figured Swiss, trimmed with bands of delicate colored Swiss, finished with narrow lace trimmed ruffling, lined with colored percaline to match the trimming. $1.00 values for 50c, 65c, 75c, 85c each.

Fancy Scrim Bags, with hoops and linings, stamped for rococo embroidery, 50c each.

Fancy White Lawn Bags, with hoops and linings, stamped for shadow embroidery, 50c each.

Fancy Bags on white linen, stamped for hedebo and eyelet embroidery, complete with materials for working, 50c.

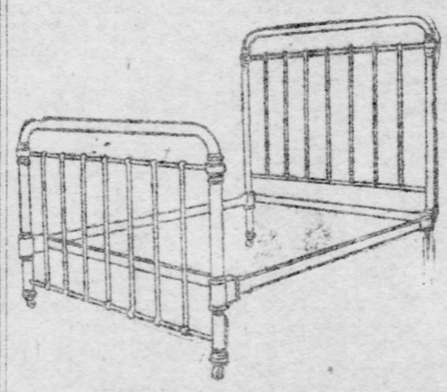
Special Sale of Women's Umbrellas.

$4.50 each for $7.00, $8.00 and $9.00 Umbrellas.

A line our buyer closed out while in New York last week. Covers of these Umbrellas are made of fine imported pure silk tape-edge taffeta. The handles were also imported.

'Tisn't very ofen women have an opportunity to buy such a fine umbrella for $4.50. We're not going to describe the style of handles because we want to surprise you when you come by showing you something about as unique as you ever saw.

A $35 Brass Bed for $25.



This is the bed. Notice that it is severely plain. To our mind the richest appearing brass bed is the one with the least frills. The size is double bed size. It is an attractive bed, and is carefully constructed of the best material. It is as near perfection as any brass bed can be made. The head and foot are of continuous tubing with two-inch posts, ornamented with husks. The end filings are arranged in panels. The bed is jointed with cast brass bulbs. It is highly varnished and lacquered and is fitted with ball-bearing casters. We are free to say that we have never offered a brass bed possessing so many high qualities as this one for $25.00.

We have just received a new shipment of best makes of Brass Beds at prices, for double bed size, $22.00, $25.00, $35.00, $38.00, $40.00 and up to $80.00.

Friday, March 2, 1906.

After objections to almost every item of the army appropriation bill, particularly objections by John Sharp Williams, it passed the house carrying a total of $69,000,000. A tidy sum of money, but by no means excessive for as large and rich a nation as ours. It is not a war measure; it is a peace bill; but it contains items on the sound principle that we should "in time of peace, prepare for war."

Decision of the Annapolis naval academy authorities to dispense with the services of the Japanese jiu-jitsu expert indicates the subsidence of the fad which raged so fiercely in this country and led even President Roosevelt to take personal instruction in the art. At Annapolis, it is said, jiu-jitsu contains a few new suggestions for the wrestler, but as an exercise is not as valuable as the present system used in the gymnasium.

There will be a disposition to take the plea of the Monongahela Water Company with large grains of allowance. That company has always appeared to be very prosperous. There have been times when water rents were considerably more than 25 per cent above cost of service and the company has been under stress of issuing more stock to restrain the size of dividends. We do not believe a reduction of 25 per cent would ruin the company.

Secretary Bonaparte, in the course of his official duties, has been called upon to write several letters of reprimand recently, so it was doubtless with a special feeling of pleasure that he addressed a letter of commendation to an able seaman, yesterday, expressing appreciation of an heroic act of life-saving. The letter, graceful in its wording, as in the spirit which inspired it, is a proper acknowledgment of duty well done. The American navy is full of such heroes, who need but the opportunity.

Attorney General Hadley of Missouri is taking measures to revive public interest in his show. He appears to be a master hand in getting the maximum amount of notoriety out of one legal action against the unpopular Standard Oil Company. Just as Henry H. Rogers is becoming a waning star, the energetic Hadley takes extreme measures to impress John D. Rockefeller as chief attraction. In the measure of unwillingness of the star performers is the measure of pleasure of the populace in seeing them perform.

There is merit in the plan of the Civic club for a group of great buildings about the court house, but it may be questioned whether the best site for a new postoffice is on Grant hill. There is always a tendency to put up the price of property when Uncle Sam is the prospective purchaser, which is one reason for leaving him a wide range in choice of sites. Another item is the more level haul to the various railroad terminals from the present office and sites similarly located. Still no harm will be done if the Civic club talks up its idea.

Resolutions of praise for The Gazette by Andrew G. Curtin council, Jr. O. U. A. M., are very gratifying. That name of Andrew G. Curtin is, in itself, inspiring. It is a suggestion of the quality of American citizenship we are striving for, not merely as typified by Pennsylvania's war governor in his own person, but as exemplified by the thousands of sons of Pennsylvania who rallied around the governor in those dark days. For the sake of those traditions the muddy stream of present immigration should be filtered and the naturalization laws should raise the standard of citizenship.

In introducing the navy estimates in the house of commons yesterday, Financial Secretary of the Admiralty Robertson stated that since The Hague peace conference the naval expenditures of the great powers have increased 50 per cent. This he considered a menace to the peace of the world. In this connection it is significant the British naval estimates for 1906-1907 are $12,500,000 less than the estimates for the present fiscal year, but since six battleships, 10 armored cruisers and a number of smaller fighting craft are in course of construction, it is evident Brittania intends to continue to rule the waves. Its heavy preponderance, moreover, is an incentive to peace, rather than a menace.

Passing of the Packets.

On Wednesday the boats of the Pittsburgh and Morgantown Packet Company were sold at auction, at the instance of creditors. They brought no large sums compared with original cost. The company's affairs are in the hands of a receiver. It is problematic whether there will be any packet service on the Monongahela during the coming season—for the first time in many, many years. There were times in the past when two packet lines piled the Monongahela more or less profitably.

When one stops to consider the troubles of the packet line began at about the time railroad communication was extended beyond Brownsville, there is significance in the fact. First the Baltimore & Ohio's line from Morgantown to Connellsville trenched on the territory; then the Pennsylvania-Vanderbilt line went up the river from Brownsville to Lock No. 7. There is railroad service between Pittsburgh and Fairmont, save for the short reach between Lock No. 7 and Point Marion. At the same time the steamboat has gone down and out.

In the same way the packet service disappeared from the Allegheny river after the completion of the Allegheny Valley railroad to Oil City in 1867. The boats went to other streams. Passengers and miscellaneous cargo travel faster by rail—though not so cheaply—and in America time is money. The future of our minor rivers will be in the transportation of bulk freight in barges. This will be necessary to relieve the railroads and it will be economical. Slow cargo can be moved most cheaply by water; the barge will grow increasingly useful.

Unwarranted Impatience.

There is impatience in some quarters with Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, because he has not yet instituted suit to restrain the railroads from requiring a $10 deposit on each 1,000-mile ticket. There is no ground for impatience. There is no reason to believe Mr. Carson to be delaying action unduly. The resolution is but two weeks old, and few attorneys in private practice would undertake to prepare an important case in that time. Mr. Carson has been busy with the state insurance department and other business in the direct interest of the state and will act in the mileage case in good time.

We believe The Gazette was the first newspaper in the state to take up this subject and publicly call attention to the injustice of requiring the extra deposit. It is as anxious as anyone to see the matter adjudicated. Yet it is satisfied to await the attorney general's convenience, knowing the careful preparation necessary to combat such skilful legal talent as the railroads employ. Moreover, there is now a private suit pending in the courts, for recovery of a deposit, brought by a citizen of Irwin, backed by a large number of commercial travelers. The law points may be fully dealt with in this case, rendering action by the attorney general unnecessary. It is, at the least, but fair to give Mr. Carson time to look up the whole subject.

One or Two Negatives.

A communication from Allegheny has reached the editor which indicates the Greater Pittsburgh topic is being earnestly discussed on the North Side. It reads as follows:

I am a member of the Literary society of the High school class of the —— ward public school, Allegheny, and have the negative side of a debate opposing the annexation of Allegheny to Pittsburgh. I have looked up this Greater Pittsburgh movement in many magazines and have followed your paper daily, but so far I have been very unsuccessful in getting facts for my debate. Now you would favor me greatly if you could give me any information which would help me in my debate.

There is a vagueness in this request that makes direct answer impossible. The correspondent says he has "the negative side of a debate opposing the annexation of Allegheny to Pittsburgh." If the resolution opposed annexation, as indicated, the negative side would favor consolidation. The later assertion "I have been very unsuccessful in obtaining facts," indicates the other way about, for there are no facts in opposition to Greater Pittsburgh—nothing but sophistical arguments. The papers have teemed with facts in the affirmative on the proposition that annexation is a good thing; on the other side there is naturally nothing. If our correspondent is to argue for Greater Pittsburgh, we hope his argument will be less confusing than his query.

A City at Play.

Pittsburghers returning from New Orleans are enthusiastic in their praise of the carnival celebration, which this year surpassed all others in the brilliance of its pageants and its spirit of abandon to wholesome, genuine fun. New Orleans annually presents a unique picture among American cities, a picture which, in these days of feverish commercial activity, might profitably be duplicated in many another city. It is the only conspicuous example of a large city giving itself up wholly to having a jolly good time for the best part of a week, abandoning all but the most necessary business and entertaining with whole-souled hospitality thousands of visitors from all parts of the country. One is struck particularly with the spirit of "make believe" which permeates the entire celebration, carrying one back to the days of childhood and its delight in fairy tales. This is evidenced by the various fictitious personages, of whom "Rex" is chief, with their formal entrances into the city and the glittering parades, free from the commercial feature.

The funds which make possible these parades and other expensive displays during the carnival are supplied by several permanent organizations, which date back as far as 1828, and there is no appeal to the public for aid. New Orleans undoubtedly derives much financial benefit from her annual merrymaking, but that is merely incidental and by no means the inspiration for the carnival, which has had its counterpart in the southern countries of Europe for many centuries. It is refreshing to see a city take "a week off" for play, and play so vigorously as does New Orleans. Not all American cities could do so, but this is no reason for begrudging the people of New Orleans their happy celebration.

Spirit of Anarchy.

Rioting at Springfield, O., was stopped when the military commanders gave orders to the men to shoot to kill. That order should have been given earlier. The fact that so-called "leading citizens" of Springfield sympathize with the rioters and condone their acts is an additional reason why the law should be enforced rigorously.

We understand the considerations that move militia officers to withhold orders to fire. There is always a hue and cry when someone is killed or hurt. There is usually a trial in court backed by prejudice and mawkish sentiment. Officers sometimes lose political prestige. These considerations, however, have no proper place in the enforcement of the laws and the keeping of the peace. The whole people should understand that life may not be taken, physical injury inflicted, or property destroyed without the certainty of punishment.

Chicago finds itself in the pitiable condition of having to beseech respectable people to keep off the streets after nightfall, as the result of a timid policy in dealing with violence. Time and again that city has been dominated by the riotous element. From disregard of the peace laws there has grown disregard of the forces of order. Under an inefficient, socialistic administration defiance of all law has come to be the prevailing condition. Springfield is going the same road. Its "leading citizens" condone lynching and arson. Unless the strong arm of the law interferes in that situation with enough vigor to change popular sentiment with regard to the power of law, the community will fall into as complete anarchy as Chicago. There is no time like the present to make an example of the lawbreakers.

A Freak and a Fallacy.

Western legislatures can be depended upon to supply a good grist of freak bills at every session. Some are introduced for the avowed purpose of creating hilarity in the halls of legislation, evidencing a sense of humor, or what passes for such, in their sponsors. They are never intended to become laws, but are spread before readers of yellow journals as masterpieces of mirth. In this class was the excruciating bill, introduced by a Mississippi legislator, prohibiting any citizen from parting his hair in the middle. A freak bill almost equally ridiculous is being seriously urged for passage, making attendance at card parties where prizes are awarded a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment. Mississippi "society" is reported "up in arms" over the proposed legislation, and will make a vigorous fight. The excitement is probably unnecessary, for it is hardly conceivable the measure will be accorded serious consideration, but the presentation of such bills is not calculated to impress one with the dignity of Mississippi's legislative body.

The bill in question contains one glaring fallacy. It is framed on the assertion that card-playing for prizes is analogous to a lottery. It is not. Players pay nothing to participate when the prizes are provided by the hostess. They are not risking anything. Games of cards allow latitude for the exercise of skill. In a multitude of other contests prizes are permitted. If Mississippi's lawmakers wish to deprive the women of one of their pleasures, they should be consistent and place penalties upon all those sports and pastimes in which men compete for prizes.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Gleaming Footlights. By Charles M. Bregg.

There is an epidemic of Mansfield publicity. From one startling headline to another the actor's name has been bandied recently to the complete annihilation of all the dignity that should enfold a genius. For the life of me I cannot understand why Mr. Mansfield, with his oft repeated aversion to undue publicity, should encourage, as he evidently does, this notoriety. His fame is pretty well established. He is not, as was Bernhardt, the victim of the circus press bureau. Mr. Paul Wilstach, his press representative, is one of the most conservative and dignified writers. Despite these things Mr. Mansfield continues to be the victim of publicity that has the "fishiest" sort of press agent aroma.

The story of the actor's retirement at the end of three years seems to be official, but it was given out with so much hurrah that, considering the subject, it becomes somewhat ridiculous. Three years is a long time to forecast the possible doings of an actor, certainly one so erratic as the versatile Richard.

Then, too, there is a slight suspicion of over estimating the public concern in an event so remote. If it were cabled that King Edward or the czar had announced retirement from the king business at the end of three years "owing to the great strain on their nervous forces," the news might be fitly regarded as bearing import of serious national and international kind. Mr. Mansfield's retirement from the American stage would mean the loss of one of the best actors in certain parts that we have, but this pompous fuss that is being kicked up over it, three years in advance, comes mighty near being absurd, and, unfortunately, will have the effect of strengthening the conviction entertained in some quarters that the actor is a supercilious and over vain man, a conviction that I believe is founded in error of judgment.

It would be entirely wrong to misjudge the actor's motives for retiring should he do so when the time comes. The work of the modern player who tries to lift himself above the common achievement is beset by many difficulties and entails much hard and nerve destroying work. Mr. Mansfield is, however, no rare exception in those hardships. Booth and Kean and Irving, infinitely the superiors of Mansfield, died in the harness after accomplishing much more than the average modern actor in the way of versatile character creation.

But the Mansfield publicity epidemic has contributed also to the gaiety of nations, altogether apart from any complicity on his part and for which he is in nowise responsible. It is in the fun that is poked at the actor that I think lies a sort of ridicule of his assumed superiority. This ridicule I also believe is intensified by such serious views of himself as the actor seems to take in the announcement of his retirement. Mr. Mansfield is hardly a subject for ridicule on the side of his art. That is serious enough and worthy enough to command general and sincere respect. The mention made in this column several days ago of the organization in Cleveland of stage employes for the purpose of disciplining the actor for his rudeness has created a laugh from one end of the country to the other.

One of the most amusing of these comments is that made by Burns Mantle of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, who conceives a correspondence bureau in which letters are sent from all the prominent theaters of the Mansfield circuit encouraging the Cleveland organization. Mr. Mantle prefaces a number of specimen letters with a few remarks of his own on the subject of the Stage Mechanics Union. Among other things he says:

"No man is a hero to his valet, it has been wisely chronicled, and certainly no actor is an idol to the Stage Hands' union. However urbane and jovial he may be at his after theater dinners, however much a success in offering his large audiences thanks for their attendance and their applause, however sweet natured and domestic at his own fireside, our first actor is certainly not a success with the stage mechanics back of the curtain.

Then follows a number of imaginary letters from various cities anent the organization. The letter from Pittsburgh bears the initials of the local manager of the Nixon and reads as follows:

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Thursday.—The news that the boys in Cleveland were going to get after that fellow Mansfield was received with three cheers and a tiger besides. No one here likes to work for Mansfield, and threaten to strike every time he comes to town, just because he don't know what decent treatment means to a man with a wife and children. Just to show you what he did when he was here with Ivan the Awful. I was standing 3R when he came on. I saw him coming and tried to get out of the way, but there wasn't room, so I squeezed up close to the scenery and held my breath. What did he do but reach over and take a bite out of my shoulder. When I hollered, Let go, you, he said, as though nothing had happened, O, excuse me, my dear man, I thought it was the scenery. I always bite the scenery before going on in this act. And that's all I got out of it.

"Louisville, Ky., Saturday—There was great excitement back on the stage of Macauley's when it was proposed to take out a local charter for the Mansfield reform movement. Some were in favor, but others thought it would interfere with their individual plans. It seems that "Billy," our property man, has been laying for Mansfield for a couple of seasons and has rigged up a sack of brick in the rigging over the center of the stage. We went up and looked at it and found that it was filled with what we thought were about 100 bricks, but Billy says there are only 29—one for every time Mansfield has kicked him in the last five years."

All of which is very absurd, but highly diverting.

Anent this whole question of stage conduct behind the scenes, and the attitude of great stars toward their fellow actors and the employes of the theater, Rowland Buckstone of the Sothern-Marlowe company has a grievance of an entirely different kind. That gentleman is overburdened with the courtliness and kindness of his stars, and in the name of his fellow-players and the stage employes begs Mr. Sothern to be rough with them. Mr. Buckstone's formal petition reached me in the following form:

The members of the Sothern-Marlowe company, and the stage hands employed by that organization, beg respectfully to place before Mr. Sothern that the excessive attention to polite behavior exacted during working hours and even in their few moments of leisure, is a great and unnecessary tax upon their good nature and their powers of memory, and the cause of much disagreeable ridicule.

\+ \+ \+

While the undersigned appreciate Mr. Sothern's activity in constantly raising his hat, and the extreme gentleness of his address—the fact that he imposes the burden of an exaggerated etiquette on men who have been in the habit of free behavior appears to us unkind and despotic.

For us whose second nature it is to emphasize the expression of our pleasure or our pain with well-chosen and established expletives, it is a positive hardship to have to indulge in sugar-coated talk. For us to whom the morning cocktail is a time-honored necessity, to be called down if we have the perfume of liquor on our breath is a distinct and painful trespass upon our constitutional rights.

For us whose citizenship permits us to stand uncovered in the presence of kings, it is tiresome to have to take off our hats, shabby with honest toil, every time we meet each other. Our hands, the hands of harvest men (the noblest works of God), cannot be kept clean and manicured if we are to do our work properly. In Pittsburgh, especially, it is impossible to keep clean.

We therefore beg that we may, without offense, return to our old condition of ordinary, God-fearing actors and stage hands. We are willing to give up expectorating, to refrain from loud talking and to practice ordinary good nature in that station to which it has pleased God to call us, but we are not Lord Chesterfields.

All of which goes to prove that there are many things in the philosophy (and fun) beyond the foothlights not dreamed of on this side.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Notes About People and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

"Very few Americans, even those in the trade, really realize the extent of the sausage industry in Europe," said Herr August Korte in the lobby of the Fort Pitt last night. Mr. Korte is here on a rather confidential mission from Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, and starts this morning for Chicago to interest meat packers in his plans.

"To Americans who have cultivated, at most, a taste for about 10 varieties of sausage," continued Herr Korte, "it may prove a revelation that next month in Berne, Switzerland, there will be an exhibition in which about 1,025 varieties of sausage and bolognas will be displayed. This indicates how much Americans have to learn in the varieties of this foodstuff. In the great number of foreigners now coming into this country, meat packers can find ready made customers for new varieties of sausage, American made; while Americans have the reputation of always being willing to assimulate foreign ideas.

"Before I left Germany I attended, in my native city, the 'centennial of the sausage,' which was celebrated under municipal auspices, with parades, fireworks and paens of praise, last October. The sausage is only 100 years old, being invented in 1805 by a poor man of Frankfort, which city furnished the name for the frankfurther. The same family, now multi-millionaires, still hold on to the trade. Many stores in the large cities have over 300 grades of sausage always in stock," concluded Herr Korte.

All this goes to prove that the national "meal of mystery," boarding house hash may soon be supplanted by the equally mysterious compound of strange sausages!

"THE LENTEN SEASON."

Written for The Gazette:

With reverence let us pass the days,
Throughout this solemn season,
And turn our minds to Him above
With care and thought and reason;
For in the wilderness He passed
Those forty long, drear days,
That in the future we might sing
His glory and His praise.

It was for us He suffered long
If was for us He died.
It was for us upon the cross
That He was crucified.
But vain those cruel marks He bore—
The thorns upon His brow
Were worn that we might now proclaim
Him King of Glory now.

No terror had the grave for Him;
No guard, no seal, no stone.
He trod for our salvation
The winepress all alone.
He suffered, died and rose again
That such as you and I,
Might dwell thro' countless ages
In the mansions of the sky.

Quiet Observations on Ways of the World

Burrowing Under City and River. By ERASMUS WILSON.

Thousands of human moles are burrowing under New York city, Hudson river and out into the suburbs.

Just now a subway is being opened under Washington Heights, the highest point on Manhattan island. From the station on the crest of the hill the subway, 125 feet below, is reached by an elevator, or lift—drop would seem more appropriate to those dropping into the station to take a train down town.

Branches from this deep line will lead off to various points in the Bronx. To the uninitiated these things seem to be entirely impracticable, if not really impossible. But while you are thinking of it the sound of clanging bells, the scream of compressed air, and the rattle and roar of a rushing train come up from the bowels of the earth.

Were Rip Van Winkle here he would surely think the mountain was filled with funny little fellows.

A moment later a big cage pops up and out steps a score or more people, who go scurrying off in every direction. A score or more others step into the cage, the bell clangs, the door bangs, and a moment later they go aboard a train that will carry them to the Battery, or any intermediate point, at the schedule rate of 20 miles an hour.

They say it is easier to construct railway lines under cities than in them, or over them, because the way is clear, and they don't have to turn sharp curves, as when following street lines.

And then the workmen are not interfered with by street traffic. There is no such thing as night and day turns, as it is all night in the deeper subways. The men work eight-hour shifts, the turns following regularly day and night, workday, Sunday and holiday alike.

Sunday and holiday work is not compulsory, but as a rule foreigners prefer to work right along. Indeed most of them think it quite a snap to get a day's pay for one-third of a day's work.

The immense amount of rock and dirt excavated is eagerly gobbled up by those who are interested in grading rough places in the suburbs. Deep and wide ravines are filled up, covered with earth and sold for building lots.

So rough and lumpy is much of the ground that it cannot be used for building purposes until it has been leveled up in some places and down in others.

Here, as in Boston, some of the finest residences, blocks of houses, and business places, stand on made ground, and beautiful swards and terraces have taken the places of immense boulders and deep gullies.

Money makes the rocks go, smoothes the rough places and elevates the lowlands and salt marshes. Great is money, but greater the human and spiritual energy which it represents.

The social surface of New York is no less lumpy, and rough, and rugged, than its physical surface. Nor is it any more difficult, or expensive, to smooth down and level up one than the other.

Just now, and for all time past, perhaps, the people have been more deeply interested in making the physical surface level, keeping it clean, and so improving it that trade, travel, and social intercourse might be more comfortable and convenient, than in the improvement and betterment of morals and social conditions.

A judicious application of the same amount of means and energy would make New York as great, as beautiful and as wonderful from a moral standpoint as it is today from a material point of view.

Will it ever be?

What does analogy suggest?

Forests have to be cleared away before homes can be built and profitable farms established. Roads have to be graded, and rivers have to be bridged, schools and churches have to be founded, orchards have to be planted, and gardens cultivated before a country, or a community begins to develop conditions that are really worth while.

The land still demands so much labor, thought and attention that there is not a great deal of time and energy left to be devoted to moral, social and religious matters.

The time may come—it will come when human talent and means will be directed to the development and betterment of social and moral conditions, and as great things will be done in the spiritual as have been done in the material world.

New York, February 28, 1906.

Something About Our Spring Birds.

Charming Visitors Who Will Soon Be With Us. By HON. DAVID D. BRUCE.

While the birds of each kind are much alike in their plumage, there is a marked difference in the character of the bills of the different kinds, and in the different uses they make of them.

Some are hard bill birds and some are soft bill birds.

The cardinal grosbeak, the blue grosbeak, the indigo bird, the rose-breasted grosbeak and many other birds are hard billed and use their bills in catching and masticating their food. The ivory bill woodpecker of the southern states, and all our own woodpeckers are hard bill birds; but they use their bills for boring into the bark of the trees to procure the soft grub which is their principal article of food, and in excavating holes for their nest where they lay their eggs and rear their young. They do not use their hard bills for masticating their food, because their food is soft and does not require it.

The flicker, which is a hard bill bird, often bores into the ground in search for the soft white grub; but he likes to hammer on the dead limb of a tree, sometimes simply apparently to make a noise or attract his mate.

Early Spring Visitors.

In the spring when the annual migration from the south occurs, we have the hosts of fly catchers and warblers come upon us. They are nearly all soft bill birds, living on the spiders and bugs they find on trees and bushes. In many cases they have some special "habitat" or some place where they can usually be found; where they make their nest and rear their young, and they usually remain in its neighborhood for the remainder of the season while they stay with us in the north.

The cat bird is generally found in the garden near the dwelling, living and nesting in some bushes, like the lilacs, flying low and seldom going high up on the trees. And the mocking bird of the south has similar habits and its "habitat" are the bushes and low trees that are found in the gardens of dwellings and the huts of negroes of southern plantations.

The robin comes early in the spring and can be found on the lawns as soon as the frost is out of the ground, seeking for the common worm, which is the food for both himself and his young. He is fond of fruit in the fall of the year and he will then be found in the orchards eating the pears and other fruit that fall to the ground when they are ripe. Later still he will be found in the woods feeding on the wild grape and other fruits he finds there.

Resents Any Intrusion.

Where near the edge of a woods there is a fence and a thicket of low bushy trees and a general assortment of bushes and wild blackberries, there will be found the yellow breasted chat. That's his habitat for the whole season, and he doesn't want any person to intrude on it. When anyone approaches he gives them notice of his displeasure by a sharp whistle like a man calling a dog. Then come notes of irritation and anger; then notes of protest thrown out with sounds of apparent threats and repeated warnings, and all the time he is making these sounds to scare the visitor away he keeps himself hid in the bushes, and for that reason he is seldom seen and is not well known.

The water ousel which is found in northern Europe and in our Rocky mountains has a queer habitat. He lives along the creeks and runs and makes his nest in the bushes near them. He gets his food and passes most of his time under the water and feeding on what he finds on the bottom of the streams that he frequents. His bath does not seem to wet him any and when he gives a shake when he comes out he can fly away perfectly dry.

These few incidents are given so that the young student of the birds may have his attention called to the matter of the homes of particular birds and in time add to the number.

NEWS OF STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD

PRODUCTION OF COKE SHOWS A BIG DECREASE

February, However, Shows Greatest Business Ever Transacted in Same Month of Any Year.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., March 1.—The total increase last week in the coke shipments from both the Connellsville and Masontown fields amounted to less than 1,000 tons. Coke in the open market during the last few weeks has found ready sale at good prices. February will show the greatest business ever transacted in the same month in any year since coke-making began in this region.

A summary of the Connellsville region shows a total of 28,313 ovens with 22,173 in operation. The week's production amounted to 281,681 tons, or 420 tons less than for the week previous. Shipments aggregated 12,239 cars, to the following points: Pittsburgh district, 4,425 cars; west of Pittsburgh, 6,530 cars; eastern district, 1,275 cars.

The shipments amounted to 284,136 tons, an increase of 415 tons. Shipments from the Masontown field aggregated 2,519 cars as follows: Pittsburgh district, 246 cars; west of Pittsburgh, 2,119 cars; eastern district, 154 cars. These shipments are estimated at 70,738 tons, or 264 tons greater than last report.

GAS OVERCOMES BATHER.

Fair School Teacher is Found in a Bath Tub in an Unconscious Condition.

HARRISBURG, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—Before retiring last night Miss Lena Dunning, a school teacher, daughter of a clergyman and prominent in the social set of Steelton, decided to take a bath. Her father found the young woman unconscious in the bath tub.

Miss Dunning had been overcome by gas, and is in a precarious condition as a result of her experience. The presence of a leak in the pipes had been unsuspected by members of the family.

Maj. Miller Postpones His Trip.

FRANKLIN, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—C. J. S. Miller stated today that because his airship is not completed his contemplated flight from New York to Franklin has been postponed a month. Inventor Lee Stevens has also notified him that the weather is too cold for flight at present. Maj. Miller is preparing plans for his aerodrome which will be 125 feet long, 25 feet wide and 40 feet high.

Hold Good Roads Convention.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—More than 300 road supervisors and others interested in highways attended the good roads convention at the court house today under the auspices of Judge William E. Porter. C. E. Hamilton and N. S. Powell of Franklin, members of the state department of highways, made addresses. S. N. Porter of Pulaski was chairman.

MAHANOY CITY, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—Mine Inspector Fenton of the eleventh anthracite district, comprising 14 collieries which employ 11,000 men and boys, in his annual report for 1905 shows a total tonnage of 4,582,486, an increase over the previous year of 269,439 tons. There were 50 fatalities and 58 non-fatal accidents. In 1904 the fatalities numbered 34 and the non-fatal accidents 46.

Famous Ouster Trial Opens.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 1.—(Special.)—The ouster suit against 13 Ohio bridge companies and the Penn Bridge Company of Beaver Falls, Pa., instituted by the attorney general in the circuit court here on a charge of violating the Valentine anti-trust law, come on for hearing today. All the defendants demurred to the jurisdiction and this one question was presented to the court.

Aged Man Gets Death Sentence.

DOYLESTOWN, PA., March 1.—Gustav A. Closson of Morrisville, this county, pleaded guilty in court here today to the murder of his young son last May. He was sentenced to death. Closson confessed that he wished to get rid of the boy because he was weak-minded and that he had given him "rough-on-rats." Closson is about 70 years of age.

Gasoline Fumes Overcome Men.

FINDLAY, O., March 1.—(Special.)—William H. Tait, a wealthy oil man, was burning some gasoline in his garage yesterday when his chauffeur saw him stagger and fall. The latter placed Mr. Tait on a blanket, when he, too, became unconscious. Both men were found lying on the floor by Mrs. Tait and were resuscitated. Fumes from the gasoline had overcome them.

COMPLIMENT FOR AGNEW.

Aged Insurance Man Takes Lunch With His Friends.

As a compliment to Edward Agnew of Sewickley, the oldest insurance man in Western Pennsylvania in point of years, the Equitable Lunch club yesterday entertained him at the Hotel Schenley in celebration of his twentieth year in the service of the company. After the luncheon a business meeting of the agents of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia was held, W. H. M'Manus leading in the discussion of the question, "How Can an Agent Write Applications During the Day Among Employes in Pittsburgh in Justice to the Employer, Employes and the Agent?"

Mr. Agnew is 75 years of age. In his score of years as an insurance agent he has written 1,115 policies, aggregating $5,715,750. He made the record of writing and delivering 56 policies during eight days of May, 1904, and for the achievement he was presented by the company with a medal. He is ex-president of the Equitable Lunch club and of the Century club.

Hoch's Body Taken from Potters' Field.

CHICAGO, March 1.—The body of Johann Hoch, who was hanged last Friday and buried in the potter's field, adjoining the county poor farm, was today disinterred and removed to Elmwood cemetery. Two clergymen, the Rev. A. Schlecte and the Rev. A. J. Burkholder, who were with Hoch at his execution, interested themselves in finding a cemetery association which would allow the wife-murderer to be buried within its grounds.

VILLAGE LOSES MAYOR, MARSHAL AND LIGHTS

FINDLAY, O., March 1.—(Special.)—Cygnet, a village of this county, is without a mayor, marshal and electric lights. Mayor H. A. Wigfield has quit the town. A. J. McDaniels, the village marshal, works for E. J. Falls, a blacksmith. The smithy thought McDaniels could not serve two masters and told the officer he must give up one job. McDaniels resigned as marshal. Owing to a disagreement between the council and the electric light company the town is in darkness.

SORROW FOLLOWS JOY.

South Side Woman Hears of Husband's Death Day After He Obtained Work.

Sorrow followed joy in the home of Mrs. Mary Haze, 311 Frederick street, South Side, yesterday when she learned that her husband, Frank Haze, had been killed by a train in Connellsville yesterday. Haze had been out of work for several months, and on Sunday went to Connellsville to obtain employment. A letter received from him yesterday by his wife informed her that he had been successful, and would send carfare for her and the two children to join him there.

The sorrow of Mrs. Haze when informed of the accident was pitiful. Owing to the long-enforced idleness of the husband and father, the family is in destitute circumstances, and Mrs. Haze said she did not have any money or friends on whom she could depend.

Green Asked Dismissal of Case.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The government today closed its case in the trial of former State Senator George E. Green of Binghampton, N. Y., who is being tried under two indictments charging conspiracy, in connection with the sale of time recording clocks to the postoffice department. Counsel for Green moved the court to instruct the jury to acquit on grounds submitted in their demurrers and that the testimony is not sufficient to sustain the charges. The court took the motion under advisement.

"Texas" at the Alvin.

Broadhurst & Currie have a valuable piece of property in J. Mauldin Feigl's play, "Texas," which will be seen at the Alvin next week. This play, which is of the same general type as "Arizona" and "The Virginian," has been a tremendous success in New York and wherever it has been presented. It is a typical American play and one that appeals to all classes.

DISCRIMINATION CASE UP.

Trial at Clarksburg is Echo of Order of Interstate Commerce Commission.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., March 1.—(Special.)—A special term of United States district court convened here today with Judge A. G. Dayton on the bench. The first case was that of the Red Rock Fuel Company against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company to enforce an order by the interstate commerce commission directing the railroad to cease its alleged discrimination against the plaintiff.

Logan M. Bullett of Philadelphia, president of the coal company was the first witness called. The order of the interstate commerce commission of November 25, 1905, directing the Baltimore & Ohio to cease its discrimination against the plaintiff and to provide shipping facilities was read to the witness and he was asked if the railroad company had complied with the order to which he replied that they had not.

ONLY WOMAN AGENT LEAVES A RAILROAD

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 1.—(Special.)—Miss Kittie Tilden, the only woman railroad agent in Ohio, has resigned her post at East Liberty after five years of service in personal charge of all the business of the Toledo & Ohio Central railway at that point. Miss Tilden was station agent, selling the tickets, freight agent, express agent and telegraph operator. She has been appointed manager of the Western Union telegraph office at Laurel, Miss.

Conductors Ask for an Increase.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 1.—(Special.)—At the meetings of the Conductors and Motormen's union in Youngstown, Warren, Niles, Sharon and New Castle early this morning, it was decided to ask for an increase of three cents an hour. The demands will be made for all the men in the employ of the Mahoning & Shenango Railway and Light Company, the new consolidation of trolley lines of those cities.

Mine Elevator Crushes Boy to Death.

GREENSBURG, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—George Loughner, Jr., 16 years old, son of Mine Foreman George Loughner of the Greensburg No. 2 plant of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company, was caught in an elevator at the Kelly & Jones Company works at noon today and crushed to death.

Family Poisoned by Fish.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—After eating heartily of fresh fish last evening Joseph Cashbaugh, his wife and little son and Mathew McLaughlin, a brother-in-law, became violently ill. They are out of danger today. The fish had been frozen.

Seven Railroaders Are Fined.

UNIONTOWN, PA., March 1.—(Special)—Seven Baltimore & Ohio engineers and conductors were each fined $5 and costs by Justice John Boyle on the charge of violating the Sunday law by operating trains through Uniontown on Sunday.

REVOLUTIONISTS STILL WAGING BOMB CAMPAIGN

Unsympathetic Storekeeper Suffers—Many Terrorists Condemned to Death—Officials Charged With Torturing Get Brief Sentences.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

EKATERINOSLAV, March 1.—Revolutionists today exploded a bomb in a store, the proprietor of which refused their demand for a contribution. The store was wrecked and a clerk wounded.

MINSK, March 1.—Anna Izmailovich and Ivan Eulikhoff, principals in the plot to assassinate the governor, prefect and other high officials during a funeral at the cathedral, were today condemned by a military court to be hanged, though their attempt miscarried. A bomb was thrown and four shots were fired without result. Anna Izmailovich is the daughter of a prominent general.

OCHAKOFF, March 1.—The trial by court-martial of Lieut. Schmidt, who headed the sailors' mutiny at Sebastopol November 28, was concluded today. The prosecution asked for the infliction of the death penalty on Schmidt and nine others. The court's verdict is expected tomorrow.

EHARKOFF, March 1.—The chief of police and gendarmes, charged with beating and torturing political prisoners, have, after a sensational trial, each been condemned to a month's imprisonment.

IVANO-VONESENSK, March 1.—A deputation of monarchists left here today for Tsarskoe-Selo to beg the emperor to withdraw the reform manifesto and to restore the old regime.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—With a view to extricating the country from its financial difficulties, a group of Russians today sounded Premier Witte and the cabinet upon a scheme to take over the government railroads for $750,000,000 and operate them privately under foreign management.

The government has thus far declined to entertain the proposition. Finance Minister Schipoff says that Russia is not driven to such an extremity. The roads now are operated at a loss, but the promoters believe that with proper management the business can be made to pay.

THEY MAY CONFER ON TWO MEASURES

Tax Levy and Appropriation Ordinances Causing all Sorts of Trouble in Councils.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MEETS

Both branches of council will meet tonight in special session and a conference between both may be necessary to settle the differences in the appropriation and tax levy ordinances. The select branch will take final action on the ordinances and decide whether to stick to the amendments in the water schedule adopted by it on Wednesday, and common council will either concur or refuse to concur in the action of the select branch. In case of non-concurrence a conference committee will be appointed.

Much trouble is caused by the failure of councils to adopt the ordinances. The March instalment of taxes is due, but taxpayers cannot pay until the tax rate is fixed. No city employes can be paid until the appropriations have been made, although the money for their wages is in the city treasury.

Mayor Hays is displeased with the action of select council in reducing water rates without increasing the millage to provide for the deficiency in revenues thus created. The mayor will not say whether or not he will cut out any of the appropriations or veto the water schedule.

Water Company Will Fight.

Director Bigelow believes the mere reducing of the water rents will not compel the Monongahela Water Company to make a corresponding reduction in its rates on the South Side. The director admits that, according to contract, the company must grant consumers the same rates imposed by the city, but said that as a matter of fact there were equity rights on which the company might appeal to court, alleging that to enforce the contract would practically mean confiscation of its property.

The president of the company, Mark W. Watson, and the secretary, Martin Frentz, said yesterday that any action of Pittsburgh councils in reducing the water rents would not be followed by the company, as it could not afford to furnish water at the rates imposed by select council.

J. Leonard Lowry, a friend of James W. Clark, director of the department of charities, yesterday entered the contest for the city clerkship, the gift of the new councils after April 1. The entrance of Lowry into the fight is believed to indicate that there is now a complete rupture between Director Bigelow and Director Clark, for H. W. Minnemeyer, the present city clerk, is the candidate of Mr. Bigelow. Lowry and Minnemeyer are both from the Twentieth ward.

Another Park Entrance.

The finance committee of councils met yesterday afternoon to consider the proposed purchase of property for Highland park, the ordinance abolishing the delinquent tax collectorship and several other matters of a routine nature. Director E. M. Bigelow was at the meeting.

The committee recommended favorably the ordinance providing for the purchase of 15 acres of land, belonging to the Robert Wrightman estate, to cost $90,000. The property extends more than 2,000 feet along each side of Stanton avenue and is intended to provide another entrance to the park.

Director Bigelow addressed the committee in favor of the ordinance. He said the property was really necessary for the proper improvement of the park. Plans he had in mind for the park and which, he hoped, would be carried out by his successors in office, contemplated the purchase of property on the hill above the Brilliant water works. Of this property, 49½ acres belongs to the Standard Oil Company and 106 acres to the Shoenberger estate.

Ordinances Sent to Sub-Committees.

The ordinance providing additional employes for the bureau of water was referred to the sub-committee on salaries. The ordinance abolishing the office of delinquent tax collector was referred to a sub-committee of three, consisting of Councilmen W. H. McKelvy, Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., and John Mastowski, as was the ordinance creating the bureau of revenue, which is intended to collect the revenues from switch licenses and franchises, if franchises requiring compensation should ever be granted.

Mayor Hays yesterday could not find the Brand resolution, which provides that the Allegheny Light company shall supply electric light to the city at 75 per cent of the price charged private consumers. The resolution was laid on the mayor's desk on Tuesday, and, it is supposed, is only mislaid. The mayor has already said he will sign the resolution, and after it has been approved by him it will be sent to the city solicitor, who will prepare a notice to the Allegheny County Light company, notifying it that the city will not make a contract for light, but expects the company to furnish it according to the terms of the franchise.

BAKER COMMITS SUICIDE.

February, Though the Shortest Month, Leaves a Grewsome Record in the Coroner's Office.

Fastening a strap about his neck and hanging from a door knob, Joseph Schlutruper, a baker, aged 40, committed suicide at his home, 371 Frankstown avenue, early yesterday morning. He was despondent over illness.

Isia Natatia, aged 40 and married, was run down by a string of cars while at work yesterday in the Ella mines of the United Coal Company at Millesville, Pa.

A two-months-old son of John Zeskik of near Monongahela City, died yesterday afternoon from burns received earlier in the day.

During February 181 cases were reported to the coroner, 10 of which were suicides. The other cases included four asphyxiations, 11 from burns, 18 from falls, 23 from heart disease, 18 from accidents in mills, 8 from mine accidents, 5 from drowning, 5 from railroad accidents, 16 from street car accidents, 3 from being run over by wagons, 2 murders, 1 from accidental shooting, 1 from accidental poisoning, 1 from accidental stabbing and one from being run over by an automobile.

Are Our Elections a Farce?

Few citizens realize to what extent illegal voting is carried on in Pittsburgh. The laws are disregarded in the most brazen manner; corruption and fraud are daily practiced; while men who have no right to vote cast hundreds of ballots. Convincing facts with ample proof are given in this week's issue of The Index, Pittsburgh's illustrated weekly. On sale Friday morning. Price 5 cents. Do not fail to get a copy before the supply is exhausted.

The Death Roll.

Henry L. Frantz.

Henry L. Frantz, aged 91, is dead at the family residence in Ann street, McKeesport. His grandfather, Daniel Frantz, who came from Germany and settled in the wilderness of Westmoreland county in 1788, was one of the first freeholders of that section. The father of Henry Frantz was born there in 1790 and Henry Frantz was also born at the family homestead in 1825. Mr. Frantz was a riverman for many years and was also engaged in coal floating and barge building until his retirement from active service a few years ago. He went to McKeesport in 1864. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church. He was the father of W. S. Frantz, McKeesport; James T., Helena, Mont.; Ulysses G., Sunnyside, Wash. He was married three times, his third wife surviving him. He also had 10 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Henry C. Van Tine.

Summoned to the beside of his daughter, Henry Charles Van Tine, aged 68, a former oil inspector and business man of this city, died suddenly at Falmouth, Mass., Monday, of heart failure. Mr. Van Tine was born in Cleveland, and came to Pittsburgh early in the '60s. He was engaged in the oil business with John Archibald, who is now associated with the Standard Oil Company. Under the firm name of Van Tine, Archibald & Co. they were early independent manufacturers of lubricating and illuminating oils. About 1870 Mr. Van Tine sold his interests to the Standard and devoted his time to his extensive real estate holdings. For a number of years he lived at Station street and Highland avenue, the present site of the Sixth United Presbyterian church.

Thomas H. Stephens.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 1.—(Special.)—Thomas H. Stephens, aged 69, a steel worker, who claimed the distinction of being the first man to roll a steel rail west of the Mississippi, died today at the home of his son in Chester, W. Va. He came here four years ago, after the death of his wife at St. Louis. He is survived by eight brothers, one of whom is assistant superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse, and eight children: George, Moses and Chester Stephens, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hubrecht, of St. Louis; David and John of Milwaukee, and Thomas H. and Charles of Chester, W. Va. The deceased was at one time manager of the Soho mills in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. David Stewart.

Mrs. Nettie Stewart, a member of the third family that settled in Braddock, and one of the first children born in old Braddocks field, died from pneumonia yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ann Redman, in Ninth street, Braddock. She was born in Braddock 54 years ago, and was a daughter of the late William and Mrs. Ann Redman. Her father was a pioneer river coal operator. The daughter became the wife of David Stewart, a Pittsburgh musician, 30 years ago, and the husband survives. She attended the First Presbyterian church, Braddock, and is survived by her mother, five brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. Robert W. McKee.

Mrs. Zoe C. Beighel McKee, aged 59, wife of Robert W. McKee, died Wednesday at the family home, 7021 Susquehanna street, East End, after a five months' illness. She was born in Pleasant Unity, Westmoreland county, but for the last 20 years she had resided in the East End. She was a member of the Homewood Avenue Methodist Episcopal church and was prominent in church work. Mrs. McKee is survived by her husband and one son, Edward H. W. McKee, and a brother, S. J. Beighel of this city.

Mrs. Margaret A. Newby.

Mrs. Margaret A. Newby, aged 77, widow of Charles C. Neby, died Wednesday night at the home of her son, William G. Newby, 83 Flowers avenue, Hazelwood. She was born in County Fermannagh, Ireland, and came to this country many years ago. She had resided in Hazelwood for the last 50 years. Mrs. Newby was a member of the Protestant Episcopal church. Her husband died about three years ago, and she is survived by her son, William G., who is a transit officer for the Twenty-second and Twenty-third wards.

Mrs. Ellen Calnan.

Mrs. Ellen Calnan, aged 80, is dead at the residence of her son, William Calnan, Wiley avenue, McKeesport. She had lived in McKeesport for 28 years. She was born in Ireland. Two daughters and one son survive—Mrs. Joseph Dillon, Mrs. John McAndrews and William Calnan, all of McKeesport. Mrs. Calnan was a member of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church.

Obituary Notes.

Thomas J. Hughes, aged 68, died Wednesday at the home of J. Grant Dabney, 2112 Ann street. He was born in Maryland, but had lived the greater part of his life in Pittsburgh.

Adam N. Norris died Wednesday at his home, Roup street, Tarentum. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. His widow and five children survive.

John Span, aged 42, a highly educated Slavonian and a leader among his people, died Wednesday at his home in Homestead. He leaves his widow and five children.

Mrs. Margaret Hackman, aged 31, died on Wednesday at her home, Ninth avenue, Homestead. She is survived by her husband and three children.

CALL MINERS' CONVENTION.

Pastor C. T. Russell.

A careful Bible student in this lecture shows exactly what the Bible teaches and what it does not teach on this subject. He declares "If the Bible does teach that eternal torture is the fate of all except the saints, it should be preached, thundered, weekly, daily, hourly. If it does not so teach the fact should be made known and the foul stain, dishonoring the holy name, removed."

MINERS SELECT MANY NOMINEES

Local Miners Name Their Candidates to Succeed Ousted Officials of the District.

OPERATORS LINING UP FORCES

Nominations closed yesterday for the special election ordered for the local district of the United Mine Workers of America to succeed former President Patrick Dolan and other officials. Returns are expected in sufficient numbers today to determine who the candidates will be. Every delegate who took part in ousting the old officers has been nominated for some office, while the leaders, about twelve in number, are named for president. These include Stephen Wetzel, James Warchron, James Clark, Patrick Fehan and Timothy Donovan, while national executive board member William Little is also named for president.

The committee appointed by the adjourned convention to take charge of the campaign against Dolan is determined not to stop with the movement which led to ousting him from office, and it was reported yesterday that unless Dolan secures employment with some mining company, he will not be considered eligible to membership in the organization. The informant based his contention on the first article of the constitution of the district organization, which provides that only "miners and mine laborers working in or about" the mines shall be eligible for membership.

Feeling Becoming Bitter.

The feeling against Dolan has become more bitter since National Vice-President Thomas L. Lewis issued his statement declaring that the miners had been granted an advance. This statement, it is reported here, has further widened the breach between National President John Mitchell and Lewis. Mitchell is said to have emphatically declared that Lewis exceeded his authority in issuing public statements and giving private advices, and that the issuing of general statements is a duty to be performed by the executive head of the national organization. Mitchell's step in appointing a committee to take charge of the affairs of the local district has won him the support of the anti-Dolan element, while any wage advance that the miners may gain in the present controversy would strengthen his position. Friends of Dolan and other interests are giving their support to Lewis, and the prediction is made that the divided forces within the ranks of the miners will be arrayed against each other in a fight for the national presidency between Mitchell and Lewis as soon as the trouble with the operators is settled.

Operators Also Busy.

With another general conference fixed to convene in Indianapolis on March 19, the bituminous operators are at present devoting themselves toward doing a little missionary work among their own forces. Interests now inclined to grant the miners a small advance by way of compromise are endeavoring to convince operators of opposite views that this stand will eventually be for the common good, while the leaders of the element that stands emphatically against any wage advance are endeavoring to strengthen their fences before the post-conference begins.

The opinion remains general that there will be a division of opinion between the operators at the conference, but speculation is devoted to guessing which side will be in the majority. A local operator stated yesterday that if the small independent interests bolt the conference and oppose an advance, the Pittsburgh Coal Company will more than make up any advance it might grant by enjoying peaceful labor relations, while opposition interests are waging a labor battle.

WAR PREDICTION IS MADE BY CROMWELL

Developes He Is Man Who Advised Secretary Hay of Isthmian Conditions. Morgan Has a Scrap.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—William Nelson Cromwell, on the stand today at the investigation of canal affairs before the senate committee on interoceanic canals, read a statement of the operation of the monetary agreement. Mr. Morgan began his examination by inquiring concerning the financial difficulties of the old Panama Canal Company. The questions had reference to the 5,000,000 francs in stock set aside for Colombia in the new company. Mr. Cromwell said, "I can claim no credit for that."

"If there was any discredit I presume you do not wish to claim it," said Mr. Morgan.

"I cannot see that there was any discredit in the company getting an extension and paying its money for it."

"You don't," asked Mr. Morgan. "That very extension cost 100,000 lives and $8,000,000 in debts."

Mr. Morgan referred to letters and telegrams sent by Mr. Cromwell to the former secretary of state (Mr. Hay) prior to the last extension by Colombia. Mr. Cromwell admitted writing them. The correspondence contained the statements that war was about to break out in Colombia.

MOB THREATENS OFFICERS.

Railroad Detectives and Alleged Robbers Fight Pistol Duel.

CLEVELAND, O., March 1.—In a pistol duel between three railroad detectives and three men caught stealing brass journals from freight cars in the yards of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad, near Gordon avenue, tonight, one of the alleged thieves who gave his name as Frank Smith of this city, was shot in the back by a detective.

One of the other robbers was captured. The shooting caused great excitement in the neighborhood and a small but threatening mob gathered around the officers and their prisoners. The crowd was kept at bay by a show of revolvers until a patrol wagonload of police arrived, when the railroad detectives were rescued from danger.

PRAISE GAZETTE'S STANDARD OF AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

"Resolved, That as The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, newspapers of Pittsburgh, have for a long time ably and consistently advocated the raising of the standards of citizenship, and, especially of immigration, therefore, Andrew G. Curtin Council, No. 67, Junior O. U. A. M., hereby declares its appreciation and the appreciation of its members of the splendid and courageous stand of the above-named newspapers. This resolution shall be spread upon the minutes and communicated to the above-named newspapers."

The above named resolution was adopted at a regular meeting of this council, held Monday evening, February 26th.

J. G. ANGER, Councilor.
C. W. KNOWLES, Secretary.

Andrew G. Curtin Council, Junior O. U. A. M., has an active membership of 130.

SAFE CRACKERS AND BURGLARS ARE BUSY

Bad Men Are Active With Glycerin and Jimmies in City and County.

Safe-crackers have entered this community again. Last week they robbed a safe in a saloon in Penn avenue, and early yesterday morning they blew the safe of the Lincoln laundry, 106 and 112 Penn avenue, Mt. Oliver, and got away with $10,000 worth of securities and $10 in cash.

The robbery was discovered at daylight by Theodore Rodway, a driver employed at the laundry. The safe was blown in true professional style. The crevices were filled with soap and glycerine injected. The drawers of the safe were thrown open and the securities and money taken. A. S. Lang, president of the laundry company, said if the burglars had robbed the safe 24 hours earlier they would have secured $800 in cash. This money was deposited Wednesday. The securities are of no value to anybody but himself. The safe was wrecked.

Burglars entered the residence of Miller Chester, 2914 Shady street, McKeesport, early yesterday morning and took furs valued at $80, $8 and clothing. As the burglars were leaving they awoke Mr. Chester, and he raised the window and saw the men leaving, one of them wearing his new overcoat.

At noon yesterday three men entered the Herbert flats, at 5741 Bouquet street, and robbed the apartment of Edward B. Heffard. They broke open a trunk and took $100 and rifled the bureau drawers, securing a small amount of jewelry. The men were discovered by a woman and left. She described them as young men.

Annie Smith and six other women of Second avenue were arrested yesterday. Katie Goldberg said she was robbed of a watch and chain valued at $100, $60, a diamond pin worth $25 and tickets for jewelery pawned for $108.

FUNERAL OF D. B. HENDERSON.

Remarkable Tribute Paid to the Dead Statesman by His Fellow-townsmen.

DUBUQUE, IA., March 1.—The funeral of Former Speaker David B. Henderson was held here this afternoon. A remarkable tribute was paid to his memory. Business was suspended during the hours of his funeral and for five minutes following the commencement of services the bells in every church in Dubuque tolled. Otherwise silence reigned, not a wheel turning in the city during that period.

The G. A. R. took charge of the body and services were conducted at the grave by the Knights Templar and the G. A. R. A military squad fired three volleys over the grave and sounded taps. The Iowa general assembly was represented at the funeral by committees headed by Lieut. Gov. Herriott and Speaker Clark. Department Commander Harper represented the G. A. R. Many noted men were present.

DELIGHTS IN THE DESERT DEPICTED BY ELMENDORF

Judging from the comment heard at the conclusion of a long and wonderfully interesting journey, there was never in the opinion of a large majority of the throng that filled Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last night a more delightful travel lecture given in Pittsburgh than that of Dwight Elmendorf on "Sahara." It was the third of the series of five he is giving during his first season here. He took a splendid crowd of the best people of Pittsburgh with him on his caravan trip of 700 miles across the great desert to that oasis in the heart of the wonderful waste known as "The Garden of Allah."

New Natatorium Is Opened.

The East Liberty natatorium in Flavel street was formally opened yesterday and over 500 people visited the institution. In the evening it was thrown open to the members of the East End Young Men's Christian association, the evening having been donated to the young men by the management of the natatorium with a view to increasing the membership of the association.

DEATH BY INDIGESTION.

A Long Train of Fatal Ills Is the Direct Result of Undigested Food.

Undigested food, by fermenting, forms a poison in the stomach and this is absorbed in the blood. If this goes on very long, and your heart happens to be weak, you'll be found some morning dead in bed, or you may fall back down the stairs about an hour and a half after dinner, and the doctor will call it heart disease. Yes, that may be the result, but not the cause. The cause is indigestion. Indigestion is a simple, common word, but it has a terrible import.

And so you may get apoplexy, and die suddenly while you're standing.

If you have a weak liver, the poison of undigested food will attack it and you will get jaundice. If you have weak kidneys, you will get Bright's Disease or diabetes, from which there is no rescue for any man.

It was a learned physician who said that the progress of a race depended upon the stomach of its members.

And you have at some time in your life eaten a heavy meal, or eaten in a hurry, and felt that "lump of lead" immediately afterward. That lump of lead is a hard ball of undigested food. The stomach can't digest it, and finds it hard to throw it out. And so it sours, and it makes you sour and everybody sour who talks with you. It gives you a bad breath and is building for you the road to dyspepsia and death, unless you stop it.

Stop it with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Just think, these little tablets are every bit as powerful as the gastric juice in your stomach. One grain will digest 3,000 grains of food. Isn't this wonderful? And it is true, just try it, and prove it.

If you have any brash, gas on the stomach, fermentation, burning, bloaty feeling, indigestion, dyspepsia or heartburn, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make it disappear before it can do any harm to your heart or other organs.

They will invigorate the stomach, relieve the stomach of two-thirds of its work and give it a chance to rest. They will increase the flow of gastric juice, and if you will ever "live" in your lifetime, it will be after you have eaten a good, hearty meal, and taken one of these little tablets immediately afterward. You'll just feel fine.

Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after your next meal today and you will see them ever afterward. You will be cheerful, vigorous and your mind will be clear; you'll have snap and vim, and add many a day to your life.

You can get these wonderful little tablets at any druggist's for 50c a package.

THAT FOURTH OF JULY BLOWOUT NOW HAS A HEAD

Chamber of Commerce Will Take Charge, If the Greater Pittsburgh Election Results Is Favorable.

The chamber of commerce yesterday appointed a committee to take charge of the Fourth of July celebration, which is to be held in case the Greater Pittsburgh election shall have resulted in a vote for the annexation of Allegheny. Col. A. J. Logan presided in the absence of President Eaton.

Chairman Logan brought the matter up. He said a fund was being raised for the celebration of the Greater Pittsburgh on the Fourth of July and the chamber had been asked to take charge of the celebration. Thereupon J. W. Kinnear introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of 15, citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, not necessarily members of the chamber, to take charge of all funds now secured or to be hereafter raised. The resolution was adopted. Twelve members of the committee were appointed by Col. Logan as follows, the names of the other two to be announced today: J. W. Kinnear, R. H. Boggs, David B. Oliver, William L. Jones, H. J. Heinz, W. H. Stevenson, A. M. Hamaker, John A. Brashear, J. W. Robinson, Charles H. Ogden, O. F. Felix and H. D. W. English.

The board of directors approved the merchant marine bill and the metric system of weights and measures, but declined to take action on the request for the chamber's influence toward having the wages of postal employes increased. The directors' action was indorsed.

DURAND TELLS OF TALKS WITH PACKERS

Declares They Wanted All Reference to Combination Cut Out of Garfield's Report.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Special Agent Durand was on the stand all day in the packers' case and when court ended for the day his direct examination had not been finished. Durand said that during his investigations at the plant of Armour & Co., balance sheets for oleo, beef and hides were produced by the packers and examined by the government agents. He said that he and Special Agent Robertson had remarked at the time that "there must be other profits than that," and they had requested the packers to show the profits from other branches of the beef department.

"They said," the witness declared, "that it was impossible to distinguish from the profits of these other departments."

The witness then detailed the conversation held between the packers and Mr. Garfield and himself, after the preparation of the report of Commissioner Garfield. Mr. Garfield was requested to eliminate from the report a statement showing that Edward Morris held stock in Swift & Co. It was taken out. A request was then made that all reference to a possible combination between the packers be stricken out of the report.

Durand also denied he had said to the packers: "The law gives you protection in anything to which you may testify."

At the Gayety Next Week.

Patrons of the Gayety theater are promised an entertainment of exceptional merit next week. The attraction will be the Trocadero burlesquers, which this season will be under the able management of Charles H. Waldron, manager and owner of the Palace theater, Boston, Mass. A special added feature will be the famous Todd-Judge troupe of acrobats.

We have been taught the subject of economy from childhood. We, in turn, have extolled the merits of frugality to others. A savings account, bearing 4 per cent compound interest, with the Commonwealth Trust Company, in Fourth avenue, assists and stimulates greatly in one's efforts to save systematically, by the addition of a snug profit every six months, which represents the accrued interest.

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

Dr. Seignebos was radiant with triumph. Still gesticulating, he added, "You see I have learned to mistrust appearances, and hence I had my misgivings from the beginning. I watched the Countess de Claudieuse the night of the fire, and I saw that she looked embarrassed, troubled, suspicious. I wondered at her readiness to yield to M. Galpin's whim, and to allow Cocoleu to be examined; for I knew that she was the only one who could ever make that so-called idiot talk. You see I have good eyes, gentlemen, in spite of my spectacles. Well, I swear by all I hold most sacred, on my Republican faith, I am ready to affirm upon oath, that when Cocoleu uttered Jacques de Boiscoran's name, the countess exhibited no sign of surprise. And that is not all. When the Count de Claudieuse was roused by the fire, was the countess with him? No, she was nursing her youngest daughter, who had the measles. H'm! what do you think of measles which make sitting up at nighttime necessary? And when the two shots were fired, where was the countess then? Still with her daughter, on the opposite side of the house where the conflagration commenced."

"I beg you will notice, doctor," retorted M. Seneschal, "that the Count de Claudieuse himself deposed, that when he ran to the fire, he found the door shut from within, just as he had left it a few hours before."

Dr. Seignebos bowed ironically. "Is there really only one door in the chateau at Valpinson?" he asked.

"To my knowledge," said M. de Chandores, "there are at least three."

"And I must say," added M. Magloire, "that, according to M. de Boiscoran's statement, the countess went out by the laundry door when she came to meet him that evening."

"What did I say?" exclaimed the doctor. Then, wiping his glasses in a perfect rage, he added, "And the children! Does M. Seneschal think it natural that the Countess de Claudieuse—this incomparable mother in his estimation—should forget her children in the height of the fire?"

"What! The poor woman is called out by the discharge of firearms; she sees her house on fire, stumbles over the lifeless body of her husband, and you blame her for not having preserved all her presence of mind."

"That is one view of it; but it is not the one I take. I rather think that the countess, having been delayed out of doors, was prevented by the fire from reentering the house. I think also that Cocoleu came by very opportunely; and that it was very lucky Providence should inspire his mind with that sublime idea of saving the children at the risk of his life. Supported by all these facts," continued the doctor, seeing that M. Seneschal didn't venture to raise any fresh objection, "my suspicions became so strong that I determined to ascertain the truth if I could. The next day I questioned the countess, and, I must confess, rather treacherously. Her replies and her looks were not such as to modify my views. When I asked her, looking straight into her eyes, what she thought of Cocoleu's mental condition, she nearly fainted; and I could scarcely hear her when she said that she had occasionally caught glimpses of intelligence in him. When I asked her if Cocoleu was fond of her, she said, in a most embarrassed manner, that his devotion was that of an animal which is grateful for the care taken of him. What do you think of that, gentlemen? To me it appeared that Cocoleu was at the bottom of the whole affair; that he knew the truth; and that I should be able to save Jacques, if I could prove Cocoleu's imbecility to be assumed, and his speechlessness to be an imposture. And I would have proved it, if they had associated with me any one else but an ass of Sauveterre and a mcountryman from Paris." The doctor paused for a few seconds; but, before any one had time to reply, he went on again. "Now, let us go back to our point of departure, and draw our conclusions. Why do you think it so improbable and impossible that the Countess de Claudieuse should have betrayed her duties? Because she has a world-wide reputation for purity and prudence? Well, but was not Jacques de Boiscoran's reputation as a man of honor also above all doubt? According to your views, it is absurd to suspect the countess of having had a lover. According to my notions, it is absurd that Jacques should, within a few hours, have become a scoundrel."

"Oh! that is not the same thing," said M. Seneschal.

"Certainly not!" replied the doctor, "and there you are right for once. If M. de Boiscoran had committed this offense, it would be one of those absurd crimes which revolt us; but, if committed by the countess, it is only the catastrophe prepared by the Count de Claudieuse himself on the day when he married a woman 30 years younger than he was."

The doctor had said quite enough to make his friends very thoughtful. "You would have converted me, doctor," remarked M. Folgat; "if I had not been of your opinion before."

"I am sure," added M. de Chandore, "the thing no longer looks impossible."

"Nothing is impossible," said M. Seneschal, like a philosopher.

The eminent advocate of Sauveterre alone remained unmoved. "Well," said he, "I would rather admit one hour of utter insanity even than five years of such monstrous hypocrisy. Jacques may have committed the crime, and be nothing but a madman; but, if the countess is guilty, one might despair of mankind, and renounce all faith in this world. I have seen her, gentlemen, with her husband and her children. No one can feign such looks of tenderness and affection."

"He will never give her up!" growled Dr. Seignebos, and touching his friend on the shoulder—for M. Magloire had been his bosom companion for many years—he added: "Ah! There I recognize my friend, the strange lawyer, who judges others by himself, and refuses to believe in anything bad. Oh, do not protest! for we love and honor you for that very faith, and are proud to see you among us Republicans. But I must confess you are not the man to enlighten such a dark intrigue. At 28 you married a girl whom you loved dearly: you lost her, and ever since you have remained faithful to her memory, and lived so far from all passions that you no longer believe in their existence. Happy man! Your heart is still at 20; and with your gray hair you still believe in woman's tender looks."

There was much truth in this; but there are certain truths which we are not overfond of hearing. "My simplicity has nothing to do with the matter," said M. Magloire, "I affirm and maintain that a man who has been a woman's lover for five years must possess some proof of the intimacy."

"Well, there you are mistaken, sir," said the physician, arranging his spectacles with an air of self-conceit, which, under other circumstances would have been irresistibly ludicrous.

"When women determine to be prudent and suspicious," remarked M. de Chandore, "they never are so by halves."

"It is evident, besides," added M. Folgat, "that the Countess de Claudieuse would never have determined upon so bold a crime, if she had not been quite sure that after the burning of her letters, no proof could be brought against her."

"That's it!" cried the doctor.

M. Magloire did not conceal his impatience. "Unfortunately, gentlemen," he said dryly, "it does not depend on you either to acquit or condemn M. de Boiscoran. I am not here to convince you, or to be convinced; I came to discuss our line of conduct, and the basis of our defense."

M. Magloire was evidently right in this estimate of his duty. Rising from his chair, he went and leaned against the mantlepiece; then, when the others had taken their seats around him, he began—"In the first place, I will admit, M. de Boiscoran's allegations. He is innocent. He has been the Countess de Claudieuse's lover, but he has no proof of it. This being granted, what is to be done? Shall I advise him to send for the investigating magistrate, and to confess it all?"

"No one replied at first. It was only after a long silence that Dr. Seignebos said, "That would be a very serious step."

"Very serious, indeed," repeated the advocate. "Our own feelings give us the measure of what M. Galpin will think. First of all he also will ask for proof, the evidence of a witness, anything, in fact. And when Jacques tells him that he has nothing to give but his word, M. Galpin will tell him that he does not speak the truth."

"He might, perhaps, consent to extend the investigation," said M. Seneschal. "He might possibly summon the countess."

M. Magloire nodded affirmatively. "He would certainly summon her," he said. "But, then, would she confess? It would be madness to expect that. If she is guilty, she is far too strong-minded to let the truth escape her. She would deny everything, haughtily, magnificently, and in such a manner as not to leave a shadow of doubt."

"That is only too probable," growled the doctor. "Galpin is not the strongest of men."

"What would be the result of such a step?" asked M. Magloire. "M. de Boiscoran's case would be a hundred times worse; for the odium of the meanest, vilest calumny would be added to his crime."

M. Folgat was following with the utmost attention. "I am glad to hear my honorable colleague give utterance to that opinion," he said. "We must give up all idea of delaying the proceedings, and let M. de Boiscoran go into court at once."

M. de Chandore raised his hands to heaven, as if in sheer despair. "But Denise will die of grief and shame," he exclaimed.

"Well," continued M. Magloire, regardless of this last interruption, "suppose we are before the court at Sauveterre, before a jury composed of people from the district, incapable of prevarication, I am sure, but, unfortunately, under the influence of that public opinion which has long since condemned M. de Boiscoran. The proceedings begin; the judge questions the accused. Will he say what he told me—that, after having been the Countess de Claudieuse's lover he went to Valpinson to carry her back her letters, and to get his own, and that they are all burnt? Suppose he says so. Immediately there will rise a storm of indignation; and he will be overwhelmed with curses and contempt. Well, thereupon, the president of the court uses his discretionary powers, suspends the trial, and sends for the Countess de Claudieuse. Since we look upon her as guilty, we must needs endow her with supernatural energy. She will have foreseen what is coming, and will have prepared her part. When summoned, she appears, pale, dressed in black; and a murmur of respectful sympathy greets her entrance. You see her before you, don't you? The president explains to her why she has been sent for, and she does not comprehend. She cannot possibly comprehend such an abominable calumny. But when she has comprehended it? Do you not see the lofty look by which she crushes Jacques, and the grandeur with which she replies, 'When this man had failed in his endeavor to murder my husband, he tried to disgrace his wife. I intrust to your keeping my honor as a mother and a wife, gentlemen. I shall not answer the infamous charges of this abject columniator.'"

"And that means the galleys for Jacques," exclaimed M. de Chandore, "or even the scaffold."

GETS A LOVING CUP.

Presentation from Employes to Retiring Manager Schreffler of the Seventh Avenue Hotel.

Benjamin F. Schreffler retired from the hotel business yesterday after 25 years' experience in this city, 19 years of which were spent in the management of the Seventh Avenue hotel. Mr. Schreffler came to this city from Carlisle, Pa., to the Hotel Boyer, and 19 years ago became night clerk of the Seventh Avenue. Later he was made manager.

The employes of the hotel showed their appreciation of Mr. Schreffler's courtesy during his regime by presenting him last night with a silver loving cup, 22 inches high, chased with appropriate sentiments. George Hughes of the hotel staff presented the cup, and Mr. Schreffler made a little speech of thanks, in which he referred to the transformation the hotel business in Pittsburgh had undergone in the last quarter of a century.

Typhoid and Measles Break Even.

The Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday reported 17 cases of typhoid fever, 17 of measles, seven of pneumonia, three of mumps and one of scarlet fever.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 5.1 feet and the river was falling.

CINCINNATI, O., March 1.—(Special.)—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 15.3 feet and rising. Today's departures of packets from the port of Cincinnati were: Queen City, Pittsburgh; Henry M. Stanley for Pittsburgh, Courier for Maysville and City of Cincinnati for Louisville. There were several arrivals of towboats today with coal. A spell of warm weather set in today and caused a good melting of the snow. As a consequence there was a rise in the river, which will serve to hold the present stage for some days to come. All of the packets are in and out on time, except for short periods of fog. Clear and warm.

GREENSBORO.—Seven feet 11 inches and falling. Clear and warmer.

MORGANTOWN.—Seven feet 6 inches and stationary. Fair and warmer.

LOUISVILLE.—Stationary. In canal, 6.4 feet; on falls, 4.2 feet; below locks, 13.5 feet. Clear and cool.

PARKERSBURG.—Nine feet and falling. Clear and mild. The French left for Creston, the Virginia for Pittsburgh and the Keystone State for Cincinnati.

WARREN.—One foot and stationary. Fair and warmer.

MARIETTA.—Eight feet and falling. Cloudy, warm. Virginia due up midnight, Keystone State due down midnight.

OIL CITY.—One foot 4 inches and falling. Clear and cool.

POINT PLEASANT.—Nine feet 6 inches and falling. Cloudy and warm. Down—Otto Marmet, Henry Stanley, Tacoma. Up—Virginia.

WHEELING.—Six feet 10 inches, falling. Cloudy and not so cold. Departed—Lorena, Pittsburgh, 8 a. m.; H. K. Bedford, Parkersburg, noon; Keystone State, Cincinnati, 2 p. m., Greenland, Pittsburgh, due at midnight.

STEUBENVILLE.—Six feet 7 inches and falling. Clear and cold. Down—Keystone State. Up—Lorena.

LOCK HOUSE BIDS.

Places of Residence for Lockkeepers Are to Be Built.

United States Engineer Maj. W. L. Sibert will receive bids for the construction of lockkeepers' houses at dams 3 and 4 on the Ohio river, at his office in the Federal building, until noon of March 16.

Two boats and possibly three will arrive today. The Greenland, after having been tied up for quite a period, will arrive from Charleston and leave this afternoon. The Lorena is due to arrive from Zanesville and she will leave tomorrow afternoon. The Virginia from Cincinnati may reach the harbor this evening, but more than likely it will be early in the morning. She will also leave on Saturday afternoon.

The Bon Hur arrived yesterday from Parkersburg with a fair trip. She left last evening.

A boat which is to bear the name of the late Capt. Samuel S. Brown is being constructed by James Rees & Sons for the Memphis and Vicksburg Packet Company, to ply on the lower Mississippi. The boat will be about the size of the Queen City, but it is claimed she will outtrip the older boat in finish. She is to be launched in June.

VERNER PROPERTY SELLS FOR $400,000

It is at 628-634 Penn Avenue and Reputed Buyer Is Herbert DuPuy.

SALE OF NORTH SIDE CORNER

Through the office of Jacob H. Goehring the J. D. Verner holdings at 628-634 Penn avenue have been sold for $400,000. It is reported on good authority that the buyer is Herbert DuPuy, who bought the Second Presbyterian church property almost directly across the street two years ago through Mr. Goehring's agency, and is a large owner of downtown real estate in other streets. The Verner lot has a frontage of 80 feet on the south side of the avenue, between Barker's alley and Seventh street. Part of it has a depth of 120 feet and the remainder 111 feet. It adjoins the Samuel Hamilton lot at the corner of Barker's alley and is improved with three old brick houses, which are occupied mostly for offices. These bring in no more than enough to carry the property. The price paid is at the rate of $5,000 a front foot. This is the first sale in this part of Penn avenue for several months, most of the activity having been confined to the district beyond Eighth street or lower Penn avenue, in the new Wabash neighborhood.

Allegheny Sale of $50,000.

The Samuel W. Black Company has sold for Frank McCann to a local investor 216 Federal street, Allegheny, for $50,000. The lot measures 18.5x100 feet at the corner of Cairo alley and is improved with a three-story brick building, used for store purposes. The sale is at the rate of $2,702 a front foot, or $27.32 a square foot.

Through the office of A. Z. Byers & Co. Mrs. Alexandrine McIl. Beatty has sold to Myra T. McConway a very handsome residence property on the south Linden avenue for $18,500. The residence is a modern brick house of 12 rooms and stands on 53x125 feet. The purchase was for a home.

Another good East End residence deal was the sale through Woods & Coleman of the J. R. Cooper property in Wellesley avenue, near Euclid avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $20,000. The residence is a modern 12-room, center-hall brick house on 48.5x100 feet, and was bought for a home by W. A. Roberts.

Tunnel Street Deal Announced.

Theodore W. Nevin has bought from L. A. Clark the latter's interest in the property at 59-61 Tunnel street, which these men acquired some three years ago. It consists of two new brick store buildings on 40x80 feet on the east side of the street, near Fifth avenue. The total rental from the buildings is about $225 a month. It is understood that the property was estimated in the deal as worth $60,000, or $1,500 a front foot. L. A. Clark & Co. handled the deal.

The Aronson Realty Company reports the sale for Friedman & Rosenfeld to M. Lichenstein of 236 and 240 Dinwiddie street for $14,500. These are two of the former Lockhart row of stone front houses and stand on 20x100 feet each.

It is said that Wise & Minor are the buyers of the former Lange and Lynch lots at 1224-1226 Penn avenue, which were reported sold a few days ago. The price named is $35,000 for 25x100 feet, improved with an old brick house of little value.

Tillie Spandau has sold to William H. Miller the former Spandau residence, a 10-room brick house on 54x120 feet, on the north side of Carson street, near Twenty-second street, Twenty-fifth ward, for $10,000, or a little over $400 a front foot.

Sale of Automobile Property.

It was reported in real estate circles yesterday that the property now occupied by the Hiland Automobile Company on the west side of Beatty street, near Baum street, East End, has been sold for about $35,000. The reputed buyer is the Winton Motor Carriage Company of Cleveland, which, it is said, will establish a branch store in this city to handle its own cars. The Hiland property consists of 40x120 feet, improved with a one-story brick building which covers the entire lot, and is two stories high in front. The Hiland Automobile Company has nearly completed its $25,000 garage in Center avenue, which will be one of the best equipped and most attractive in the city.

J. H. Good is the buyer of the Jennie H. McAllister property, 30x115 feet, on the south side of Station street, between Larimer avenue and Princeton place, which was sold recently for $15,500 through the East End Savings and Trust Company.

The most striking proof that early renting is the rule and not the exception this season is the fact that Warren & Gray have rented every one of the 137 houses in Hollywood place, Sixth ward, Allegheny, although it is still one month to the old "moving day." This is the first time in the history of the property that this has occurred. When Frank McCann secured the houses, two years ago, there have been very few vacancies, and this winter the demand for houses in that part of Allegheny has been such that the agents have had no trouble in filling all the houses with a desirable class of renters. Comparatively few advances in rentals in lower Allegheny are reported and the activity in the manufacturing establishments is enough to keep a long waiting list of prospective renters on hand.

New Broker in Field.

Harry M. Stein, who was formerly connected with the Merchants Savings and Trust Company as a salesman, has embarked in the real estate business for himself at 824 Park building. He will confine his efforts exclusively to a brokerage business in real estate and mortgages, and will have no renting or insurance departments.

J. M. Loose, president of the J. M. Loose Realty Company, has bought the former Galey farm, also known as the Hewitt farm, of 175 acres in Finley township. The farm is on the Montour branch of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, near Clinton and Imperial. It is underlaid with coal and has also good oil and gas prospects. Mr. Loose will hold it in anticipation of the enhancement in values that is expected to follow the building of the new coal railroad from Burgettstown to the Ohio line.

Cohasset street: Daisy Morell sold to Joseph Hoffman 50x129 feet, in Cohasset street, Thirty-fifth ward, for $8,250.

Plummer street: Sarah W. Harris sold to Frank Rafalski an improved lot 20x100 feet, in Plummer street, Seventeenth ward, for $4,100.

Perry street: William Bietenduefel sold to B. Harper an improved lot 20x55 feet, in Perry street, near Webster avenue, Eleventh ward, for $4,600.

Crawford street: Morris Malloy sold to Max Eisner an improved lot 12x75 feet, at 149 Crawford street, Eighth ward, for $3,100.

Center avenue: Herman Moses sold to Bani Rogalsky an improved lot 20x74 feet, in Center avenue, near Arthur street, Eleventh ward, for $3,000.

Building Permits Issued.

The bureau of building inspection yesterday issued the following permits: Alex. McCracken, double two-story and attic brick dwelling, Marvard street, Nineteenth ward, $6,000; George Wagner, two-story and attic frame dwelling, 5306 Keystone street, Eighteenth ward, $2,600; E. J. Brandt, two-story and attic brick veneer dwelling, 2229 Lamington avenue, Twenty-first ward, $2,800; Mrs. M. Cavanaugh, double two-story frame dwelling, 512 Herron avenue, Thirteenth ward, $3,000; George B. Ewart, two-story brick addition to store and pool room, Townsend street and Wylie avenue, Eighth ward, $5,500; H. J. Coumdee, two-story and attic brick veneer dwelling, Hobart street, Twenty-second ward, $6,500; Dr. M. Adams, two-story brick addition to dwelling, Millvale and Liberty avenues, Twentieth ward, $400; Lucretia Deal, two-story frame dwelling, Park avenue extension, Twenty-first ward, $1,700; Oscar E. Simson, two-story and attic brick veneer dwelling, Katherine street, Thirty-second ward, $2,800; L. D. Buck, two-story and attic frame dwelling, Beitzhoover avenue, Thirty-second ward, $2,500; Mrs. Hannah Driscoll, two-story and attic frame dwelling, Beitzhoover avenue and Curtin street, Thirty-eighth ward, $2,500; Alfred Shoneson, two-story and attic frame dwelling, Kenwood and Bailey streets, Thirty-second ward, $3,000; E. O'Brien, two-story brick veneer store and dwelling, Thirty-third street, near Millwood avenue, Thirteenth ward, $5,500.

Alfred M. Tozzer to Lecture.

Alfred M. Tozzer, an instructor at Harvard college, will lecture before the Pittsburgh society of the Archaelogical Institute of America, Monday evening, March 5, at 8 o'clock, in Calvary Episcopal church. His subject will be, "Some Aspects of Archaeological Work in Central America."

Becomes Assistant Postmaster.

Charles Cummings yesterday assumed the duties of assistant postmaster at Braddock, succeeding John F. Lowers. Mr. Cummings was formerly assistant librarian at the Braddock Carnegie library.

M'KEESPORT LEADERS TO SUPPORT WOODWARD

He is to Have Strong Backing for Another Term as a State Representative.

Representative James F. Woodward of McKeesport will have the solid support of the Republican leaders of his city for re-election. All of the factions in the Republican party in McKeesport have been harmonized. For the first time in a number of years they got together in the mayoralty election. Wednesday night a conference was held and it was decided to support Mr. Woodward. McKeesport is now a separate representative district, and elects one member. The Republicans expect that J. D. O'Neil will pu opposition in the field against Woodward.

Capt. Daniel Ashworth is now pension agent. Maj. J. W. Nesbit, who held the office for eight years, retired yesterday morning. Maj. Nesbit escorted Capt. Ashworth into the presence of Judge Buffington, who administered the oath of office. All of the clerks in the office are under civil service.

D. B. Heiner of Kittanning entered on the duties of his second term as internal revenue collector yesterday. The office was formally turned over to him by S. D. Amen of Washington.

Congressman John Dalzell is here. In discussing the work of congress, he made the prediction the Hepburn railroad rate bill will pass the senate. He thinks there is a good chance to secure an appropriation for a new postoffice for Pittsburgh. Mr. Dalzell says a site near the railway stations should be chosen. He will meet with the congressional committee here tomorrow.

Director James W. Clark is home from Atlantic City, where he conferred with Mayor-elect Guthrie. He says Guthrie is not talking about his appointments. Clark is being boomed for head of the public safety department.

David J. Davies was yesterday transferred from a clerkship in the office of the county commissioners' office to one in the treasury. The salary remains the same. W. C. Barr leaves the treasury and takes the position vacated by Davies. J. J. Rankin of the county controller's office has resigned to accept a position in the office of the board of tax assessment and revision. Controller Booth has not filed the vacancy.

Bill to Increase President's Pay.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Senator Gallinger has introduced a bill to readjust the salaries of general officers of the government, to take effect March 4, 1909. The bill proposes the following salaries: President, $75,000; vice president, $15,000; speaker of the house of representatives, $12,000; members of the cabinet, $15,000; senators and representatives $7,500.

HARRY TENNEY KILLED BY FRANKIE NEIL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Harry Tenny, whose real name was Harry Tennebaum, was knocked out by Frankie Neil here last night and died this morning. After making the autopsy Coroner's Surgeon Cusack announced that Tenny's death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, caused probably by a blow. It was discovered that strychnine and possibly other drugs were given Tenny during the night, so the stomach was removed and sent to the city chemist, who will analyze the contents. The mother of the dead boy, Mrs. Israel Tennebaum, asserts that he was poisoned. A brother, James Tennebaum, charges that the little fighter was "doped" before entering the ring. This sensational charge is denied by Neil and others connected with the tragedy. Mark Shaughnessy, one of his seconds, says that he fell in a fit after leaving the ring.

Death undoubtedly was the result of the beating Tenny received in the ring. From the time he was carried from his corner last night limp and all lifeless, death crept in rapidly. Physicians who remained at the bedside realized his desperate condition and gave warning that death might be expected if the fighter could not be resuscitated within a short time.

Some uneasiness was felt last night by promoters, seconds and others connected with the contest when the condition of Tenny after the knockout was noted. He went down before Neil's hard left hand blows during the fourteenth round, falling near the center of the ring. The timekeeper counted him out, but in the noise of shouting Referee Roche did not hear the completion of the count and when Tenny staggered to his feet, allowed the fight to proceed. A howl of derision greeted the referee's ruling, but it was soon ended, for Neil went at his opponent like a madman and hammered him in his weakened condition against the ropes.

Helpless and without strength to strike a blow in return, Tenny dropped against the ropes. His head sank on his chest and his arms dropped to his sides, in that position Tenny was literally beaten to the floor by Neil and was counted out by the referee. He was carried to his dressing room. When he was revived an hour later he complained of pains in his body, which he ascribed to the terrific blows with which Neil had reached his stomach. Later the defeated man was removed to the bath house, where he grew worse until death ended his suffering.

Mark Shaughnessy attended Tenny at the bath. The beaten pugilist complained of terrible pains in his stomach and head. At 4 o'clock this morning he fell asleep and the physician left, saying all danger was over.

At 7:30 o'clock Shaughnessy was awakened by a cry from Tenny. The pugilist's body was doubled up in agony and a hurry call was sent in for the central emergency ambulance. Before it arrived Tenny was dead.

After he was taken to the baths Dr. McGinnity was summoned. Tenny's heart action was very weak and the pulse dropped to 40. Strong stimulants were administered, and this morning Dr. McGinnity pronounced him out of danger.

"How do you feel, Harry?" Shaughnessy asked.

"I'm awful sick. My stomach and head hurt awfully," answered Tenny.

Shortly afterward he dropped asleep. No physician was in attendance from that time until he died.

The news of Tenny's death quickly spread over the city. Orders were at once given at police headquarters to arrest all concerned. Neil soon surrendered himself, as also did James Corroin, Eddie Graney, Willie Britt, Morris Levy and Mark Shaughnessy. All were charged with manslaughter. They promptly made arrangements for release on bail.

Tenny's death is the second resulting from ring contests here within a month. On the night of February 5, Alec Doevin was beaten to death by "Chiefy" Johnson in an unlicensed amateur fight at Colma.

The men connected with the fight preceding Tenny's death were released from custody on depositing $500 cash bail each. "It is ridiculous to say that Tenny was poisoned," said Shaughnessey. "I was with him constantly before and after the fight. I know a few nights ago Tenny had a fit and last night he had another one. At least he acted as if he was in a fit, and I believe that he died in one."

Neil declares that the poison charge is absurd. Attorney Porter Ashe, who appears for the fighters, thinks it probable that the use of strychnine after the fight had as much to do in hastening death as anything else.

Tenny's body shows a badly battered eye and a slight abrasion over the heart.

Mayor Schmitz says that he will investigate the death of Tenny and if negligence concerning the condition of the pugilist is shown, he will recommend to the supervisors that no more permits be issued for prize fights in San Francisco.

Captain of Police Duke, who witnessed the fight, blames the referee for permitting the contest to continue after it was evident that Tenny was helpless.

Chief of Police Dinan today declared that the promoters of the fight had complied with the city ordinances in every particular, and that physicians' certificates had been given to the authorities as to the ability of the two contestants to fight.

KERR PRICE MAY PLAY WITH WASHINGTON CLUB

Kerr Price, the well-known Pittsburgh boy, who achieved fame as an athlete at Shadyside academy and player on the interscholastic and Pittsburgh collegian's baseball team, will probably play shortstop on the Washington team of the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia team this season. Price is now at Ohio Northern, where he is captain of the baseball team. He was to play with Washington last year, but refuses to leave the amateur ranks, preferring to play with the Pittsburgh collegians. Now, since the collegians are graduating from schools and colleges and quitting the game, Price has about decided to play with a professional club. He has several offers, but prefers "Budget" Seamon as a manager above all others.

If Price goes to Washington that club will have one of the fastest infields in the league; in Ed. Murphy on first; "Ling" Moffett, another Pittsburgh collegian, at second; Bill McKechnie at third and Price at short. All are fast men, good hitters and clever fielders. Price in particular is one of those kind of players that is always fighting for a game.

Chancer Elliott, who is refereeing the present hockey series at Duquesne garden, played on the Nashua club in the New England league a few years ago. He caught "Young Cy." Young. Red Calhoun, now captain of the Harrisburg Tri-State team, was captain of the Haverhill team. Last night Elliott and Calhoun met at the garden and fanned for a considerable time.

Earl Russell was reported out of danger yesterday. The physicians say he will be able to leave his room very soon.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 1.—(Special.)—The Steubenville Baseball association has chosen its officers to manage the P., O. and W. Va. league team here this season, as follows: President and secretary, Prof. J. T. Thompson; vice president, Dr. William Kerr; treasurer, E. M. Geary.

GREENSBURG, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—Players of the Elks 1805 baseball nine held their annual dinner last night and elected Thomas J. McTighe captain. The makeup of the team will be practically the same as last year.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL NOTES.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 1.—(Special.)—Foster H. Rockwell, for three years quarterback on Yale's eleven, will be head coach of the Yale eleven next fall. Thomas L. Shevlin, former captain, was obliged to decline the honor owing to business plans. Rockwell will be graduated next June. His home is in Portland, Ore.

Unless Georgetown university rescinds its prohibition against using spiked shoes in the track athletic meet at Washington next Saturday Yale will not send the one-mile relay team to compete.

C. F. Mengel, a freshman, won the short distance swimming championship of Yale by going 50 yards in 28⅘ seconds. D. R. Meigs, a senior, won the long distance championship, beating Mengel in the 50-yard dash event, and broke the record by going it in 1 minute 6 seconds.

The defeat of Columbia at the hands of Yale on Tuesday night, at New Haven, practically assures Pennsylvania the much coveted Intercollegiate basketball championship. Columbia has been the previous holder of the championship for the last two seasons, and in all that time they did not lose a single game. Penn's next game is with Yale at New Haven tonight.

The Wisconsin athletic department suffered another loss when it was announced that Roseth, the crack halfback of the football team last fall, had decided to quit the university and would probably matriculate at Pennsylvania. Roseth is now at his home in Eau Claire.

The swimming teams of Wisconsin and Chicago universities will not meet this spring, and it is possible that the indoor track meet may be called off.

CHAMPIONSHIP POOL CONTESTS ON TONIGHT

In the Allegheny county pool league tonight the schedule is as follows: Primrose at Union, Verwerck at Denimel, Friendship at Crescent, Glenwood at Swissvale, Federal at Arlington, Garfield at Olympia.

In the Diocesan league the schedule is: St. Anthony at St. Charles, St. Joseph at St. Aloysius (South Side.)

The St. Michael's Casino pool team defeated the Sherer team on the Casino tables by a score of 100 to 90. There were many difficult shots made throughout the game. Score:

Casino—		Sherer Team—
Diemer	37	Schofield	33
Dietrich	26	Schorer	47
Miller	43	Bryce	27
Total	106	Total	97

Scratches—Casino, 5; Scherer, 7. Referee—Smith. Scorers—Murphy and Will.

L. W. Cronin of the Crescent rooms defeated Young Eby, Jr., of the Casino rooms at Wilkinsburg by a score of 200 to 135 in two games.

The Southern team would like to hear from the M. J. Browns and the Standfasts. Answer through The Gazette.

St. Charles Juniors defeated the Owl Stars in an interesting game on the Junior's table by the score of 100 to 95. Score.

St. Charles, Jrs.—		Owl Stars—
Smith	33	Miller	32
Hart	34	Marks	38
Kraus	33	Greder	25
Total	100	Total	95

Referee—Zimmerman. Scorer—Roswog.

The Millvale pool team last night disappointed a large crowd by failing to put in an appearance at the Alpern tables in Woods Run to play the M. J. Browns. The Browns will play the Standfast team on the Brown tables next Tuesday night and on the following night will play Hazelwood on the Verwerck tables for $20 a side.

SEWICKLEY IS BEATEN BY STRONG TAMAQUA

Tamaqua and the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. team made the scorekeeper work last night when the Sewickley team was defeated by a score of 85 to 46. In a preliminary game the Union club team of Pittsburgh beat the Sewickley Reserves, 23 to 17. Lineup of the big game:

Tamaqua—85.		Sewickley—46.
Allen	F	Gray
Fogarty	F	Miller
O'Donnell	C	Carroll
Wilson	G	Miller
Hough	G	Douglas

Field goals—Allen 7, Fogarty 14, O'Donnell 3, Wilson, Hough 11, Grey 4, Miller 8, Carroll 4, Miller 4, Douglas 3. Referee—McPherson. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Apollo Beats Butler.

APOLLO, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—The Apollo five defeated the Butler team tonight, 10 to 8, in a one-sided game. In a preliminary the Apollo Juniors beat Vandergrift, 19 to 12. Lineup of the bigger game:

Apollo—10.		Butler—2.
Pennington	F	Truby
Bell	F	Martin
Baker	C	Sapham
Wilson	G	Shenfield
Ingram	G	Eisleo

Goals from field—Pennington 2, Bell, Baker, Wilson, Sapham. Referee—Bell. Time of halves—20 minutes.

ENTRIES ARE COMING IN.

Extra Force of Clerks Employed to Take Care of the Bowlers.

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 1.—An extra force of clerks is busy receiving entries for the National bowling tournament, which begins in this city March 17 at the armory. The time for listing entries ends with this week. Col. J. H. Hanger, president of the American Bowling congress, has requested F. L. Pasdeloup of Chicago to come to Louisville and assist Secretary Smithers in making up the schedule of teams. George Rice of this city will also assist in this work. By the end of this week the headquarters of the Louisville Bowling Tournament association will be in the armory. Samuel Karpf of Dayton, who is secretary of the American Bowling congress, has issued a call for the annual meeting of the congress in this city on the afternoon of March 16 at the Seelbach. On that occasion matters of importance to every bowler in America will be considered.

Lew Moren Joins the Phillies.

SAVANNAH, GA., March 1.—Pitcher Lew Moren, who pitched for the Atlanta club of the Southern league, last year, joined the Philadelphia Nationals here today. He came direct from his home in Pittsburgh. Moren has evidently made President Shettsline come across with the difference in salary which he has been holding off for. He has had a little preliminary practice and is in much better shape than could be expected. He did not reach here in time for the morning practice, but put in a few hours in the afternoon.

BOWLING NOTES.

The A. J. Martin Southpaws are requested to report at the Carrick alleys tonight to play the Carrick directors.

The following Boehler team players are requested to report on the Wylie avenue alleys this evening to play the Commercials: Cooper, Steinel, Hopkins, Pauley and Mendel.

The Hazelwood Germans will roll the St. Vincent Germans on the Southern alleys tonight. Alfred Wuerthele will captain the Hazelwoods and Walter Brown the St. Vincents.

Central and Nonames come together tonight on the Penn avenue alleys and Capt. P. Greb requests the following players to report without fail: Berry, Walber, Kramer, Gillespie, Toberg, Maibach and Frank Brennan.

Secretary Sam Karpf of the A. B. C., has announced his candidacy for re-election. However, he will not make the race if he encounters the opposition that faced him at Cleveland and Milwaukee. As Secretary Henry F. Smithers of the Louisville tournament also is out for the office, a good fight for the place is expected.

The board of directors of the Allegheny County Duckpin league urgently request the secretary to publish in The Sunday Gazette the individual standing of the players. Otherwise the report is to be made at the meeting of the board, which will be held in room 51, Conestoga building, next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Pin Boy, Washington, Pa.—Your query is: "If a man rolling in a regularly scheduled match game in a league tournament is replaced by reason of his poor rolling, say in the seventh frame of the game, shall that game count in his average? What is the rule in such a case? If a man is replaced in the third game, say, who gets credit for that game?" In every case the man who begins to bowl must be credited with all the figures, no matter in what frame he is replaced.

WHEELING SWAMPS EAST LIVERPOOL

Stogie Bowlers Get Three 900 Scores With an Average of 950.

One of the greatest matches that ever took place in this section was played last night on the Federal alleys between the Wheeling and East Liverpool teams for $100 a side. The Wheelings won all three games by magnificent scores, every game being over the 900 mark. They chalked up the splendid total of 2,850 and an average of 950 flat, while East Liverpool had a total of 2,686 pins and an average of 895 1-3. The alleys were crowded by enthusiastic bowlers and the first game was a hummer, with Wheeling winning out by only five pins. In the second game the Crockerys took a slump, but in the last they came back strong and the last frame showed that the Stogies were the victors. Stevenson was the individual star, with three double centuries and the good average of 206 2-3. Brooke had high score of 213. The other good bowlers were Rader, Fette, Rose, Clark and Runberger. East Liverpool made five more errors and had four more railroads than Wheeling. Wheeling had the most strikes and spares. Scores:

In the Pittsburgh section last night on the Hazelwood alleys, the Hazelwoods won all three games from the Great Easterns. Good scores, as a rule, prevailed. Schwinn was the star with the splendid score of 263 and the average of 215 2-3. The above score is the best made in the county league this season and takes that honor away from Walber, who has held it at 258 for some time. Schwinn's average of 215 2-3 is the second best held in the county league to date. Dinkel of the North Sides has the best to date, 218 2-3. Scores:

In the Allegheny section, on the Federal alleys, the North Sides sprung a surprise by winning all three games from the Independents, thereby knocking all the championship aspirations out of them. By this defeat the Federals are sure winners in the Allegheny section. Dan Houlahen was the star, and he was closely followed by Weber, S. Vey and J. Dinkel for best averages. Scores:

The Central league had a very successful meet on the Club alleys last night. All the 12 clubs were in line, including the three new clubs to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of the Unity, Savoys and Dimlings. Some remarkably good scores were made. The Costas were high with 983, and they were closely followed by the A. S. Company, 962; Field club, 953, and Heyl & Patterson, 948. McPherson was the high roller, with 242, and Wolf had the best average, 199 1-2. PORTAGE LAKE DEFEATS PITTSBURGH BY 4 TO 2

The Pittsburgh seven was defeated by the once champion Portage Lake seven last night at Duquesne garden before a magnificent gathering of hockey enthusiasts, in a truly hard-fought and most interesting contest by the score of 4 to 2.

Pittsburgh played at a great disadvantage, as Hod Stuart, the cover point, was unable to take part in the game because of a bad ankle, but the players, nevertheless, exhibited fighting spirit from the start to the end, and made the visitors travel the entire route at top speed to win. At that, had the locals been favored with any degree of luck in shooting they might have shot more goals. Again, had Hod Stuart been in the game, the result might have been in favor of Arthur Sixsmith's outfit.

Arthur Sixsmith resumed playing last night and he played his usual brilliant game. Pittsburgh had the game, 2 to 1, at the end of the first half, but in the last period the visitors negotiated three goals. The opening session was the more exciting because of some performances of the players that boarded on the rough order. Bruce Stuart, the Portage Lake captain, was twice benched. Once he caught Garnet Sixsmith under the chin with his club. Then he in no gentle manner raised Sixsmith up and threw him down hard. Sixsmith came in contact with the side lines. He got a severe jar and he had to be taken to the dressing room for Chris Clune to fix up. Later in the game Bruce gave his old-time enemy, Garnet, another jolt and again he traveled to the fence.

Billy Baird, who played a strong game throughout, started the play that resulted in Roberts shooting the first goal. He took the rubber up near the cage, and A. Sixsmith and Campbell had it before Roberts shot. Hall tied the score by going up the ice and shooting.

Arthur Sixsmith shot the second Pittsburgh goal in a scrimmage near the close of the half.

Lake Holden and Hall each scored a goal in the last half. The line-up:

Portage Lake—4.		Pittsburgh—2.
Bern	G	Winchester
Forrester	P	Baird
Holden	C. P.	G. Sixsmith
Bright	F.	A. Sixsmith
Stuart	C.	Campbell

A Famous New York Hatter Makes

Derby Hats

Court Derby

A lengthy description of this handsome Spring Derby is not necessary, as the artist has pictured the style exceedingly well.

I do not remember of ever having seen a more perfect reproduction of a derby than the above picture.

Isn't it aristocratically handsome? Note the 5¼-inch full oval crown and the narrow 1¾-inch curled brim.

It is so attractive that I imagine I hear some of you saying, "Jove, what a stunning derby!"

This is but one of our many new Spring styles.

Natty, small shapes for the boys who are going to buy their very first derby.

Swell styles for the young fellows who like to dress up to the very minute.

And sedate styles for gentlemen of quiet and conservative tastes.

In a low but positive tone our prices speak out—

"$4 and $3 for the best and $2.25 and $1.75 for the next best hats."

Professional Golf Coach at Greensburg.

GREENSBURG, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—The board of governors of the Greensburg Country club has determined to secure the services of a professional coach for the summer. Arrangements are already being made for the golf season, and handsome tournaments will be held weekly.

SIX TEAMS TO GO FROM PHILADELPHIA

Quaker Bowlers Will Have Ten Delegates at the Louisville A. B. C. Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Entries for the national bowling tournament, which begins at Louisville March 17, close tomorrow. Philadelphia will send six five-man teams—Colonial, Eastern league; Strollers, Wyndham, Al Baltz and Catholic league. Nearly all the men will also roll in singles and doubles. Several unattached bowlers will also compete as individuals and in the doubles. They are: Horan and Barnes, Denney and J. L. Trucks, of Pittsburgh; Dunbar and Trucks and Wartman and Christ. Billy Knox may also go along.

This city will send ten delegates to the congress, which meets on March 18, in an endeavor to secure the 1907 convention. The advance guard will leave March 14, headed by Henry Mills, Al Baltz and M. J. Costa. The local promoters feel certain of being awarded next year's tenpin meeting. The New Yorkers have pledged themselves to support Al Baltz for the presidency. Philadelphia will favor Smithers of Louisville, for secretary, to succeed Sam Karpf.

BATTLING NELSON GETTING READY FOR M'GOVERN

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Battling Nelson arrived here yesterday from Huntington, W. Va., and with his manager, Billy Nolan, and John Roddy, scoured the suburbs of this city for training quarters. After several hours of search he was finally decided that Nelson shall go his training at the Rosedale Inn, at Essington. Nelson and Nolan have not took up their quarters there and training will be started in earnest this morning. Nelson now has in his camp two sparring partners, "Kid" Abel of Chicago and Eddie Kelly, the Buffalo newsboy. They will assist in training Nelson for his bout with Terry McGovern on March 16. While Nelson is at Essington, several Philadelphia boxers are expected to put on the gloves with him. While no announcement has been made from the Nelson camp, it is understood that Battling is several pounds over the weight, 133 pounds, which he must make for the coming setto. This he is not expected to have much difficulty in taking off.

ANOTHER OLD TIME OARSMAN IS DEAD.

HALIFAX, March 1.—Jeremiah Holland, who had been a pilot for 50 years, and the former champion oarsman of Halifax, died at Duncans Cove recently, aged 73 years. Mr. Holland gave promise of being one of the greatest oarsmen in the country when he defeated George Lovitt, who occupied such a prominent position as a sculler in those days, and won the championship of Halifax harbor in 1860. Next year, while fishing on the banks, he fell from the mast and broke his leg, and retired from active rowing.

He, however, became soon known as a trainer. He assisted George Brown in some of his races, and he trained the Halifax fishermen's four, which made a world's record at Philadelphia in 1876. He was also trainer of the Halifax fishermen's crew which made a grand showing at the Halifax carnival in 1896.

Two More Indian Ball Players.

CARLISLE, PA., March 1.—Two more Indian players will follow Bender's example and go into professional baseball. Frank Jude has signed to pitch for the Toledo (O.) team this summer and will leave for the west soon. Lloyd Nephew today accepted an offer to play first base for the Little Rock (Ark.) team. He left here tonight for Little Rock.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

Frank Morgan is getting in fine shape for his bout with Dick Fitzpatrick in the armory on Monday. He is being trained by Jimmy Scanlon. A report got out yesterday that Fitzpatrick would fight Cy Flynn at Buffalo on Monday, but a telegram from him yesterday stated that he would positively appear here. His railroad fare was forwarded to him yesterday.

Frank Klouse of East Pittsburgh, would like to box any man in Pittsburgh at 133 pounds. There is a man in Pittsburgh who wants to back Bananas to fight Klouse. If he wants the match he can have it by leaving a forfeit at this office. Klouse's manager will bet $300 to $250 that Klouse can beat Bananas.

Tommy Lynch of East Pittsburgh would like to box Jock Phenicle at Johnstown before the club that wanted to pull off the fight between Ferns of Baltimore and Phenicle. Lynch would like to fight 10 or 15 rounds, if the club will give a suitable inducement.

Al Martin will fight Ackerman again and have the winner take all and he can have a side bet of $100.

Does Smoke Induce Tuberculosis?

Dr. Justus Ohage, the eminent authority on municipal sanitation, declares that the smoke which infests Pittsburgh irritates the membranes of the throat and bronchial passages and thus makes a fertile field for the development of the tuberculosis germ. An instructive interview with this great authority is published in this week's Index, Pittsburgh's illustrated weekly. On sale at all news stands and by all newsboys Friday morning. Price 5 cents.

WASHINGTON'S BENCH SHOW A SUCCESS

WASHINGTON, PA., March 1.—(Special.)—Many surprises were furnished in the judging tonight in the Washington bench show. The biggest contest was for first in the open dalmatian class between the two champions, King, owned by P. A. McHattie of Beaver Falls, and Hoyt, owned by S. E. Gallagher of New Brighton. Hoyt cleaned up everything in his class at the New York show, but was beaten for first here by his rival King.

The Western Pennsylvania dogs who took firsts according to the list of winners given out tonight follow: Dalmatians, Fan, Teddy and King, P. A. McHattie, Beaver Falls; Edgewood Conqueror, W. W. Wilock, Allegheny; bull dogs, Major Marner, James Phillips, Pulaski; Brynmawr Rosador and Champion Rodney Rosador, R. M. Allen, New Castle; Mersham Bess, D. W. Williams, Idlewood; daschhunds, Waldmann and Hinda, Dalmore kennels, Fort Allegheny; fox terriers, Dagnal Bills, Robert Whitiar, New Castle; Monon Prince, Frank Graht, Monongahela; Puddler and Sepoys Imp, Frank T. Hoyt, Sharon; Sabine Register, W. B. Richards, Canonsburg; Topsy, W. N. Brown, Washington; fox terriers, (wire haired), Baglan Jack, W. B. Richards, Canonsburg; black and tan terriers, Gladys, R. P. Dalley, Erie; whippets, Bay View Dewey, Dalmore kennels, Fort Allegheny; sky terriers, Rags, Patrick Travis, Canonsburg; maltese terriers, Beauty, Mrs. Louis Zell, Washington; Lady, Mrs. M. J. Sharp, Washington; pugs, Florette, Princess Loki and Champion Loki, Eberhart Kennels; Italian greyhounds, Vivo Santa, Blue Bell and Dream, Frank H. Hoyt, Sharon; Pomeranians, Shady Side Snowball and Shadyside Goldins, W. J. Love, Pittsburgh; bloodhounds, Knick II., Austin Lang, Washington; collies, Fanny, Dan Patch, Theo Walker, Washington; Hal Hoop, John Bourke, Idleroo; English setters, Knight of Tower, Austin Lang, Washington; Dick Heather, Bloom, R. C. English, New Castle; Phil Mack, Richard Newell, Mahoningtown; Flossy O., Mrs. W. S. Oliver, Washington; Maid of Dundee, W. L. McDonnell, New Castle; Irish setters, Modred, K. Becker, Allegheny; clumber spaniels, Norwood Bob, Dalmore kennels.

Judge J. Stewart Lacock of Allegheny stated tonight that he never saw so good a selection of dogs at a two-point event in the country as is shown here. The attendance is phenomenal.

RATTLING BOUTS SEEN AT WILKINSBURG SMOKER

Two hundred people witnessed the boxing tournament last night in the clubroom of the Sterling A. C., Wilkinsburg. The first and the best of the evening was a four-round bout between Bananas and Bert Snyder, who broke even. The second, a three-round exhibition, was between the Turner Midgets, Kid Clark and Young McGovern, of Pittsburgh, punched each other for four rounds and showed clever work. The fifth bout was between Kid Blackall and Young Hanney of East Pittsburgh. Blackall had the best of the bout from the start and he forced Hanney to quit in the third round. Blackall is to meet Patsy Brannigan of Allegheny at an early date. The last bout was between Red Head and Kid McDoo of East Pittsburgh. This was a fast bout and at the close of the third round honers were even.

The tournament closed with a wrestling match between Cone and Briney, members of the club, who wrestled for 18 minutes without a fall.

Ready to Go South.

CINCINNATI, March 1.—With the advent of Jake Weimer's signed contract, which arrived at baseball headquarters yesterday morning, the Red bunch is all signed up and ready, of course. Twenty-three contracts are now reposing in the Red safe. The party which will leave Cincinnati at 6 o'clock Saturday evening for Martin Springs, Texas, will consist of 27 people. Twenty-one are players, including all the Reds under contract, except Orval Overall, the giant pitcher, and Carl Druhat, a young twirler from the Northwestern league, both of whom will go directly from their homes on the Pacific coast to Marlin.

WESTERN WOMEN WILL SEND STRONG GOLFERS

Elect Officers and Arrange to Accept for First Time Eastern Challenge.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Representatives of 25 golf clubs attended the annual meeting of the Western Women's Golf association which was held here today. The annual election of officers took place and for the first time a challenge which the Eastern Women's Golf association has sent every year was accepted. The western association will send a team of 20 women to the national championship tournament which is to be held at West Newton, Mass. Mrs. A. T. Brewer, of the Evanston Golf club, introduced a resolution declaring that instead of the group system of team play which was used at tournaments last season there should be three large teams of about 20 members each, one team to represent the west side of the city and the other two the south and north sides respectively. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Officers for 1906: President, Mrs. A. T. Brower; vice president, Mrs. W. L. De Wolf; secretary, Mrs. W. T. Beatty; treasurer, Mrs. H. A. Bodt; members of the executive committee, Mrs. J. C. Edwards, Mrs. William Herrick, Mrs. Harry New, Mrs. G. B. Seidler, Mrs. G. D. Forrest, Miss Evelyn Vose, Mrs. E. H. Sprague and Mrs. G. W. Roupt.

Criticism of a Sermon-Topic and Its Defense

Pastor C. T. Russell's topic for next Sunday evening at Pittsburgh Carnegie hall is being roundly criticised by some. When his defense was inquired for he said:

"Yes, I admit that 'To Hell and Back' has a sensational appearance. But I assure you that I treat the subject most reverently. God forbid that I should trifle with a matter which has caused more pain and sorrow among godly people than any other. Many such have been comforted by my presentation of the Divine Word and plan. And many have been turned from infidelity to faith by this very discourse."

"But why choose this topic?"

"Because thousands are stumbling into infidelity and rationalism, rejecting the Bible because they believe that it teaches the eternal torment dogma. I show what it does teach and thus rescue many too logical to longer believe that a God of love prepared a hell of torture and fireproof devils before he created mankind.

"Ministers of education well know all that I tell in this discourse and themselves do not believe in an eternal torment prepared for all except the saints who are 'born again.' I by this discourse force them to show their hands. If they believe the doctrine they should preach it! They do not believe it, yet allow the foul stain of injustice to stand against God's holy name and book, which they would blush to acknowledge.

"Why do they not tell the truth and shame the devil? Because they fear to do so. They fear that the ministry would lose public confidence and respect if the public knew just what the Bible really does teach concerning hell—just what a great blunder men fell into in the misinterpretation of the Bible during the 'dark ages,' and how slowly we have emerged from it.

"But now thinking people can no longer swallow the creeds of the dark past like a 'pill'; they will think, and unless helped to the truth they will stumble into infidelity. I must do my duty; let others criticise to throw dust in the eyes of the people if they think that proper."

JACKSONS

Come in and shake hands with the new Spring Styles. (Advance samples are here). Get acquainted with 'em. Some of the extreme shapes may scare you a little at first, but there are a good many young men in this Burg who appreciate new styles, and want 'em while they ARE new—before everybody has 'em. See what $15, $18, and $20 will do for you this season.

BANK RECEIVER ASKS JUDGMENTS

Judge Miller to Decide Whether T. Lee Clark or Enterprise Bank Made Loans.

APPEALS MUNICIPAL CASE

Proceedings were begun yesterday by Judge Miller in orphans' court to settle the ownership of the estate of the late Catherine Huddleston, who, during her lifetime, embarked in a building project, erecting a number of houses, the money to float the operations being obtained through T. Lee Clark, late cashier of the Enterprise National bank. The receiver of that institution claims the proceeds of a public sale of the property since Mrs. Huddleston's death belong to the bank. The question before Judge Miller is whether or not certain judgments held by Clark against Mrs. Huddleston were his individually or whether they were the property of the bank. Attorneys Trimble and Chalfant represented the Clark estate.

An interesting question has been raised in the appeal of S. J. Meanor and others to the supreme court in ejectment proceedings instituted against Mrs. Mary A. Goldsmith and others for possession of property in Tarentum. The question raised on this appeal by the plaintiffs is whether on a municipal claim for sidewalk, which is is contended is a temporary improvement and for which it is claimed the life tenant is primarily responsible, the estate in remainder can be sold before the life estate is exhausted. It is said that this is the first time the question has been raised in Pennsylvania.

Judge Young, in criminal court, made an order directing that Harry Patton, Charles McDaniels and Frank J. Coimen, sentenced to Huntingdon reformatory recently for robbing telephone pay stations, be brought into court to be released on their own recognizance. All the young men belong to good McKeesport families.

An appeal to the superior court has been taken by the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company in the case brought against it by Thomas R. Pittock. The company had erected a line of poles on a railroad right-of-way, taken from Pittock by condemnation proceedings. Judge Frazer decided that this use of the ground was not covered by condemnation of a railroad and that Pittock was entitled to remuneration.

Libels in divorce: Herman Hecht vs. Anna Hecht, infidelity; Mary Ellen Rodgers vs. Joseph Rodgers, and Isabella McCaulley vs. Julius G. McCaulley, desertion.

Hugh H. Weedon filed an answer to the application of his wife that he pay her counsel fee of $1,000 for the recent divorce suit. He says that as a motion for a new trial is pending the application is premature, denies that his income is $6,000 and asserts that $1,000 is an excessive amount. He also alleges that Mrs. Weedon is keeping out of the jurisdiction of the court and keeping their children away so that the court might be prevented from determining the custody of the children.

The records at the court house show that a divorce was granted on January 26 to Gertrude Levy from Harry H. Levy. Mrs. Levy is a daughter of Henry Floersheim, a coal operator, and Levy is a well-known attorney who formerly practiced here. The proceedings in the case were kept secret.

George A. Charles and wife secured a verdict of $24,000 against the city of Pittsburgh for property appropriated by the city for Schenley park for the improvements to the Carnegie institute.

Little Dames Dance Minuet.

Three rehearsals this week and as many more next will be held before the little revolutionary dames who will dance the minuet at the colonial tea which the John Hart chapter gives next week will consider themselves letter perfect in the graces and beauties of the stately minuet which their great-great-great-grandmothers danced over a century ago. The dancers, all appearing in stiff brocaded gowns of the revolutionary period, will be Miss Helen Sullivan, Beulah Martin, Katherine Crawford, Clara Gillespie, Alice Pearson, Frances Howley, Ciara Wishart and Jeannette Corbitt. The dancing will all take place in the gymnasium of the Thurston Preparatory school, Shady avenue, and all of the members of the John Hart chapter, children of the American revolution, will wear the colonial costume. The tea will be given on Friday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 7, and the entire first floor of the school building has been reserved for the occasion. Little Sarah Marsh and John Liggett III. will be dressed as Martha and George Washington, Miles Marvin is to appear in the garb of Uncle Sam, while several of the boys will wear the costume of the minute man. There will be no admission to the tea, but a box will be placed in a conspicuous place and guarded constantly by two diminutive minute men, where contributions may be placed for the scholarship which the John Hart chapter will establish to enable some child under 12 years of age to be taken from work and placed in the public schools. The decorations throughout the rooms will consist of palms with red and white carnations tied with blue ribbons. During the afternoon Mrs. Francis Henry Wade will make a short address and hand over to the chapter's color bearer, Vincent Imbrie, the handsome new silk flag which was purchased by the money raised at the Mother Goose entertainment given two years ago. The flag is a large silk American flag, the stars and stripes being surmounted by a pennant upon which is inscribed "John Hart Chapter, Children of the American Revolution." The assistant hostesses of the chapter, who are the mothers of many of the children and some of the leading members of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will assist the regent, Mrs. W. W. Wishart, to receive the guests, among them being Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, regent of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Robert T. Reineman, regent of the Dolly Madison chapter, United States Daughters of 1812, and Mrs. William T. Wallace, chairman of the Western Pennsylvania committee of the Colonial Dames. They will also assist in the tea room. The guests will include all the associate members of the John Hart chapter, the officers and members of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh chapter, and of the Pennsylvania society, sons of the Revolution, and other Daughters and friends of the children.

Caring for Children.

During the coming summer the phianthropic work among the school children during the vacation periods will be carried on by a regularly incorporated institution composed of those who have heretofore been in charge of the work of maintaining and conducting playgrounds, vacation schools and recreation parks in this city. Through Attorney S. A. Ammon an application was made yesterday for a charter for the Pittsburgh Playgrounds association, the corporation to exist for 50 years, and its purpose being to maintain and conduct playgrounds, vacation schools and recreation parks in Pittsburgh.

The subscribers in the application are: Edith Darlington Ammon, the Kenmawr; Lizzie Pershing Anderson, 400 Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg; Eliza D. Armstrong, 6309 Kentucky avenue; Eleanor H. Birch, Center avenue and Craig street; Jennie D. Bradley, 616 Lincoln avenue; Mary McKee Coard, 6354 Howe street; Cora G. Dobkins, 5154 Ellsworth avenue; Nora M. Covert, 1606 Federal street, Allegheny; Agnes F. Decker, 715 Amberson avenue; Emma H. Hubbard, 6033 Stanton avenue; Beulah Kennard, 417 Denniston avenue; Catherine A. Holmes, the Kenmawr; Ella Boyce Kirk, 5815 Fifth avenue; Euphemie L. Maerum, 315 North Beatty street; Mary B. Morton, 6700 McPherson street; Margaret Hays Miller, 5137 Woodlawn avenue; Edith B. McKenna, 466 Rebecca street; Sophia L. Oliver, 7216 Bowdoin boulevard; Mattie Patterson, 5530 Center avenue; Mary E. Stevenson, 714 Aiken avenue; Merian Schoenfeld, 1235 Fayette street, Allegheny; Mary Willard, 1047 Murray Hill avenue; Jennie Johnston Wray, 741 South Linden avenue; Janetta Bray Wright, Woodlawn avenue; May Weidman, 349 Lexington avenue; Martha McK. Moore, 733 North Highland avenue. The association will be managed during the first year by a board consisting of Beulah Kennard, Jennie Johnston Wray, Edith Darlington Ammon, Ella Boyce Kirk, Mary McKee Coard, Euphemie L. Macrum, Eliza D. Armstring, Lizzie Pershing Armstrong, Mattie Patterson, Sophia L. Oliver, Anna M. Covert and Mary B. Morton.

The court fixed March 24 for the hearing and made an order waiving the rule requiring a deposit of $100 in such cases.

Bureau of Local Charities.

The Civic club of Allegheny county is working to secure a bureau for local charities, and a committee will try to secure the hearty support of the Society for the Improvement of the Poor, this being the largest charitable organization of Greater Pittsburg, and plan for a conference in the interests or organized charities in Pittsburgh. The effort to further the movement for securing legal aid for the poor is progressing slowly but surely, and in a short time that work will be fully systematized, several lawyers having consented to give their services for certain periods in aid of the poor who are unable to pay for legal assistance in the difficulties which arise, some of these being due to grasping landlords and others because a lack of knowledge of American methods plunges poor and ignorant foreigners into all sorts of trouble. The Civic club has undertaken to pay the salary of one probation officer in the juvenile court. Through the educational departments several scholarships have been provided by which children not yet 14 years of age may be taken from enforced labor and placed in the public schools. The committee in charge of the recent lecture by Burr McIntosh in Carnegie hall for the benefit of the club reported over $600 cleared after all expenses. Final returns from the sale of tickets may possibly swell the receipts to $700.

Early Entry for the Dog Show.

To Miss Edith Riley of the Hotel Schenley belongs the honor of making the first entry to the toy dog show which the Farmington Aid society will inaugurate in the Schenley on April 25. Miss Riley has entered her Boston terrier and many other entries have been made, showing that there is a ready response to the announcement of the proposed show, which it is expected will become a yearly feature in Pittsburgh. Each day several handsome cups and medals are being presented to the management by friends and members of the society, but in order to determine just how many cups and medals will be needed the management urges that the entries be made early. In order to facilitate this work of entering the toy dogs, the beaux and belles of dogdom in Pittsburgh, entry blanks have been placed at Reymers', in Fifth avenue, and at W. R. Kuhns', in Penn avenue, East Liberty. Entry blanks may also be obtained from Miss Willa Forsyth, 925 Ridge avenue, allegheny. Miss Forsyth is chairman of the show committee.

Entertain the Aged.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Presbyterian churches of Pittsburgh and Allegheny gave its annual entertainment for the inmates of the "Home for the Aged" in Wilkinsburg on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The "Home" was decorated with red tulips and carnations. A very enjoyable musical and literary program was rendered by Miss Graham, Miss Winifred Scott, Miss Margaret Blair, Miss Henckle, Miss Ida Hittner, Miss Mary Scott, Miss Jean Harrison, Mrs. Boyle, Miss Jessie Dufficis, Mrs. A. Mansfield and Mr. MacMichael. After the musicale supper was served to the 72 guests of the home and their friends.

Will Give Easter Dance.

The Relief club has decided to give its benefit entertainment on the Wednesday following Easter, which will be April 18. The place has not yet been determined. The club is now considering the holding of a bazar in the afternoon to be followed by the dance in the evening. As one of the special lines of work for which this benefit entertainment is to provide the funds for the summer outings of a couple of hundred poor children during the hot months, a great deal of interest is being taken in the plans which are still very incomplete.

Annual Banquet at Duquesne Hotel.

The annual dinner of the Alumnae asaociation of the Pittsburgh Training School for Nurses connected with the Homeopathic hospital will be held April 15 in the Duquesne hotel. Covers have already been ordered for 56. The special committee of arrangements is composed of Miss Ida Jiles, Mrs. George Loeffler, Miss Cline and Miss Duncan. The dinner will be preceded by the annual meeting of the Alumnae association, which will be conducted in the afternoon in the Homeopathic hospital in Second avenue. At that time the election of officers will be held.

Outing for Shop Girls.

The Country Week society of Sewickley valley met in the Edgeworth clubhouse yesterday morning. Mrs. T. H. B. McKnight presided and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Miss Susan Shields Williams; vice president, Miss Marjorie Irwin; secretary, Miss Corn Barrett; treasurer, Mrs. Russell Chester. Plans for this summer's work were discussed. The society entertains several hundred clerks and shop girls during the summer months at their handsome home and grounds near Sewickley.

Nurses of Four Counties Meet.

The regular meeting of the Quadri-County Graduate Nurses' association will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Dispensary building in Federal street.

Much White Worn in First Mourning

By A. T. ASHMORE.

For winter a mourning costume is apt to be rather smart than otherwise, but in warm weather it is not such an easy matter to be attractively gowned when deep black must be worn. In the south, therefore, this question must be agitated, despite the fact that no fashionable resort is supposed to be visited after the death of a near relative. Mourning, however, could scarcely be expected to exclude one from the relief of change of climate, and some spot can be selected that will only be visited by a very few of the most select.

In the city all black must be worn, even in the hottest weather, but for the country this rule is less stringent, and all white, as simply made as possible, is permissible and, in fact, fashionable. Black and white is now only worn in second mourning. Today, however, there are certain materials in white, just as in black, which are set apart for mourning.

First among these is white crepe, a texture which is even prettier in white than in the black. As with the latter, this material is employed more as trimming in the place of lace and embroidery than to build up whole gowns. However, among the newest models for the evening is to be seen a gown made up throughout of exquisite white crepe, the only trimming being a little white grosgrain ribbon. In a fine white lawn gown for afternoon, instead of a lace yoke the white crepe may be used and bands or folds of this same crepe may trim the skirt.

For first mourning a white gown is only permissible when made up in some thin material such as lawn, organdie or linen, the excuse being that black looks so warm and is, therefore, so uncomfortable to wear in a tropical climate. Evening gowns should be of chiffon, chiffon cloth, crepe de chine or some such material that is not uncomfortably warm. If for a member of the immediate family the dress should be trimmed with crepe, which is all the time being used in greater quantities.

If only light mourning is being used, a white waist of any order may be worn with either a black or white skirt during the mourning. Just at first, however, only the simplest bodice is considered correct. A lawn waist, simply trimmed with insertions of crepe, is attractive. For traveling it is necessary to have some cool waist to wear under a heavy cloth jacket—the washable China silk is good, but crepe de chine is smarter. Dull finished taffeta silk makes a good shirt waist.

When the mourning requires a crepe hat and veil it seems decidedly inconsistent to doff this for a becoming shade hat of all white. This, however, is now fully approved by Dame Fashion, and white crepe hats—with no trimming not made from the material—are indeed so attractive as to make it difficult to believe that mourning is being worn. Black crepe hats may also be worn with the all white gowns and, it must be confessed, are preferred to the more conservative.

All wraps should be black, if not of crepe, at least crepe trimmed. However, on days sufficiently cool to allow of a coat being worn the all black dress is necessary.

Hand Woven Dress Stuff for Mrs. Roosevelt

Hand-woven Chinese silks and pineapple gauze are to be worn the coming season even more than they have been. Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt are two who affect them to an extreme, but the material will no longer be worn exclusively by the smart set, for they are on the market this season at reasonable prices. Beautiful pieces of hand-made shantung pongee may be bought for 75 cents a yard and up, so that it is within the reach of all.

Mrs. Roosevelt is especially fond of the pineapple gauze, which she buys in large quantities for evening and afternoon gowns, while almost all her coats for driving and gowns for traveling, when in season, are made from the hand-woven pongee.

Are Durable.

The President's wife likes these imported materials because they are hand-made, are durable and launder well, while the sheer diaphanous quality of the gauze is what the "first lady of the land" likes best in summer. She wears these over some kind of a slip in silk or thin material. The gauze is made with the daintiest kind of narrow pinlike stripes of silk, in light pink, blue, green, red, purple, etc., which look well when worn with a plain white or cream underdress or with one that matches the silk lines.

Mrs. Vanderbilt also wears these imported silks and gauzes on many occasions, and recently bought a gown of hand-woven solid hand-embroidered crepe for $8 a yard. She did not like the natural color—cream—and had it dyed a light blue. it came out beautifully, and was so much admired that other women have ordered the material colored pink, red and purple.

The pattern in Mrs. Vanderbilt's crepe robe was a wild rose vine and flowers in bloom. The embroidery was almost solid and carefully executed in every detail.

There are few silks that take dye like these Chinese hand-made ones, and no one would ever suspect that they had been colored after leaving the makers' hands, for the shades are smooth and evenly absorbed.

To Tell Real.

When the real pongees can be bought for 75 cents it seems strange that any woman would buy a machine-made piece for a gown. The latter not only lacks the distinctive air of the imported material, but is not so carefully made and does not wear as well. There is a striking difference between the pieces made by hand and those woven by machine, and any woman can tell the imported from domestic at a glance.

"To begin with," says a pongee expert, "there is a ricey odor about the Chinese pongee that is lacking, naturally, in the machine-made pieces. This odor is easily detected by smelling the different materials. The weave, however, is unmistakable. The machine-made pieces are either perfectly smooth and evenly done, or, to imitate the hand-woven materials, have so many rough threads and ends that they are readily seen to be a counterfeit of the real by the contrast. In the hand-made pongee the weave lacks evenness, and the knotty threads are more regularly put in. If this is not easily seen, the pieces should be held up to the light, when the difference between the hand-made and machine-made cloths will be apparent at once."

One of the new things in these Chinese silks this year is a reversible crepe. One side is a satin finish and the other is dull. It will sell for from $3 a yard up.

Less expensive pieces of crepe, non-reversible, almost as sheer and thin as gauze, are in demand for evening and afternoon gowns in old rose, pink, lavender and gray. They sell for $1 50 up.

Pineapple gauzes formerly $15 and $20 for a gown are now being sold for $7 80 for 18 yards, enough for a dress.

When a Man Marries.

When a man marries he wants a helpmate, not a beauty upon whom he must be for ever dancing attendance, not a brilliantly clever woman at whose feet he must be for ever sitting in admiration, but a woman full of love and sympathy, a partner who can bring into the partnership what he himself lacks, one who will help him, and for whom he will never tire of working and serving devotedly.—Home Notes.

Gives Last in Series.

The last in a series of dinners and luncheons was given yesterday by Mrs. Charles L. Taylor of Ellsworth avenue. It was a whist luncheon, at which covers were laid for Mrs. James B. Yohe, Mrs. Robert Garland, Mrs. George H. Stengel, Mrs. E. P. Kuhn, Mrs. H. E. Lineaweaver, Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. George Pearson and the hostess.

Luncheon for Cleveland Guest.

Mrs. James Scott will give an informal little luncheon this afternoon at her home in Stanton avenue, East End. The guests, a very few of Mrs. Scott's friends, have been asked to meet Mrs. Frank Edgar Williams of Cleveland, who is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. George Dwight Breck of the East End.

Return from Jamaica.

Mr. and Mrs. John William Patterson have returned from Jamaica, where they went on their wedding trip. They were married late in January in the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart, the bride having been Miss Edith S. Loughney. She and her husband are now visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Loughney, in Friendship avenue, and early in April will go to Roanoke, Va., to reside.

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.

(No. 5503.) Ladies' Dressing Sack.

This simple design for a dressing sack was attractively developed in soft gray French flannel, the edges finished by buttonholed scollops. A broad pointed collar extends over the shoulders and a strap of the material is arranged over the front closing. Elderdown, outing and Scotch flannel, dimity and wash silk are all appropriate for the mode. The medium size will require 3¾ yards of 36-inch material.

Ladies' dressing sack, No. 5503: Sizes for 34, 38 and 42 inches bust measure.

THE embroidered tulle veil which Miss Florence Bell Alrich wore at her wedding to Hervey Schumacher last evening was an heirloom, and had been worn on several occasions by various relatives of last evening's bride. The wedding of Miss Alrich and Mr. Schumacher was quietly solemnized at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Alrich, in Shady avenue, East End, at 6 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Frank N. Sneed, pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, the attendants being Miss Ethel Pew of Bryn Mawr, who served as honor maid, and William Alrich, a brother of the bride, who was best man. Only relatives and most intimate friends of the bridal couple were in attendance, as Mrs. Alrich's health would not permit of the confusion of a large wedding. The bride was charming in a gown of white messaline satin shirred into princesse effect and trimmed with a pointed bertha of duchesse lace. A wreath of white rosebuds caught and fastened her veil, and she carried a shower bouquet of white lilacs and white roses, white as ornaments she wore the bridegroom's gift, a necklace set with topaz and pearls. Miss Pew's gown was of pink silk with yoke and cuffs of baby Irish lace, and skirt and yoke trimmings of pink chiffon velvet. A bouquet of pink roses and white lilacs was carried by the honor maid. The decorations were in keeping with the other appointments of the wedding, and were very simple. White lilacs adorned the bridal table in the dining room and throughout the house the mantels were banked with maidenhair ferns, primroses, white hyacinths and tropical plants. Smilax was used over all the doors and windows and up the bannisters, and as a background for the ceremony a group of palms was arranged at one side of the parlor, the palms having a base of Boston ferns held in place by pieces of mossy bark. There were several out-of-town guests at the wedding, the list including Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lawrence of Morgantown, W. Va.; Mrs. A. M. Thorne of Mercer and Miss Florence Hays of Maysville, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher left last evening for an eastern wedding trip. They will return to this city to take up their residence in Rippey street, where at-home days for after June 1 have been announced. Mr. Schumacher is cashier of the Peoples National bank of this city.

Will Live In Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott H. MacGregor will leave this evening for Tacoma, Wash., where Mr. MacGregor's business has called him, and where he and his wife will make their home in the future. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. MacGregor and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Sproull, were at home informally to their friends at Mrs. Sproull's residence in North avenue, Allegheny, the affair giving an opportunity for Mrs. MacGregor's friends to bid her farewell. This evening the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Sproull will give a dinner for their son-in-law and daughter, at the close of which the guests will escort the travelers to the station.

Social Events of Today.

Mrs. Frank O. Van Gorder will give a bridge party this afternoon to meet her visiting friend, Mrs. William W. Wilson of Germantown, who is spending three weeks in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Charles W. Hotchkiss of Cleveland, Mrs. Nathaniel Keith of Cincinnati, Mrs. Frank Shepard and Mrs. Paul A. Sorg will share honors this afternoon at the tea which Mrs. George Wilmer Martin will give at the Country club.

Miss Pitt Osborne Heasley of Westminster street will entertain her younger friends at bridge this afternoon.

Announces Cousin's Engagement.

Mrs. A. W. Sherrill of Ivy street, East End, gave a hearts party yesterday afternoon to announce the engagement of her cousin, Miss Kathryn Moore, to James R. Coll, the wedding to be an event of the latter part of April. The bride-elect is a niece of Mrs. S. E. Jones of Garrison avenue, Allegheny, with whom she makes her home. The bridegroom is a member of the firm of A. S. Young & Co. of this city. At the hearts party yesterday Miss Moore and Mrs. H. T. Hamilton won the prizes.

Mrs. McKelvy to Be Hostess.

Mrs. William M. McKelvy of Fifth and College avenues will be hostess at a small and informal luncheon at her home next Monday afternoon. Miss Florence Hays of Maysville, Ky., who is the house guest of Mrs. George Hallman of Shady avenue, will be the guest of honor. Miss Hays came to Pittsburgh to attend the Alrich-Schumacher wedding last evening, and will be with Mrs. Hallman until Monday evening, when she leaves for her home.

Change in Wedding Plans.

Plans for the wedding of Miss Jenney Bradley and Frederick W. Miller have been changed, and it is now decided that the wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson Bradley, in South Negley avenue. Christ Methodist Episcopal church had been originally selected as the scene of the wedding. It is to be an evening event, with an interesting bridal train.

Entertains for Debutante.

Mrs. Abraham Frank of Irwin avenue, Squirrel Hill, entertained at the Concordia club, Stockton avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, in honor of her debutante daughter, Miss Florence Frank. About 60 guests were in attendence. Miss Edith Meyers, Miss Della Herzog, Miss Olive Oppenheimer and Miss Flora Abrams won the prizes.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Frank E. Moore of Western avenue, Allegheny, is making a visit of two weeks in Franklin.

A card party was given at the Brighton Country club last evening by the entertainment committee of the club.

Mrs. Florence Duke Liszman of Carlisle is being entertained by her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Pfarr, Jr., of Walnut street, East End.

Mrs. Mary Lee Porter of Allegheny and Mark H. Bough, a business man of East Liverpool, O., were married yesterday in Lisbon, O., by the Rev. R. E. Pugh, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Beardsley.

NEURALGIA CURED

Disease Had Attacked the Heart and Would Doubtless Have Been Fatal Had Right Remedy Not Been Taken.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure neuralgia there is no room to doubt. So many severe cases of this painful disease have yielded to these pills that the sufferer who is prevented by prejudice from trying the remedy deserves little sympathy. And there is no disease in which the pain is more acute, more agonizing than in some forms of neuralgia. The disease is not only painful but dangerous, as it is liable to attack the heart when, unless speedily cured, it is frequently fatal.

Mrs. Charles Schultz of 179 Thomas street, Newark, N. J., suffered for seven years with neuralgia which attacked her heart and which did not yield to the usual remedies. The story of the cure is best told in her own words. She says:

"I had scarlet fever and it left me with a weak heart. Then I took cold and a severe pain settled in the region of my heart. My suffering was almost beyond description. I could not talk and the pain caught me at every breath. The awful pains would come on suddenly and I would have to sit right down. I could not walk and would get dizzy for a time.

"I was confined to bed for four weeks at one time and nothing seemed to do me any good. I was under a physician's care for months. He pronounced my trouble neuralgia of the heart and prescribed for me. The capsules he gave me relieved me for a time, but the pain came back again.

"Finally Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a lady whose husband had been cured of paralysis by them and I decided to give the pills a good trial. While I was on the second box I began to see an improvement, the pains became less frequent and at last I was entirely cured. This was some time ago, but I have had no relapse and have been in good health ever since. I think there is no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for food. It means starved nerves. Like every other part of the body the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, which carries to the starved nerves the elements they need. So these pills cure neuralgia just as food cures hunger. They contain not one particle of opiate, morphine, cocaine or anything "soothing." They cure troubled nerves by removing the cause of the trouble.

In the same way, by building up and enriching the blood, they have cured such diseases as anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, St. Vitas' dance, stomach trouble, debility, paralysis, locomotor ataxia and the special ailments of women and growing girls. Book of information and cures sent free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c per box, six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

READ THE REALTY NEWS COLUMNS TODAY.
It's a good thing to get acquainted. It's a good time to get acquainted, while the warm spring sunshine sort of thaws out one's bad feelings. There are no two classes of people in the city to whom pleasant acquaintance is more important and more valuable than the real estate fraternity on the one hand and the buying and renting public on the other. It's partly to facilitate this getting acquainted and partly to bring to modest notice the men who are largely responsible for Greater Pittsburgh's growth and prosperity that The Gazette will show in its real estate news columns daily for a few months the likenesses of the realty brokers of this great community, which has but very few equals as a real estate mart in the country.

BETTER TONE TO STOCKS, BUT RALLY WAS SMALL

Final Prices Were Near the Highest of the Day. Call Loans Averaged 6 Per Cent—Further Decline in Heat and Light.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

A little better tone prevailed in Wall street yesterday, but the extent of the recovery was not large, which was something of a disappointment after the heavy liquidation and sharp decline of the past few days. There was a considerable falling off in the dealings, which foot up 885,000 shares, and the business was congested in a few special stocks, Union Pacific being again the most active.

At the opening call loans ruled very firm and there was a scarcity of offerings of bank money. Before noon Kuhn, Loeb & Co. loaned, it is estimated, fully $10,000,000 at 6 per cent, and the rate subsequently reached 7 per cent. After the needs of the stock exchange borrowers had been satisfied the rate declined to 3 per cent, closing at 4 per cent. Time loans continued firm.

The action of the money market was the most interesting feature of the day. No new deals were reported and there was no confirmation of the many which have figured in the gossip for weeks past. It was reported that some of the larger operators were transferring accounts to London to take advantage of the lower rates for money in that market, but the weekly statement of the Bank of England did not indicate any favorable change in monetary circles there. The bank reported an increase of nearly $11,000,000 in loans for the week, and the percentage of reserve to liability declined to 52.18 per cent, as compared with 44.67 per cent a week ago. The minimum rate of discount remained unchanged at 4 per cent. The Bank of France reported an increase of about $3,000,000 in gold, a decrease of more than $1,000,000 in silver, and an increase of more than $28,000,000 in loans. It is estimated that a little more than $58,000,000 will be disbursed in the United States this month on account of dividends, and a somewhat easier money market is looked for within the next few days, but if reports are true, many of the more prominent Wall street houses have been providing themselves with time loans, indicating that in their judgment the commercial activity this spring and coming summer will produce a relatively firm money market.

The liquidation in the stock market continued for a short time after the opening, and then the recovery set in. About the middle of the afternoon a little drive was made against the list and in some instances prices declined to the low level of the day. The liquidation, however, appeared to be completed for the time being at least and a recovery set in which continued to the close, final prices being at or near the highest of the day. The largest gains were made in Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific, but there was no confirmation of the report that the ore land deal had been closed. The improvement in the remainder of the railroad list was confined to small fractions. Union Pacific closed only ½ higher, while St. Paul closed ¼ lower. Pennsylvania and Reading each closed ¼ higher. The Wabash issues declined on the publication of the report of a contemplated bond issue.

There was much irregularity in the industrial list. The copper stocks closed lower and American Smelting unchanged. United States Steel issues closed ¼ higher. The net gain in Colorado Fuel and Iron was only ⅜ per cent, which could not be accepted as reflecting credence in the report that the property would be acquired by United States Steel. The railroad equipment stocks closed lower, with the exception of Car and Foundry common, which closed ¼ higher.

The features of the local stock market were the decline in Manufacturers Light and Heat to 36, the lowest for two years, and the advance of a dollar a share in Tonopah Extension to $12. The latter movement was based upon an erroneous report that the directors had declared a monthly dividend of 10 cents a share. It was officially stated that there had been no meeting of the board, although a dividend is looked for in April at the latest. On the denial of the dividend story the stock declined to and closed at $11, a net gain of ⅛. Ohio Tonopah was less active, but firmer, advancing from 55 cents to 59 cents and closing at 58 cents bid.

The continued liquidation in Light and Heat and the heavy sales at the decline were without explanation. The weakness, however, naturally creates a bearish feeling, and as a considerable amount of the stock is said to be carried on margin, the decline causes some uneasiness. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas sold at 50 and closed at 52½ bid, a net gain of 5 per cent. Ohio Fuel Supply sold at 33⅜ to 33½. There were no transactions in Philadelphia Company stocks, although the formal announcement was made that more than enough stock had been deposited to make effective the plan for turning over control to the United Railways Investment Company of San Francisco. The coal stocks were dull but steady. There were no sales of National Fire Proofing common, and only 20 shares of the preferred changed hands at 25¾, a decline of ¼. Westinghouse Air Brake was fairly active at 155. Electric was dull and lower. In the banking group 135 shares Iron City Trust sold at 121 to 120, the latter a decline of 2½ per cent. Fifteen shares Colonial Trust sold at 375, a decline of 5 points.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The outlook for the money market this spring received more attention in Wall street yesterday than anything else. No one will be much surprised if the surplus reserves of the New York banks are wiped out in tomorrow's statement. The sub-treasury statement for the day showed an addition of nearly half a million dollars to the week's loss by the banks bringing the total up to $5,663,600. It was reported that interior banking institutions were withdrawing funds from New York on the express movement also. There was deposited at the sub-treasury during the day $200,000 for telegraphic transfer to Cincinnati. The fall in the New York exchange rate at Chicago for the day from 15 cents discount to 25 cents discount indicated the pressure upon New York for funds from that center. Part of the drain to the sub-treasury represents requirements of interior institutions, internal revenue paymen's being paid by New York by drafts on the New York deposits of interior banks. Deposits of lawful money by the banks to keep up the 5 per cent reserve fund in the treasury to secure bank notes are also running large at this time. But the customs collections in themselves take large amounts of money out of the market every day. The government's excess of receipts over expenditures has reached nearly $5,000,000 for February, compared with a deficit for that month in the previous year of over $2,000,000, thus resulting in wiping out entirely the deficit for the fiscal year which has been in course of reduction for many months. The fact that the government's fiscal operations have established a surplus again gave rise to some discussion in stock market circles of a likelihood of measures of relief for the money market by the treasury department.

The report from Albany of an agreement upon the proposed laws establishing trust company reserves at 15 per cent, of which 5 per cent should be cash in hand, 5 per cent cash on deposit and 5 per cent in designated securities, pointed to an early requirement for additional accumulation of cash in order to comply with this new measure. Foreign exchange made an additional advance in response to the rising rate for money in New York and receding rates abroad. Discount rates were appreciably easier both in London, Berlin and Paris.

The refusal of an application to the state authorities at Albany to proceed against the proposed traction merger helped to frighten the shorts in New York tractions. Yesterday was the last day for making deposits of stock to participate in the deal, and it was stated that deposits were large enough to assume the carrying out of the merger.

Carothers & Co. sold 1,500 shares Manufacturers' Light and Heat in three 500-share lots, and Prescott, Wait & Sawyer sold about 800 shares. G. W. MacMullen & Co. were the largest buyers, but turned sellers later in the day when the market rallied slightly, which created the impression that the buying was for the purpose of supporting the market. Soulby, Painter & Beech also bought.

Farmers Deposit National bank advanced to $1,470 bid. Mortgage Banking was offered at 50. Small lots of North American Savings sold at 85, a decline of 2 points.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass warrants sold at 12 to 13½. The first installment on the new stock is payable April 1.

Sales of Ohio Tonopah were less than 8,000 shares. The stock was dull after a second place in favor of speculators, for the time being at least. Cable Consolidated taking first place. It is said that application to list the latter on the Pittsburgh exchange will be made in due time.

In the Chicago market May wheat declined to 85¼c, which compares with $1.14⅛ for the corresponding day last year.

Control of the Philadelphia company will be taken over by the United Railways Investment Company of San Francisco. The Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh yesterday issued this statement: "The United Railways Investment Company, at a board meeting today, has determined, with the consent of Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., that it will purchase the stock of the Philadelphia company, approximately 411,000 shares, deposited under the plan and proposition for purchase of the Philadelphia stock. Ladenburg, Thalman & Co. have arranged so that every depositing Philadelphia company stockholder shall have the option mentioned in the plan to take stock in the investment company at $93 a share."

Net earnings of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg railway for January were $6,974, an increase of $3,842.

Philadelphia company receipts were quoted on the Philadelphia stock exchange at 53⅜ bid, 53⅝ asked.

Sales of North Butte in the Boston market yesterday were 1,400 shares.

Washington advices state that some opposition is developing among members of the house banking and currency committee relative to the proposed amendment allowing national banks to loan 10 per cent of their surplus as well as 10 per cent of their capital to individual borrowers. It is alleged that the effect of the bill will be to put a premium on small capitals and large surpluses, since such a policy will diminish stockholders' liability and will give advantage to banks of large surplus as compared with capital. The other objection is that many banks which are now taxed on the basis of capitalization in the communities where they are situated would find it to their interest to reduce capital and enlarge surplus if they were relieved of any legal inconvenience arising out of such a change in the form of their resources.

W. L. Clause, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, has been elected a director of the Peoples National bank, succeeding Charles H. Spang, who resigned on account of his absence from Pittsburgh for protracted periods.

E. H. Gay & Co. have purchased $18,000 school bonds of the new borough of Beechview. They are the first bonds issued by the borough.

The directors of the Colorado & Southern Railway Company declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the first preferred. The last dividend of 2 per cent was paid April 1, 1904.

The Wolverine Mining Company declared a semi-annual dividend of $8, an increase of $2.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the first preferred stock of the St. Louis & San Francisco railway will be paid on April 2.

The annual report of the Railway Steel Spring Company shows net earnings for the year of 1905 of $1,919,994, and surplus for the year after the payment of dividends of $465,028. This is an increase of $380,057 in net earnings as compared with last year, and an increase of $256,043 in surplus for the year as compared with 1904. The total surplus as shown by the report is $2,046,889. At the annual meeting of the stockholders held at Jersey City yesterday the retiring board of directors was re-elected.

A feature of the market that attracted some comment was the heaviness of American Smelters. The powerful interests behind this company have for some time past been looked upon as important leaders in the bull market. Consequently now that the securities in which they are dominant have displayed heaviness the impression prevails that they have changed their attitude.

The Canadian Pacific reported net earnings for January three times as large as for the same month in the previous year; the Erie and the Central Railway of Georgia twice as large and the Chesapeake & Ohio an increase to the extent of 76 per cent. Those showings were unavailing, however, to induce any extra demand for the stocks.

Chicago bank exchanges for February foot up $305,695,293, a increase of 11 per cent and a new high record.

Net earnings of Reading, all companies, for January decreased $156,485.

Gross earnings of Erie for January increased $324,625 and net increased $568,343.

Gross earnings of Ontario & Western for January increased $74,423 and net increased $82,490.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for January increased $589,214 and net increased $106,579.

Gross earnings of Chesapeake & Ohio for January increased $673,259 and net increased $342,472.

Considerable interest was taken by Wall street in the announcement that John W. Gates, a special partner in the firm of C. G. Gates & Co., has increased his holdings as special partner in that firm from $10,000 to $1,000,000. John Lambert, special partner, has increased his holdings in the same firm as special partner from $1,500 to $150,000. Frank E. Drake, another special partner, has increased his holdings from $1,500 to $200,000.

Gross earnings of Southern Railway for January increased $802,242 and net increased $325,381.

New rules adopted by the Chicago board of trade abolishing salaried positions went into effect yesterday. About 100 persons were affected by the order. Under the old conditions the traders drew salaries ranging from $100 to $250 a month. In the future the traders must depend upon commissions from sales for an income. Some of the traders made $50 in a few hours yesterday. The board's new commission are also went into effect. The previous rate for sales of 5,000 bushels of grain was $6.25 and the present rate is for a sale of the same magnitude, $2.50.

A regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent has been declared on the stock of the Cambria Iron Company, payable April 2, as registered March 15.

The advance in Brooklyn Rapid Transit was based upon the annual report for the year ended December 31, 1905, which made the following exhibit:

Gross earnings	$17,493,011	Inc.,	$2,032,353
Operating expenses	10,078,923	Inc.,	817,007
Net earnings	7,414,088	Inc.,	1,216,344

STOCK LIST LOGGED AND VERY IRREGULAR

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Herald (this (Friday) morning says: Stocks were highly irregular yesterday, undergoing numerous declines and recoveries during the day. In a general way the market improved in the late dealings, but the list was very sogged, showing widely variable gains and losses during the day.

Dealings were much contracted, and considering the extent of the declines, the recovery was not strong nor was it uniformly distributed. In fact, there were a number of specifically weak features to the very close.

Enforced selling, however, such as arises from exhausted margins and the execution of stop-loss orders, appeared to have run its course in the morning trading. Aside from the selling in this market, dealings appeared largely professional and profit-taking by the short interests appeared to be chiefly responsible for such improvement as the day brought forth.

The general impression was that the unfavorable money market development held the market under repression. Time and call money both advanced, and the treasury drain continued, though banks lost less yesterday to the government than on any other day of the week thus far. Foreign markets were reported as generally better, but scarcely sufficiently so to definitely indicate permanency for the improvement, and the bank of England's reserve showed some slight reduction.

Aside from the monetary situation little developed in the way of news bearing on the general situation. Railway traffic reports which came to hand were generally favorable, but there was an exception in the case of Reading, which made a disappointing showing for a company whose ordinary common shares are selling so high.

The report that the traction merger had been approved and made operative had no effect on the general situation and was rather foreshadowed by the tactics pursued in making the Metropolitan road to appear in the light of a bankrupt. The Albany development that the merger now accomplished would not be interfered with by the authorities influenced some recovery in traction shares.

BETTER SALES NOTED IN PRODUCE MARKETS

Several Dealers Cease Quoting Storage Eggs of Any Kind. Rise in Celery.

With a day of open weather the produce markets picked up to a great extent yesterday and a larger amount of trading was done than for some few days. As usual, green goods were more in demand than anything else. Poultry is also picking up and slightly firmer. Large out-of-town shipments were made yesterday by nearly all merchants.

A majority of the poultry and egg dealers have ceased quoting storage eggs at all. It is claimed there is no market for them, and consequently they do not care to bother with them. Where there is any market at all they are being quoted at 12 and 13 cents for the candled varities and 9 and 10 cents for the others. Fresh eggs are still quoted at 17 and 18 cents, with just a fair demand. The buying is thought to cover just the consumption.

Should California celery continue to soar in price it will soon be out of the reach of a number of small dealers. Another advance was made yesterday in both street and yard quotations. The receipts do not nearly meet the demand and the last increase will no doubt have an effect on the buying.

The general market for butter continues about the same, with little or no change. The demand is still good for fancy creamery stock and the receipts just medium. A surplus of stock in fresh creamery grades is reported from New York.

All grades of refined sugar have been advanced 10 cents on the hundred. This comes as a surprise, as sugar has been rather weak and trading in it has been reported light from all points. The advance was not generally known on the local markets.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 20 cars hay, 9 cars oats, 10 cars corn, 1 car rye and 1 car feed. Baltimore & Ohio, 3 cars hay and 2 cars oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 6 cars hay and 2 cars oats.

There is no noticeable change in the market. The receipts are sufficient for the demands made and there is little trading. There was no change in the quotations yesterday.

WHEAT MARKET IS GROWING WEAKER

May Option Declines to Lowest Point in Nearly Three Years, Provisions Are Lower.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Increasing stocks of wheat in Minneapolis and a poor demand in flour in the same market were chiefly responsible today for a fresh decline in the price of wheat here. At the close wheat for May delivery was down ⅞c. Corn was off ½c. Oats showed a loss of ¼@⅜c. Provisions were 2½c to 20c lower.

The wheat market was weak all day and the may option declined to the lowest point in nearly three years, the low market today being at 80¼@80⅝c. There was a large volume of business and trading was active from the opening to the close. Several leading commission houses sold freely early in the day and the decline resulting from this selling brought out numerous stop-loss orders, the execution of which caused still greater weakness. Poor demand for flour at northwestern grain centers which has already resulted in the closing of several mills at Minneapolis and may, it is said, cause a number of others to shut down, was one of the principal reasons for the selling pressure. Other factors tending to depress prices were constantly increasing stocks of wheat at Minneapolis and continued mild weather in the winter wheat section. Primary receipts were 609,000 bushels, against 498,000 bushels for the corresponding day one year ago. Many damage reports were received from Kansas City and St. Louis but they had apparently little influence. The market closed weak although prices had rallied slightly on covering by shorts. May opened [illegible] lower to a shade higher at 81¼ to 81⅝c, sold off to 80¼@80⅝c and closed at 80½@80¾c. Clearances of [illegible] flour were equal to 341,000 bushels. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of [illegible] cars against a holiday last week and 284 cars a year ago.

Corn opened steady but eased off later in sympathy with wheat. There was some selling by cash houses against country purchases and commission houses sold freely on stop-loss orders. Pit traders were the principal buyers. The weather was favorable for the movement of the crop and local receipts were in excess of the estimated arrivals today, being 229 cars with 2 of contract grade. A decline of ¼ to ⅜c in the price of cash corn had a depressing influence. The market closed easy with prices near the lowest point of the day. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 43@43⅛c to 43¼@43¼c, sold off to 42¾c and closed at 43⅜@43c.

Weakness of wheat and corn had a bearish effect on price of oats. Cash interests and commission houses sold freely and the price of cash oats was down ¼ to ⅜c. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 30⅜@30½c, sold off to 30c and closed at 30⅛c. Local receipts were 161 cars.

Provisions opened fairly steady on small receipts of live hogs, but weakness developed immediately after the opening because of liquidation of a large line of pork and ribs and closing sales from Havre reported additional losses and the local market added slightly to the initial decline. The close was steady at a net decline of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 61,750 bags, including April at 7c; May, 7.06@7.15c; July, 7.25@7.30c; September, 7.46@7.50c; December, 7.85@7.70c; January, 7.75@.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The lessees in the Hancock mine of the East Butte Company at Butte, Mont., have opened a new body of ore, three feet of which averages 15 per cent copper. Manager Wall says the company's lessees will in four weeks be shipping 300 tons ore daily and 500 tons in six months.

The Granby company treated within five tons of 75,000 tons of ore at its smelter during January. It has acquired on a $110,000 bond the Pathfinder mine for 18 months. The first payment of $15,000 is due October 1 next.

The directors of the Copper Ranch Mining Company, which owns property in Beaver county, Utah, near the Montreal group, have levied an assessment of three-fifths of a cent a share to raise money with which to continue development.

On the Martha Washington claim in Cripple Creek, where W. S. Stratton found his first rich ore in early days, at a depth of 200 feet, a six-inch streak has been opened which assays $3,800 to the ton. General Manager Becker considers it one of the most important strikes that have been made in the Washington mine for a long time.

Ogden, Utah, men have organized the Louise Consolidated Mining Company with $750,000 capital stock to develop a group of claims in the Willard district, Boxelder county.

The annual report of the Utah Consolidated Copper Company for the year ended December 31 will show net earnings of $2,650,000, or within $50,000 of net earnings of $7 a share for the stock.

Sixty thousand dollars, or half the purchase price, has been paid to the Sheldon estate for the 240-acre tract located immediately north of the Torch Lake property at Houghton, Mich.

The Raven mine at Butte, Mont., has opened a fine body of copper glance on east drift on the 1,200-foot level and in the south cross-cut from the end of the drift has cut into another vein a distance of eight feet.

The output of the Fay mines, Alloucz and Centennial, are sold ahead to next May and no copper is being offered beyond that month. Quite a large stock of copper has been sold by these two mines within the past weeks at close to 18½ cents a pound for delivery in March, April and May. The annual meetings of the Alloucz and Centennial mines will be held March 13 and April 2, respectively.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange it was announced that certificates numbered 259 to 500, inclusive, of the Interior Mining and Trust Company, assignors to the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, will be transferred by the above company, and that all other certificates must be sent to Wickenbaugh, Ariz., for transfer.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—There was a sharp break in the London tin market, with spot closing at £164 5s and futures at £163. Locally the market was easy, closing at $35 35@36 00 for spot. Copper was higher in London, with spot quoted at £79 5s and futures at £77 10s. Locally no change was reported, with the market quiet at 17½@17 50 for lake, 17½@17 50 for electrolytic and 17 37½@17 50 for casting. Lead was unchanged at $5 35@5 45 in the local market and at £16 6s 2d in London. Spelter declined 5s to £25 in London, but remained unchanged at $6 00 in the local market. Iron was higher abroad, with standard foundry closing at 48s 9d and Cleveland warrants at 48s 9d in the English market. Locally no change was reported. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $18 25@18 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $17 75@18 85; No. 1 foundry southern, $18 25@18 75; No. 2 foundry southern, $17 75@18 25.

BOSTON, March 1.—Market dull, weak and featureless all day. Copper Range and North Butte showing about best strength and demand with little offering. Osceola report issued today had little market effect and stock sold off to 97. Wolverine increased dividend was agreeable surprise but without much market effect. Looks as if market requires more liquidation before it will do much better as the money firmness is the controlling influence at present.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures issued today, shows that for the month of February, 1906, the total receipts were $48,194,727, and the expenditures $42,720,698, leaving a surplus for the month of $5,474,029. The receipts from the several sources of revenue are given as follows: Customs, $22,852,524; increase, $2,250,000. Internal revenue, $18,229,081; increase, $1,517,000. Miscellaneous, $6,113,171; decrease $178,000. The expenditures are stated as follows: Civil and miscellaneous, $8,240,456; war, $7,459,861; navy, $5,285,990; Indians, $1,072,686; pensions, $12,837,904; public works, $5,067,299; interest, $1,985,704. There were no important increases or decreases in these items as compared with February, 1905, except for public works, where the increase due to payments on account of the Panama canal, was $2,741,000. For the eight months of the present fiscal year the statement shows a surplus of $1,101,804, as against a deficit on March 1, 1905, of $25,450,768, which is a net increase for the year of $26,552,572.

Foreign Financial.

LONDON, March 1.—Consols for money 90 9-16; consols for account, 90⅞; bar silver, quiet, 30 1-16d oz.; money, 3¾@4 per cent; discount, short bills, 3⅝@3¾ per cent; three months' bills, 3 9-16@3⅝ per cent. Money was in good demand in the market today, but there was less pressure and supplies were more abundant. About $30,950,000 in interest and dividends was distributed. Discounts were in anticipation of better supply and conditions and the strength of the bank return, in which the increase of the bullion was largely due to the inflow of Russian gold. Foreigners generally were better on Paris support. Kaffirs were weak and unsettled, owing to heavy liquidations. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103¾.

PARIS, March 1.—Three per cent rentes, 94 francs 40 centimes for the account; exchange on London, 25 francs 15¼ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, March 1.—Exchange on London, 20 marks 50½ pfgs. for checks; discount rate, short bills, 4 per cent; three months' bills, 3½ per cent.

Foreign Bank Statements.

PARIS, March 1.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes: Notes in circulation, increase 107,150,000 francs; treasury deposits, decrease, 25,675,000 francs; general deposits, increase 35,650,000 francs; gold in hand, increase 14,576,000 francs; silver in hand, decrease 5,526,000 francs; bills discounted, increase 141,400,000 francs; advances increased 7,226,000 francs.

LONDON, March 1.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve, increased 2,950,000; circulation, increased £358,000; bullion, increased £2,350,833; other securities, increased £2,196,000; other deposits, increased £2,518,000; public deposits, increased £1,297,000; notes reserve, increased £875,000; government securities, increased £1,160,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 43.15 per cent as compared with 46.67 per cent last week.

Statement of the Treasury.

NEW YORK, March 1.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay offices today's official records show that the subtreasury paid out yesterday $3,778. Of this amount $1,809 had been deposited at San Francisco and $1,969 at Seattle. Total thus paid since Friday, $68,664, against $30,322 for the same period a week ago. Total payments by government to New York banks for the day, $2,905,000. Payment by banks to government, $3,357,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $449,000 paid by banks to government. Total net payment by banks to government since Friday, $5,653,000, against $1,412,000 similarly paid for the corresponding days a week ago, and $3,213,00 also paid by banks to government a year ago.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Money on call firm, 2@7 per cent; lowest, 3 per cent. Ruling rate, 4 to 6½ per cent. Closing bid, 5 per cent; offered at 5 per cent. Time loans firmer; 60 days and 90 days, 5¼@5⅝ per cent; 6 months, 5¼@5½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange weak with actual business in banker's bills at $4.85 85@4 86 90 for demand and at $4.83 50@4.82 65 for 60 days bills. Posted rates, $4.83@4.83½ and $4.87@4.87½. Commercial bills, $4.82¾. Bar silver, 67¾c. Mexican dollars, 50¾c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds heavy.

The Nation's Debt.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The monthly statement of the public debt, issued today, shows that at the close of business February 28, 1906, the total debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $987,521,555, which is a decrease for the month of $4,005,041. This decrease is accounted for by a large increase in the amount of cash on hand.

Fourth Completion Near Leasdale Results in a 10-Barrel Pumper

Near Leasdale, on the Washington branch of the Panhandle railroad, in Allegheny county, J. H. Walker has drilled a test on his own farm through the 30-foot sand and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper. At the same place W. H. Sassong & Co. have the rig completed for a test on the Grassic lot and D. Nolan has the rig up for a test on the Michael Casey farm. The Walker farm producer is the fourth that has been completed in that locality within the past three weeks. Near Bakerstown, Allegheny county, the American Oil Development Company is due in the sand at its No. 5 on the Robert Alexander farm. West of the Bakerstown tunnel the Hazel Oil Company is drilling a test on the R. W. Steele farm.

The Woodsfield district, in Monroe county, is by far the most active development in Southwestern Ohio. At this time there are about 30 rigs up and wells drilling in the district. Should the expected southern extension reach out as far as anticipated it will help maintain the present activity for some months and incidentally show an increase in production from the pool. Owing to the remarkable staying qualities of the wells after completed and shot will not make it a difficult matter to hold up the production with only moderate producers in the new part of the field.

It has been only recently since Woodsfield, the county seat of Monroe county, has been enjoying a boom on account of the development in that county. For the first 10 years about the only oil men who visited the town after developments began in the county had no occasion to visit the county seat except to have their leases recorded or attend to some legal business that could not be transacted elsewhere. Now that the development of the Berea grit formation has made such wonderful strides the work has carried operations right up to the edge of the town.

Woodsfield is now the headquarters for operators and men of all kind who work in the field. From a sleepy town it has grown to a busy bustling place, and every one is hustling. The Berea grit, which for so many years, while other parts of the county were being developed,

N. Y. C. LINES FOLLOW WABASH

Fast Freight Agencies Are Abolished—George H. Daniels' Successor Is Named.

PURE AIR AT UNION STATION

The Wabash, as was predicted a few weeks ago, is not the only railroad in the country that has retrenched in the traffic department by abolishing fast freight line agencies. Word was received in Pittsburgh yesterday that the New York Central lines have just followed the Wabash policy in this regard, abolishing fast freight agencies at Columbus, Indianapolis, Dayton, Louisville and other large cities. The policy is primarily one of retrenchment, although most of the men who were concerned in the fast freight line offices have been retained. Several changes of this nature became effective yesterday. It is intimated that the fast freight lines may also be abolished in the near future. For the present, however, the traffic of these lines will be cared for by official traffic representatives of the New York Central lines. The Wabash retrenchment occurred late last year, some of the changes also being made on February 1.

"The action of the Wabash and New York Central lines is a commendable one from several points of view," said a well-informed Pittsburgh traffic man yesterday. "It is my impression that this is but the beginning of a retrenchment on many of the roads of the country. The point of all of it is that the traffic and transportation departments are becoming more thoroughly organized. The traffic department has heretofore had so many lines of action—and most of the roads have them yet—that the work was so variegated when it came to the traffic manager's direction that it was complex. It was the same with the transportation department in caring for the cars in transit. The tendency now is toward simplicity of organization, toward system. The traffic man is having his duties broadened, but the entire work becomes simpler instead of more complex."

Cool Waiting Room for Summer.

The Pennsylvania railroad will inaugurate its new system of ventilation in the waiting room at the Union station this morning. Two large fans, to be operated together or individually by motors, as the demand may be for more or less ventilation, will force the air into the big waiting room. This air will be thoroughly cleaned and purified by passing through a washing machine. The air will be exhausted from the waiting room by ventilation in the ceiling. In the winter the incoming air will be warmed to the proper temperature, so that the sudden draughts of cold air from the heretofore open doors will not be experienced. In summer the air will be cooled to a comfortable temperature, and thus the Union station waiting room will probably be one of the coolest places in Pittsburgh on hot summer days. There is the additional advantage in this system of ventilation of not having the smoke and dust that are in the air admitted by direct ventilation from the outside. The doors will be kept closed summer and winter.

Fairlamb Succeeds George Daniels.

The many rumors of successors to George H. Daniels as general passenger agent of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad may now be set at rest. The best of reports were at wide variance from the appointment that has been made, the appointee being a man that had never been hinted as a candidate for the office. He is John F. Fairlamb, auditor of passenger accounts of the company. The appointment was a surprise to railroad men throughout the country when official circulars announcing it were received yesterday. Mr. Fairlamb has a wide acquaintance and is said to be well fitted to succeed the best known general passenger agent in the world. Mr. Daniels, who is now manager of the publicity department. Mr. Fairlamb entered the passenger accounting department as a clerk in 1874. He is 51 years old.

Pittsburgher Quits Railroading.

James M. Herbert has resigned as first vice president of the Colorado & Southern railroad. He will engage, it is understood here, with the Cary brothers in the Western Iron Mills Company in a responsible capacity. The resignation was effective yesterday. Mr. Herbert is an old Pittsburgher, having been reared near Greensburg and having obtained his early lessons in railroading at Pittsburgh. He is well known to railroad men and officers of this district.

Wabash Opens Freight House.

Announcements have been issued by the Wabash Railroad Company of the opening on last Monday of the new outbound freight house in Clark street, between Polk and Taylor streets, Chicago. This is only three blocks south of the new Chicago postoffice. The erecting of this property and the building of the house have attracted attention for the dispatch of execution. The real estate purchases were made quietly by Vice President Peyton of the Wabash, whose ability in this line had been recognized wholly before, but whose reputation took a sudden bound when the coup he made for the Wabash for the new freight house became known. From the purchase of the properties to the opening of the freight house for business last Monday little more than two months were required. The Wabash retains its inbound house and its team tracks at Twelfth street, Chicago.

Bigger Than "Biggest Car in World."

"The largest freight car in the world, with a capacity of 200,000 pounds, is being constructed in the St. Paul shops at Milwaukee, Wis.," says an exchange. But there are others that are larger by 75,000 pounds. On the Monongahela connecting railroad, the Pittsburgh lines of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company within the limits of Pittsburgh, are now 200 cars in daily use that haul 200,000 pounds, with a 10 per cent increase allowance, making them really 220,000 pounds capacity. As much as 275,000 pounds has been hauled in one of these cars. Recently an order was issued by the Monongahela Connecting officers not to allow one of these cars to leave the company's lines. This came about through one of the cars, which was marked "Capacity, 100,000 pounds," being loaded with 175,000 pounds of coal. The railroads are not solid enough and their bridges are not strong enough to support these cars on general road transit. The Wisconsin car is being built to haul a 90-ton section of the base of a blast engine from Milwaukee to Bethlehem.

Weller Takes Both Offices.

The general agency of the Vandalia railroad in Pittsburgh has been abolished and the duties of the office have been assumed by the former general agent, E. B. Weller, who is now district freight collector of the Pennsylvania lines east and west. General Freight Agent Hodgson of the Vandalia and Freight Traffic Manager McCabe of the Pennsylvania lines west arranged for the merging of the offices yesterday.

Railroad Notes.

The differential meeting of New York-Chicago officers is being held at Chicago today.

General Agent Jaggard of the Pennsylvania is in Philadelphia conferring with general officers today.

General Agent Ralph E. Lawrence of the Wabash at Wheeling conferred with local officers yesterday.

The United States Express Company shipped a special trainload of Pittsburgh horses east Wednesday evening.

Vice President Randolph of the Baltimore & Ohio was here yesterday conferring with General Freight Agent Brockenbrough and other officers.

The Western Maryland has issued a new map of its system, showing the new Cherry Run-Cumberland link and the West Virginia division to Elkins, Bellington, Huttonsville and Durbin.

Word received yesterday from Superintendent Dorr of the Baltimore & Ohio was that he is regaining his strength at Atlantic City and that he will return to duty Monday unless his physician advises longer recuperation.

For the benefit of those who could not attend the state Y. M. C. A. convention last week General Secretary Callender of the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. has arranged to have Attorney W. K. Jennings speak at the men's meeting next Sunday at Altoona.

Secretary Conway of the Railway club of Pittsburgh has issued a neat placard, entitled "The Man Who Sells Things Is Entitled to a Degree." An abstract of the address of George A. Post of New York on this subject at the annual smoker last October is printed on the placard.

Pittsburghers Disregard the Law.

Thousands of citizens of Pittsburgh violate the law on election day. It is plainly laid down that it is a severe offense for a person to vote on a tax receipt paid for by another person without a written order. This is only one of the scores of ways in which the law is violated. "Are Our Elections a Farce" is the title of an article in this week's Index, Pittsburgh's illustrated weekly.

A woman once wrote us that she was not going to buy Scott's Emulsion any more because it cost too much. Said she could get some other emulsion for less money. Penny wise and pound foolish. Scott's Emulsion costs more because it is worth more—costs more to make. We could make Scott's Emulsion cost less by using less oil. Could take less care in making it, too. If we did, however, Scott's Emulsion wouldn't be the standard preparation of cod liver oil as it is to-day.

FEDERAL PLANTS ARE ADVOCATED

Congressmen Argue on Advisability of Making Armor Plate and Powder.

MANY MILLIONS FOR ARMY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The house today passed the army appropriation bill, also the Foraker bill providing for the marking of the graves of confederate dead buried in the north. The passage of the latter bill was hastened by reason of a discussion on the army bill of the same subject. The bill passed unanimously amid applause on both sides.

Points of order made to the provisions for a cable ship for the Atlantic coast and to a ship for mine planting on the Pacific coast eliminated those provisions.

The alleged powder trust came in for a scoring in debate and Democratic endeavor to have the government begin the manufacture of its own power consumed some time, but met defeat.

The army bill carries something more than $69,000,000.

The profit in the manufacture of smokeless powder was called attention to by Mr. Graff of Illinois, who said that for several years there had been but four bids to furnish the government with smokeless powder, and that each bid was the same—70 cents per pound. The "Dupont powder trust," he said, controlled the four plants.

Want Federal Plants.

Mr. Rixey of Virginia said the navy had a smokeless powder plant at Indian Head and that Admiral Mason had recently testified that it cost 60 cents a pound to manufacture the powder there. Mr. Rixey said he was willing to increase this plant and would also favor a government armor plate factory.

An amendment setting aside $150,000 of the amount appropriated for ammunition to erect a government powder plant was offered by Mr. Gillespie of Texas, but was defeated by a point of order. He immediately offered another amendment providing that no part of the appropriation should be available to buy powder from any powder "trust."

Mr. Williams moved to increase the amount for ammunition from $629,000 to $929,000 for the government manufacture of powder. Mr. Hull suggested that Mr. Williams prepare the proper amendment and ask unanimous consent to make it in order. Mr. Tawney of Minnesota made a point of order.

Mr. Williams moved to insert the words "which shall be manufactured by the government," applying to the provision for ammunition. This Chairman Boutell ruled was in order. A vote by tellers defeated the amendment 83 to 85.

CITY TREASURER R. M. KOPP IS INSTALLED IN OFFICE

The oath of office was administered yesterday morning to City Treasurer Richard M. Kopp of Allegheny, who succeeds Andrew L. Robinson, resigned. Mr. Kopp was sworn in by City Clerk Lafayette Wills, and the formality of transferring the city property was commenced. A bond of $75,000 was filed by Mr. Kopp. Controller Brown turned over $1,231,346 of sinking fund bonds to Mr. Kopp. Although busy all day, the new treasurer received many of his friends, who stopped to congratulate him. Several new clerks have been added to the force in the treasurer's office because of the collection of the March instalment of taxes. Former Coroner Jesse M. McGeary has one of these clerkships.

CALLS FIREMAN HER ROMEO AND HE SHINS UP LADDER

Mary Anderson, aged about 40, who was laboring under an alberation that she was the great actress of that name, entered No. 23 engine house last night and started to make love to Fireman John McColl. She called him Romeo, and the fireman became frightened and climbed a ladder. She objected to this and started to rave about the beauty of the March moon. Then the firemen summonad the police and had her taken to the station house. As she was being led away she said: "That fireman was a bum Romeo."

LA FOLLETTE IS GIVEN SETBACK

Endeavors to Prevent Confirmation of Spooner Appointment, but Fails Signally.

ARCH ENEMY WINS A POINT

Special Telegram From
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The nomination of Amos P. Wilder, editor of the Evening Wisconsin at Milwaukee, to be consul at Shanghai was reported favorably to the senate today by unanimous vote of the committee on commerce. This action was taken in the face of the most earnest protest of Senator La Follette and at the behest of Mr. La Follette's arch political enemy, Senator Spooner.

The Evening Wisconsin is one of the most rabid anti-LaFollette papers in the state. It represents the stalwart faction in Wisconsin politics and has handled Mr. LaFollette very roughly in recent campaigns.

When the senate committee on commerce met today Senator LaFollette appeared before it to protest against a favorable report on Mr. Wilder. He told the committee that Wilder was personally objectionable to him in the highest degree and that this alone should be sufficient reason for holding him up.

Mr. LaFollette produced a large number of editorials from the Evening Wisconsin attacking him in a rough manner and submitted them as evidence. Then Mr. LaFollette argued that Wilder was incompetent to fill the important position. He put the case as strongly as he could and retired with a feeling of confidence.

Soon after Senator LaFollette retired Mr. Spooner appeared and made a strong plea in favor of Wilder. He gave a different version of Wilder's abilities. What he said to the committee evidently carried weight, as the nomination was reported favorably without a dissenting vote. It was apparent that the Democrats looked upon the incident as a family row.

The action of the committee was unprecedented. Even Senator Tillman, a Democrat, was able to hold up the appointment of Dr. Crum as collector of the port at Charleston for four years, and a great many cases have come up where Democratic senators were strong enough to make rough sledding for their political enemies.

February is a short month, but not too short for the Pittsburgh Agency of the Equitable to roll up over $1,000,000.00 of new business, or nearly $50,000.00 for every working day—
And it should be remembered that when you buy Life Assurance from the Equitable
The Money Remains at Home helping to increase the general prosperity of the city—
During the year 1905 the Pittsburgh Agency paid out $3,608,542.58 in loans, death claims, dividends, etc.—
